

The proposed Omega Psi Phi National Shrine to be constructed in Washington, D. C., the city of the fraternity's founding, has moved a step nearer completion. Paul R. Williams, nationally prominent architect of Los Angeles and a member of the organization, submitted drawings and proposals for the structure to the fraternity. The building, an all purpose structure, will house the national offices and other fraternal facilities. The edifice will pay honor to the fraternity's Dr. Frank Coleman, Washington, D. C., Dr. Oscar J. Cooper, Philadelphia, Bishop Edgar A. Love, Baltimore, and Dr. Ernest E. Just, deceased. Heading the fund campaign for construction of the building is Grant Reynolds, prominent attorney of New York City and White Plains, N. Y.

Our Youth" in assembly during American Education Week. Tigers Have Winning Streak After losing two games, one to Jordan Sellars of Burlington and the other to Henderson High, Lincoln Tigers have a winning streak, riding over Selma High, 18-0 and over Warren County Training School, 40-6, then a tie with Roxboro. The team will face one of its toughest opponents when it goes up against the unbeaten Nashville High on Thursday of this week; however, the boys and coach Peerman feel equal to the challenge. The coach is grooming two of his players to participate in the Shrine Bowl game to be played in Charlotte on December 4.

Lincoln High Band In Demand Lincoln High School band, having more invitations to serve than its program will admit, has participated in three homecoming parades beside its own term.

With Lincoln's Homecoming Queen riding in each of the parades, the band has played for Jordan-Sellars High, Pittsboro High, and will march with Sanford High School Friday, October 29th.

The band of fifty boys and girls is conducting an intensive drive to raise the sum of $100 per pupil or 5,000.00 to buy instruments, they will leave the band without instruments when they graduate and leave the school.

LINCOLN HIGH NEWS CHAPEL HILL, N. C. The Chapel Hill Chapter of the New Farmers of America selected as their community service project this year the face lifting of one house in the community. In choosing the particular house consideration was given to its nearness to the school so that as little time as possible would be lost in getting to and from the project, the availability of things that needed to be done in keeping with shop activities being taught in classroom discussions and the willingness of owner to cooperate with the program. The house selected was Mrs. Fikes' residence located near the school. The house belongs to Mr. Winslow C. Williams of Carrboro. To date the following things have been accomplished: Roof-painted, new porch flooring and floor paint on front and back porch, window lights put in all windows, two coats of paint on the outside, new screen wire on oak porch. When the house is completed a picture will be taken so that the class members may compare it with the one taken before any work was started. The next community project to be undertaken by the New Farmers of America will be their annual Christmas program, at which time they will bring joy and delight to many children in the community. Douglas Clark, chairman of the Christmas committee is sending out an appeal with this article for any toys that the committee might get for these children. Any person having such toys (old or new) is asked to get in touch with Douglas Clark, 8-3827, Knolls Development, or call R. D. Smith, Teacher of Vocational Agriculture at 9-8802 after 4 p.m. Another outstanding feature of the Annual program of work
