Teen-agers Are Busy During Thanksgiving

With the celebration of Thanksgiving over till next year, our thoughts turn once again to school work and the thought that is less than a month we will have another celebration, Christmas! But, let's take a look into the news, and see what has been happening amidst the celebrating.

Thanksgiving brought much excitement to the teen-agers last week-end. Football games, dances and the annual Christmas parade, proved to be the favorite past time of last week-end.

Club Meeting...The Teen-age Corner Club, will meet Thursday, November 29th at the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, located at the corner of East Ninth and Maple Streets. Supervisor, Mrs.

Velma Hopkins. President, Howard Shaw.

Remembers Needy Persons...

The Atkin High student body thought it to be wonderful each year to distribute Thanksgiving baskets to some unfortunate and disabled persons throughout the city of Winston-Salem. A total of 55 baskets were distributed by the Student Council of Atkins.

The various baskets given by each record class, were judged by Mrs. Stephens, Home Economics teacher. There were prizes given to the class with largest variety, the best menu, and also honorable mention prizes. The classes with the largest variety were 11-3, Mrs. Baird; Mrs. Black and Miss Jackson tied for the best menu, class 12-2. Mrs. Scales won the honorable mention prize.

George Johnson of 978 Cleveland Avenue, called police last Thursday, November 22nd, and reported that he had been robbed of $45 at 8:15 p.m. Johnson said, while he was waiting for a bus on North Trade Street, a man he later identified in a line-up, pushed a sharp object against the back of his neck, knocked him down, took $45 out of his left front pocket and ran.

Police searched the area and found Herbert Curban, the accused robber, of the 1000 block of Trade Street, carrying a concealed weapon and investigation of robbery with firearms. Johnson, who picked Curban out of a line-up of eight persons, told officers the robber emptied his left front pocket, but did not bother the right front pocket, which he said contained $35 more.

Carrie Foster, 535 Vine St., reported to police and signed a warrant, last March 19, to the effect that Charles Gabriel Howard, 34, of 1205 East 13th Street had come into her house, and grabbed a tin can from a table near her, after talking with her a few minutes and ran. The tin can contained $475. Howard was finally apprehended last Thursday night, November 22, and jailed in lieu of $500 bond, pending trial to be held Tuesday, November 27th at Municipal Court. Mrs. Foster told officers that Howard had seen her take money from the can to pay him for working in her yard the day before the theft.

The Bills and Daughters of Bull-City Lodge—number 317 will hold a joint meeting at the Elks home on Fayetteville St. Sunday afternoon at four.

United Civic Organization Talks Problems Of Proposed Annexation

J. L. Lassiter, president of the United Civic Organization of Winston-Salem and Forsyth County, called a special Thanksgiving meeting of the organization, Friday night, November 23rd, at the Shiloh Baptist Church. The purpose of the meeting was to bring the organization some of the problems that are likely to be of deep concern to local system in the immediate future.

The highlight of the meeting was the information given by Rev. Kelly O. P. Goodwin, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, regarding the possible effect of Winston-Salem's annexation population upon the present number and size of wards. A fuller discussion of the ward situation will be held at the next regular meeting on Thursday, December 6th.

The United Civic Organization is made up of representatives from various social, religious, fraternal and community organizations. Its aim is to promote increased interest in registration and voting; to serve as a clearing house for social and political ideas of the community and to work for the civic improvement of the city and county.

At the meeting Friday night, president Lassiter presented Jason Hawkins, democratic chairman of the Fourteenth Street precinct, largest predominantly Negro precinct in Winston-Salem. Hawkins expressed his approval of and pledged his support to the organization.

John Graham of the Young Republican Club, expressed his sincere desire to see all men prosper and succeed according

Credit Store's Merchandise Is Damaged By Thick Smoke Clouds

Where there's smoke, there's fire. The Winston-Salem Fire Department answered a call at 8:30 a.m., Saturday morning, November 24, to go to Longfoster's Credit Clothing Store, located at 106 East Fourth Street. W. F. Thomas, owner, upon opening the store discovered it filled with thick black smoke. He theorized that the wiring had caught fire in the cooling-heating unit there during the night.

There was no actual blaze, but the smoke damaged the walls and the ceilings of both the first and second floors, as well as the merchandise. The Winston-Salem Fire Department was commended for the way they handled their call. No water was used. However, the clothes were extensively damaged by smoke.

Thomas said the damage to the building was covered by $20,000 insurance, but that the
