The Religious and Educational Retreat was presided over by Bishop Frank Madison Reid and directed by Revs. C. G. Scott, S. E. Gules, Mrs. Gladys Wisner, wife of the president of Kittrell, Mrs. Dorothy Swann, and Mrs. Leolis Quinn Brown.

The theme for the Retreat was "Abundant Giving Is Abundant Living - Service." The four day convention consisted of workshops, symposiums, clinics, lectures and many varied forms of entertainment.

One of the highlights of the Retreat was the guest sermon delivered by The Rev. Frank Madison Reid, Jr., of Chicago. His subject was "Spiritual Malnutrition." The Rev. S. W. Williams, Jr., of Newport News, Va., preached on the subject, "Jesus The Son of Righteousness."

The missionary workers, under the direction of Mrs. Wisner and Mrs. L. H. Hemingway, conducted a special coronation service which netted enough to award fifteen scholarships to Kittrell Junior College. Mrs. Lucille Dale was crowned queen.

In less than six months since months since his election to this district, Bishop Reid has started the construction of a gymnasium, a residence for church officers and the bishop; he has renovated and converted the old abandoned Merrick Library into an office building, and he has paved the roads throughout the campus.

The Connectional Council which usually meets in late July and early August was moved to the date above, due to the fact that the World Methodist will meet Sept. 1, at Lake Junaluska. There was some conjecture about the denomination attending the World Council, due to the fact that only officials members, delegates and visitors were assured of equal accommodations.

In a recent article Bishop W. J. Walls, senior bishop and vice president of the World Methodist Council, was fearful that members of the denomination would be embarrassed if they were the objects of segregation. It has been definitely established, through Dr. Elmer T. Clark, in charge of arrangements, that all persons

If the planks adopted by the two conventions mean what they say, the Democrats have made a tiny move back toward their ancient states' rights position and the Republicans have gone further away from states' rights than any party ever went in a platform.

AMOS HALL

Negro Cemetery New Location Being Opposed

BURLINGTON

Fighting a hard battle to preserve a Negro cemetery of this city is Amos Hall, leader of a group of citizens, who together with Hall are opposed to the cemetery being transferred from North Church Street to a new location on Ross Street. Hall has succeeded in securing order, signed by Judge Leo Carr, resident judge of Burlington. A motion to vacate the restraining order is expected to be heard in Recorder's Court in Burlington Tuesday morning.

Representing Hall in the case are Attorneys C. J. Gates and M. E. Johnson of Durham. Hall was loud in his praise for the efficient manner in which Gates and Johnson went about securing the restraining order.

Pictured above is a recent meeting of Ushers gathered at Saint James Baptist Church in Rocky Mount to celebrate the anniversary of the Rocky Mount Ushers Union. Visiting the anniversary celebration were several state officers of the Interdenominational Ushers Association, including President L. E. Austin, Durham; Vice President C. A. Langston, Raleigh; Mrs. Marian Saunders, Fayetteville, member Board of Directors; C. R. Miller, supervisor; Burch Coley, treasurer; Fred Hines, treasurer; First Aid Department, T. A. Grady and C. B. Noel.

and a capital outlay appropriation of $1,700,000 by the Louisiana State Legislature made the construction possible.

Headlining the list of priority projects are a cafeteria, four dormitories, infirmary, auditorium with a seating capacity of 3,300, and an addition to the library.

The eight buildings will incorporate all the latest features, designs, and installations of modern architecture, the president said.

Other "urgently needed" construction and purchases approved were: 40 acres of land, hard-surfaced streets, walks, curbs and gutters, a farm barn, 12 asphalt tennis courts, a baseball diamond, and a lighted football stadium with a 440-yard cinder track and dressing rooms.

There is much more fine print in the platform: This includes: Department of Justice power to seek federal injunctions on behalf of the United States or of individual citizens in civil rights cases.

Far-reaching authority for private citizens to have access to federal courts in civil rights cases without first exhausting their rights in state courts as now required.

It was these far-reaching powers to harass citizens which caused Representative Miller, Republican of New York, one of the authors of bill to repudiate it on the floor of the House of Representatives as too dangerous in our form of government. But the Republican Party will leave San Francisco pledged to fight for the far-reaching abandonment of states' rights.
