

Drs. Himes And King To Attend American Sociological Societies National Convention In California

DR. CHARLES E. KING

DR. JOSEPH S. HIMES, JR.

BERKELEY, CALIF. Two Sociology professors at North Carolina College will attend the national meeting of American Sociological Societies in Berkeley, California, August 29 through September 1. They are Dr. Joseph Sandy Himes, Jr., and Dr. Charles E. King. Dr. Himes, already enroute to the west coast, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Himes, will read two papers before the society.

Dr. Himes has received national attention as a sociologist and scholar who has not allowed a childhood injury that partly blinded him to prevent his success in the academic world.

The papers that Dr. Himes will present before some of the nation's outstanding sociologists are "Collective Action in the Theory of Social Problems" and "Value Analysis in the Theory of Social Problems." He is an authority on marriage, the family and race relations.

The Himeses left Durham on August 3 en route to Columbus, Ohio, their former hometown, Chicago, and Seattle, Washington.

Dr. Himes is a brother of Chester Himes, the novelist. He is a graduate of Oberlin College, where he won Phi Beta Kappa honors, and the Ohio State University, where he received the Ph. D. degree. He was associated with the Urban League of Columbus prior to joining the sociology department at North Carolina College. Mrs. Himes, who holds a master's degree in French, formerly was a teacher in the Columbus Schools. More recently she has taught French at North Carolina College.

Dr. King is a graduate of Paine College, who earned his master's degree at the University of Michigan and the Ph. D. from the University of Chicago. He is the author of numerous articles appearing in sociological journals. Dr. King was among the readers of papers at the association's 1951 meeting in Chicago.

Pianist Makes Third Network Appearance

NEW YORK Miss Natalie Hinderas, brilliant young concert pianist, established a precedent for Negro pianists on Wednesday, July 22, with her third national network television appearance which originated from the NBC facilities in Chicago, where she appeared on a local telecast last week.

Her appearance on "Chicago Summer Concert" with the NBC Chicago Orchestra, under the able direction of Joseph Gallicchio, marked the artist's first national appearance on the network. Earlier this year, Miss Hinderas made her debut on NBC in two consecutive performances on the radio show "Encore," which stars Robert Merrill and Marguerite Piazza.

These successes led to her being spotlighted twice on the network's TV variety program "The Saturday Night Revue," which features the nation's best "new talent" discoveries. While on the coast for her appearances on this show, Miss Hinderas was presented in a local broadcast from Los Angeles with Robert Armbruster's Orchestra.

Fink had a broken arm and was treated for cuts and bruises.

At Deland, he was tried as a first baseman and Pirate coaches got a good look at his batting form.

After Spring training, 'Blond' was sent to the Pioneer League to play for the Montana Billings where he is presently among the League's top batters.

Thomas is rated as an excellent chance to make the big time, barring any unforeseen difficulties, in a short time. He possesses the speed, ability and the grace of a natural athlete.

In addition to these traits, "Blond" descends from a baseball-minded family. His father has managed baseball teams for the past 20 years and his four uncles have all been respectable performers during their day. So, the youngster came up literally on a diet of rawhide and adirondack timber.

Thomas makes his home in Charlotte with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clemmie Watson of Walker Street in the Grier Heights section. His father, now retired from the exacting chores of baseball managing, heads the meat department for a well-known food stores chain. His mother, although busy with her housewife duties, finds time to take an active part in the community affairs. The family attends the Whilow A. M. E. Zion Church.

Legal opinion has been expressed since the court's original postponement and order for new hearings that the court itself is divided at present on the issue. It is reasoned that this may well be the reason for the questions as to the background thinking of the framers of the 14th amendment.

Speaking for the members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union, AFL, Hugo Ernst, general president, said that the governor's "boldly advertised support of traditional segregation policies" in the South render him unfit as representative in world forum where millions of colored people look to our country for guidance toward peace and world friendship.

Other protests were registered by Americans for Democratic Action, the Kansas State Conference of NAACP branches, Kansas Missionary Baptist Laymen's Association, Kansas Association of Colored Women, and the Schenectady, N. Y., NAACP branch.

In opposing the Byrnes nomination, White pointed out that James P. Richards of South Carolina, is equally as bad as that of the governor though not so well known.

The official suggested that Rev. Holloway get permission to use the playground at the white public school at Nints and North Brevard Streets, located near a number of Negro homes and close to the vacation bible school, nearest one to the vacation bible school and located near a number of Negro homes.

Acting on this suggestion, Rev. Holloway went to the office of the Park and Recreation Commission where he was told by one of the secretaries that the person who could give him permission to use the playground could be reached by telephone.

Rev. Holloway telephoned and received permission to use the playground. He was further told that the person in charge of the playground would be called and told to expect the group on the following morning.

One metropolitan newspaper, commenting on the Byrnes' appointment this week inferred that if the South Carolina Gov. were honest, he would have asked the President to withdraw his name from the nominations list or resign from the delegation since, according to this newspaper, Gov. Byrnes' record stands in direct contradiction to the very purpose of the U.N.

As far as could be determined, no official explanation of the sudden change in decision on the part of the Park Commission was forthcoming. Rev. Holloway, who is out of town, could not be reached this week for a statement.

understanding of the Congress and the state legislators and convention which ratified the 14th amendment concerning justice department bill brief in its effect on segregation in public schools."

The 14th amendment, adopted following the Civil War, declared that the states may not abridge the privileges and immunities of citizens, nor deny them equal protection of the law.

Action of the Justice Department in filing brief as a 'friend of the court' has been interpreted by critics of segregation as a hopeful sign. The Department did not actually file a brief in the December hearings, but sat in on the hearings. It did take a stand against continued segregation, however.

Legal opinion has been expressed since the court's original postponement and order for new hearings that the court itself is divided at present on the issue. It is reasoned that this may well be the reason for the questions as to the background thinking of the framers of the 14th amendment.

Ex-Morgan Grid Star Reports To New York Giants

BALTIMORE Roosevelt (Rosy) Brown, Morgan State College 1952 star tackle, left here Wednesday night to join the training camp of the New York Giants in St. Peter, Minnesota.

The 235 pound Charlottesville, Va., grid star, was given a try by the pro team after concluding four successful years of football at Morgan.

Brown, who was co-captain of the 1952 Morgan Bears, was voted All-American tackle by several national newspapers and polls.

In his bid for a place in pro football, Brown joins the ranks of several ex-Morgan Bears. Among them is Charlie Robinson, 1950 Morgan graduate, who plays his first season with the local Baltimore Colts this fall. Robinson formerly played with the Green Bay Packers.

Baptizing Marks Services At Saint Paul Church

By MRS. EDDIE M. SMITH CHARLOTTE

Men's Day was observed at Pleasant Hill Baptist Church here last Sunday. Rev. James E. Fiddmont, pastor, delivered the morning sermon on theme, "Measure of Men."

A special program in the afternoon featured an address by Rev. Vernon Herron, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas. Rev. Herron spoke on "Three Divisions of Men." Rev. Fiddmont was heard again at the evening service.

The girls softball team of the church played the Avery Hall nurses and the Fairview Homes girls on Tuesday evening.

Sick and shut-in members of the church include Mrs. Hattie Smith, Keever Fewell Ben Golden and Mrs. Mammie Davis.

Services at St. Paul's Baptist Sunday were marked by baptism of nine persons at the evening service. Rev. R. D. Lucas delivered the evening message from the theme, "It takes two to please God," following baptismal services.

Rev. James F. Wertz, pastor of St. Paul, was heard during the regular morning services. He spoke on the subject, "What Shall I Do With My Life." Music for the morning services was rendered by the young adult choir.

the Second Calvary Baptist Church.

She spoke on the importance of helping others. The purpose of these meetings was to get more young people interested in mission-home and foreign, and to get them organized.

In her teaching, she pointed out that in order to live and grow at home the church must share missions, and support international good will. She also said that missions is a world concern in these days of strife and turmoil. The fact that we have interest in every part of the world reminds us all how important Christianity really is. Missions certainly creates understanding between nations, and the world today is in need of many missionaries on the job of practicing good will among nations.

No Handicap To Happiness

By MRS. GLADYS A. CASSELL CHARLOTTE

The happiest man I know lives in Charlotte. He is Reverend John Wesley Robinson of 1900 Wayt Street.

I also believe that he is one of the happiest and most content men in the world, a happiness and contentment which he has found by living by the word of God.

Although completely blind

Rev. Robinson works every day selling newspapers and other products in the various sections of the city which he gets over with practically as much ease as one possessing his eyesight. Quite often he travels from state to state preaching the word of God.

Several years ago Reverend Robinson was married to a very fine woman who later suffered a mental illness, a calamity which he has borne for the past several years with an abiding faith in God and humanity, which he often expresses by saying, "Let Thy Will Be Done."

Rev. Robinson told me a few days ago that he was born blind in Bamberg, South Carolina 37 years ago on April 15. When he was about three months old the doctors told his mother that if she would let them operate on his eyes, he might be able to see. Afraid that she might lose her son his mother refused to give her consent which resulted in Robinson's growing up without ever being able to see.

Rev. Robinson says that he is glad that she refused because with so much evil in the world it would make him unhappy to see it. Also, he said he had already pictured in his mind just how things look and should be able to see he might be disappointed.

He says that he was called to the ministry on October 8, 1948 and was ordained by the Rev.

The Reverend P. L. DeBerry, newly appointed pastor of Myers Tabernacle A. M. E. Zion Church of Charlotte and his wife, the former Miss Evelyn J. Caldwell, a former teacher in the Mecklenburg County Schools. Before coming to Charlotte Reverend DeBerry has pastored in Asheville, Middlesboro, Ky., Bristol, and Chattanooga, Tenn., Atlantic City, N. J., Staten Island, N. Y., Portland Maine, Worcester and New Bedford, Mass., and Schenectady, N. Y. He is a graduate of Livingstone College and Johnson C. Smith University where he received the degrees of A. B. and B. D. respectively.

ATLANTA DUSTS OFF CARPET TO GREET INVASION OF "BILLS"

ATLANTA, Ga. Real, honest-to-goodness Southern hospitality will be in effect throughout the Elks Grand Lodge Convention here August 21-28.

Assurances toward amity and accord for I.B.P.O.E.W. visitors are bound by iron-clad guarantees from Gov. Herman E. Tamm, Mayor William B. Hartsfield, and Police Chief Herbert T. Jenkins.

Visiting Bills can frolic and make merry on a 24-hour basis at a galaxy of entertainment features which include gospel singing, an outdoor jazz concert, formal balls, night club shows, sightseeing tours, barbecues, bathing beauty contests, stiff-shirted dinners, and an assortment of parades and pageantry.

Atlanta, all of it, from the Chattahoochee River to Stone Mountain, and from East Point to Marietta, will have its best foot forward for the 30,000 or more Bills coming via train.

S. D. Lowry and the late Rev. W. M. Nelson at the Second Calvary Baptist Church of which the Rev. J. M. Kennedy is now pastor.

Since I do most of his writing for him, I can tell that he has a brilliant mind. He does his dictating with the greatest of ease. He can take care of himself as well as any person who has all of his faculties of reasoning.

After having a conversation with anyone, he is able to recognize the voice anywhere and will more than likely remember his name.

He has ever been ill a day in his life. He is a fine person who believes not only in God but himself as well. It is his ardent faith, and the will and determination to do which has kept him going.

Go any day to the Bus Terminal or what is known as the Square and you will find him, a completely blind man who is trying to earn his living and happy at it.

Rev. Blair T. Hunt, Pastor of the Mississippi Avenue Christian Church, Memphis, Tenn., will deliver the Elks Baccalaureate Sermon, according to Geo. W. Lee, Grand Commissioner of Education.

Judge William C. Hueston of Philadelphia will be honored during the convention at a testimonial in Big Bethel A.M.E. Church, Thursday, August 27. This historic edifice is being completely renovated with new pews and furnishings now being installed. Atlanta will inaugurate a new feature for Elks' Conventions on Tuesday, August 25. After the mammoth parade, hundreds of high school youths from over the U. S. A., will be feted with a youth canteen at David T. Howard High School.
