Seven of the principals in N. C. College's 43rd annual commencement exercises, which began Sunday afternoon with the baccalaureate sermon, are shown above with an aerial view of the college's campus.

Mrs. Parepa Watkins Addresses Walltown Patrons At Banquet

The annual spring banquet of the sixth grade class of Walltown School was held Friday evening May 28 in the school cafeteria. This is the second year pupils of the sixth grade have been given a banquet by their teacher, Mrs. Ethel Jones, and parents, patrons and friends look forward to it with great anticipation.

A short playlet entitled "Gold Stars" was presented by the pupils plus individual numbers. The class song, "Little Walltown School" was written by Mrs. Jones. Professor L. E. Davis, principal introduced the banquet speaker, Mrs. Parepa Watkins, elementary supervisor of the Durham City Schools. She challenged the pupils to continue through junior high, high school and on to college because even domestic workers are required to have at least a high school education. The importance of good manners was also stressed with Mrs. Watkins citing an incident concerning one of her former pupils who is now a captain in the U. S. Army.

The soldier, on greeting Mrs. Watkins on his return from Korea, attributed his success to the teachings of Mrs. Watkins on good manners and self control.

Following Mrs. Watkins' address, Mr. Davis called for remarks from Donald Love, outgoing P.T.A. president, Frizzelle Daye, in-coming P.T.A. president, Mrs. Annie Perry, Mrs. Iola Goss, Mrs. Callie Daye, Mrs. Reba Davis, Mr. Alonza Hill, and Miss Cleo Russell.

Mrs. Ethel Jones, teacher and sponsor of the banquet was surprised when Mrs. Mable Brown presented her a silver tray from interested persons of the community with the following inscription: "Ethel Jones—Walltown Teacher of the year—1954."

The idea of a banquet originated in 1953 by Mrs. Jones as a tribute to the sixth grade pupils who are leaving Walltown school and entering junior high. It is the main event of the school year activities.

Rev. M. W. Morgan, pastor of the First African Baptist Church in Goldsboro, recently addressed his congregation at the final service of a series celebrating the church's nineteenth anniversary.

Methodists

Harrisburg, Pa., has been formally invited by the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Northeastern Jurisdiction to join its fellowship. Mitchell Memorial is now a part of the Washington Conference.

By majority vote, the Washington Conference approved the transfer of Mitchell Memorial to the Central Pennsylvania Conference. After approval by the Central and Northeastern Jurisdictional Conferences and the Methodist General Conference, the denomination's legislative body, all legal steps necessary to effect the transfer will have been taken.

Similar "overtures" have been made by white conferences overlapping the territories of the Delaware, Lexington and one or two other colored conferences, but this is the first case in which both annual conferences have formally voted approval of the proposals.

The Mitchell Memorial Church, however, will not be the only colored church in the Northeastern Jurisdiction. Four churches in New York City, one in Buffalo, New York, and one in Boston are already members of their respective white annual conferences, and have been since Methodist unification.

This will mark the first instance in which a church will have been taken from the Central Jurisdiction since the jurisdiction system was set up to make possible unification of the three Methodist bodies in 1938.

"you never bowed your soul to that brutal might, but with persistent devotion and unwavering faith you continued to work for the liberation of your country, until by the help of the very nations to whom you had spoken at Geneva, you brought your people back to freedom from aggression and laid before them an open pathway to self-determination and self-government.

"May God bless Your Imperial Majesty," Dr. Johnson concluded, "and may He continue to make you a blessing to the people of Ethiopia, to the whole of Africa, and to the world."

Doctors

University's Medical School, the new president holds graduate degrees from New York University and Columbia University medical schools. When he was nominated for the office last fall, he was unanimously approved and unopposed for the candidacy.

Now 65, Dr. Murray is a native of Hourta, La., and before beginning his professional studies, attended Howard University. He has served as assistant surgeon - chief at Freedmen's Hospital in Washington.

This election marks an epoch in the medical societies of this country because in many medical societies at present, Negro doctors are not allowed membership.

Legion Teams Offer Tryouts To Race Youths

The American Legion in Columbia has announced that young Negro baseball players will be given "equal opportunity" with whites in tryouts for the American Legion's junior teams. In Gastonia, N. C., five Negro youths are trying out for the team in that city which has heretofore maintained a roster of all white players.

Abe Fennell, South Carolina commissioner of Junior Legion baseball, expressed some scepticism on the action which will be taken if Negroes attempt to make the all-white teams. His doubt is based on the fact that last year, six Negro posts organized their own baseball teams.

The only rules set forth by the State in this matter says that the youths must be between the ages of 14 and 17, and must conform to national regulations.

Hillside

William A. Leggett, George Leggett lived in Henderson and William Leggett lived in Durham. Ellis Frazier, a student of the Vance County high school, also received the award this year.

Willie Torain and Arthur Thorpe, former Hillside students were awarded the scholarship in 1946 and 1950 respectively. Both have graduated from Howard University with high honors.

Fogg, an honor graduate of Hillside High and salutatorian of his class, is interested in a science career. He plans to enter Baldwin - Wallace College at Berea, Ohio in the fall.

At present, there are four Durham County students in college as a result of this scholarship. Awards are based on scholarship attainment, need of assistance, and a general showing of promise in the aims and goals of the nominee. Each high school in Durham County has an opportunity to name a contestant.

Times Publisher To Deliver Two Speeches In June

L. E. Austin, publisher of the Carolina Times will deliver two addresses this month according to an announcement made here by the managing editor of the Times, J. Allen Carter.

On Sunday, June 6 at 1:00 P. M. Mr. Austin will deliver the annual address for the Sunrise Mutual Burial Association at the First Baptist Church in Lenoir.

On the following Sunday, June 13, the Times publisher will deliver an address for the annual Freedom Day celebration of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. The program will be held at St. Paul A. M. E. Church in Chapel Hill, and will be presided over by Noble Frank Burnett, Illustrious Potentate of Zafa Temple No. 176.

The celebration is held for the purpose of honoring the day on which the United States Supreme Court handed down a verdict declaring the right of Negro Shriners to wear fezzes. Prior to the ruling of the Court Negro Shriners were prohibited from wearing fezzes. The case

Dr. A. H. London Speaks To Rocky Mount Doctors

ROCKY MOUNT
Dr. A. H. London, Jr., prominent and outstanding pediatrician of Durham, recently captivated an appreciative audience of medical men from the Rocky Mount Academy of Medicine with a down-to-earth discussion of Pediatric Problems Encountered in the Office.

Dr. London is Pediatrician at the Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill and Duke University and from his wealth of experience, he discussed such problems as umbilical hernia, unnecessary circumcision of the male baby, early vaccination for smallpox, vaginal conditions encountered in the female child, x-ray treatment of hemangiomas and many other common occurrences the practitioner runs into in his everyday practice.

The speaker was outspoken in his criticism of the routine that is being followed in most cases with the male baby and the problem of circumcision. He stated that it was not necessary to do this operation in a large number of cases and that if the physician would only advise and show the mother how to care for this condition, circumcision would never be necessary.

He advised against the use of x-ray treatments of conditions on children where there might be a chance of arresting epiphyseal growth, and that he would recommend expert diagnosis and study before subjecting these children to this type of therapy. He noted that with present day drugs many of these conditions respond beautifully to their use.

Broiled Lamburgers - Sizzling Hot!

Inexpensive lamburgers are made downright delicious when a little bit of Spry is spread on the meat patties before broiling. This new tip for making juicy-rich lamburgers comes from the Lever Test Kitchens. It is one of a series of time-saving suggestions for making everyday foods more appetizing.

Broiled Lamburgers
To ground shoulder of lamb add your favorite seasonings; mix lightly and shape into round patties. Spread tops with Homogenized Spry. Broil 9-12 minutes, turn, spread other side with Spry, and broil 9-12 minutes longer.
