

Guardsmen Plan Brilliant Calendar For CIAA Tourney

The North Carolina Symphony will give two performances in the city during its 1955 tour of the state. The first concert will be held at the North Carolina College Gymnasium, Thursday, May 5, at 8:30 p.m. The gymnasium is expected to be packed with more than 5,000 students from the County and City Schools. The concert will be free to all students and persons holding membership in the North Carolina Symphony. Thursday, May 5, at 8:30 p.m., the orchestra will perform for adult members of the society at the Women's Gymnasium of Duke University. The membership drive which is sponsored by the Durham PTA Council was extended through February 15. The response has not been as favorable as was anticipated at press time. Membership in the Durham Chapter of the North Carolina Symphony entitles one to attend the adult or both concerts or any other concert given by the orchestra in the state. The concert that is given for the children is to be financed from the adult memberships. If you have not subscribed, you may see a member of the local committee, or contact the Chairman, L. B. Frasier. Membership fees for individuals are $3.00 and joint memberships are $5.

Little River Community Seeks Information In Mass Meeting

A large group of rural people met at the Little River School the week of February 1, at 7:30 P. M. to engage in a mass meeting for the purpose of giving first hand information on the State Farm Challenge Program and the Social Security Law for families.

Miss Beulah Latta, a representative from the department of the Social Security Administration spoke in detail on the law which went into effect January 1, 1955 affecting all farmers and farm workers. In her discussion the following points were stressed: The importance of keeping good records, Tenant and Landlord Agreements and Securing reliable individuals in working out income. A film was shown at the end of the discussion on "Benefits Secured Through the Social Security Program."

The second phase of the meeting was a panel discussion on the "Farm Challenge." This program, accepted by the State of North Carolina, is designed to increase per capita income and provide for a greater security for family members in the state. Individuals appearing on the panel were, Mrs. Cornelia Riley, Mrs. Burma

Dunnagan, Laurance Bullock, Eugene Hedgespeth, Claude Mack, Mrs. E. R. Tuck, J. C. Hubbard, R. D. Locust and J. L. Moffitt. Practice teachers of the Vocational Departments assisted with the pictures and films. As a result of the discussion a five point program was set up for the Little River School Area listed as follows:

To increase farm income by supplementing our cash crop tobacco.

To produce and conserve an adequate feed and food program for family and livestock.

To set up a record system to meet individual family need.

To give special consideration to an improvement program on every farm and in every home.

To work toward increasing labor saving devices in the home.

This meeting was one of a series being conducted each Wednesday night for family members by the Home Economics and Agriculture Departments of the School.

Mrs. E. R. Tuck, R. D. Locust and J. L. Moffitt Vocational teachers were in charge of the program.

DURHAM
The North Carolina Guardsmen have planned a lavish series of social events in Durham during February 24-26 at a time when the sports highlights of the season will be the 10th Annual CIAA Basketball Tournament.

Socialites attended the first Guardsmen's social weekend during 1954 by the hundreds from key cities throughout the East. In addition to their second annual formal dance at the Durham Armory from 11 p. m. to 3 a. m. on Friday Feb. 25, the Carolina Guardsmen will sponsor three other closed affairs.

Visiting Guardsmen will be entertained at an exclusive "Meet and Greet" session from 2 p. m. to 7 p. m. on Friday at the Durham Guardsmen's Club, 1400 Fayetteville Street.

The Guardsmen's many friends will be their guests at the invitational formal in the Armory Friday night.

No details were made available regarding the location of the exact time of the punch and cocktail party or the closed Cabaret Party. It was learned, however, that organ music will be played and orchid corsages would be presented ladies attending the brunch and cocktail party. A responsible source close to State Guardsmen headquarters said accredited society editors could obtain cards of admittance by applying to Dr. C. Mason Quick, state president, Fayetteville, N. C.

Elaborate plans have been made for the second annual Cabaret Party which will be held at a fashionable supper in an area of undisclosed locality. Complete set-ups will be available for guests and food will be served at the table. At the termination of the cabaret session, a special ham and egg breakfast will be served shortly after 4 a. m.

Housing accommodations will be at a premium in Durham during the tournament season. The Guardsmen have reserved the Biltmore Hotel and DeShazor's Hostelry.

For other tournament visitors, however, the CIAA has set up housing accommodation headquarters with a representative of the Durham Housewives League, Mrs. Callie B. Daye, 1017 Second Street, Durham. Mrs. Daye will refer interested visitors to approved local homes.

The African Scene Analyzed By Dr. W. E. Burghardt DuBois

Dr. W. E. Burghardt DuBois will analyze the African scene in a series of articles. The first appeared last week in the National Guardian. The distinguished historian's survey will seek to draw attention to the vital significance for the whole world, and not least for America, of the current ferment in the continent which is the last great stronghold of dying colonialism.

Dr. DuBois' first article, candidly discussing why at the time of Africa's greatest importance U. S. Negroes pay it but superficial attention, will appear in the Guardian's special Negro History Week issue of Feb. 14. This issue will also contain a survey of the Negro's position in America eight years from the NAACP's "full freedom" deadline in 1963, by the Guardian's civil liberties and Negro affairs editor, Eugene Gordon. Gordon was formerly the contributor of an annual appraisal of the Negro press to Opportunity: Journal of Negro Life.

The Guardian, founded in 1948 and circulated nationwide, has led in many campaigns in behalf of the Negro including the famous Trenton Six case.

Dr. DuBois now 87 years old and regarded as the nation's foremost expert on African affairs, has been a frequent contributor to the Guardian. A participant in the World Races Congress in London in 1911, he organized Pan-African Congresses in Paris, London, Brussels and Lisbon in 1919, 1921 and 1923. He was consultant in 1919 and 1921 in the founding of the League of Nations, participated in the first League assembly meeting in Geneva and later served as special U. S. Minister to Liberia. He was a special consultant and participant at the founding conference of the United Nations organization in San Francisco and in 1945 took a leading part in the Pan-African Congress in London. Among his many noted books, "The World and Africa" remains an unanswered indictment of centuries of white civilization built on exploitation and enslavement of the peoples of Africa.

NAACP Leader Says Education Wanting In South

WHITEVILLE
J. M. Hinton, fearless and forceful speaker for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, held the vast audience of the second annual public meeting of the Citizens Committee of Whiteville and Columbus County spell bound as he spoke to them about their responsibilities in the all important issue "American Citizenship," here Sunday.

Mr. Hinton brought to the attention of those present the deplorable condition of the educational facilities of Whiteville, and the South in general. He said that the Negro minister had a better chance to train the people of the South than anyone else, since there is a greater number connected to the church than any other organization in the South. He said that the minister should be a person who could teach his people how to live full lives, as citizens as well as Christians.

In the interest of the decision handed down by the Supreme (Continued on Page Six)
