FIRST SHRINE BOWL GAME SET FOR ATHLETIC PARK DEC. 8TH

Some 44 Negro high school football stars representing the East and West completed training in Durham Friday for the first annual Shrine Youth Bowl Game in Durham Athletic Park at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 8.

Proceeds from the game will be used to develop a youth rehabilitation program and to provide a summer camp for underprivileged children.

F. G. Burnette of Durham is chairman of the arrangements committee.

Coaches for the West team are Clarence Moore of Asheville and Joseph Robinson of Morganton. Mentors for the East are Peter H. Williams of Raleigh and Charles England of Tarboro.

Players on both teams have completed their high school eligibility. They were selected by coaches throughout the state by popular vote.

Dr. W. T. Armstrong of Rocky Mount, commissioner of the North Carolina Negro High School Athletic Association, appointed the coaches and approved the game.

The Eastern Team's representatives are: Walter Bellamy, New Bern; Joe Pasteur, Beaufort; Cleveland Banks, Kinston; Virgil Jones, Tarboro; James Brewington, Greenville; Charles Hinton, Raleigh; Purcell Arrington, Nashville; Arthur R. Riley, Wilmington; Nathaniel Farrington, Chapel Hill; James Purdie, Elizabethtown; Hugh Bell, Durham; Philip McAdams and Emmett "Redd" Tilley, Durham; Leander Green, Jacksonville; Thomas McNeill, Rocky Mount; Walter Brown, Raleigh; Eddie Barfield, Snow Hill; and Theodore Epps, Henderson. Four other players will be added to the Eastern team, but their names were not available immediately.

G.I.B.T. to be played in Atlanta December 8-8.

St. Augustine's CIAA Final Offense And Defense Leader

St. Augustine's College of Raleigh copped CIAA team offense leadership honors as Morgan State's Jerome McArthur won individual laurels in rushing and offense, according to final statistics released Saturday by the CIAA News Service.

Coach George Walker's Falcons averaged 301.7 yards on offense and held opponents to 117.0 yards. McArthur, individual leader for most of the season, rushed 102.6 yards in eight games, carrying 110 times for 821 yards. His 107 yards on offense resulted from 111 plays garnering 821 yards. His 107 yards on offense resulted from 111 plays garnering 821 yards on land and 35 via air. Bill Murray of Delaware, who emerged as the top scorer with 60 points, is runner-up in rushing and offense.

George Jefferson of Lincoln replaced Maryland's Andy DeMont as passing leader. In seven games, he completed 11 of 20 (55 percent) for 113 yards and one TD.

Charlie Knight of Fayetteville is the new pass receiving leader, replacing Maryland's Vernon Vaughn. Knight, in seven games, garnered in 25 aerials for 247 yards and three TD's for an average of 35.2 per game. Vaughn in nine games caught 23 pitches for 357 yards and four TD's averaging 39.8. Al Montgomery of NCC, trailing St. Paul's Joe Jackson virtually all season, nudged the St. Paul's kicker in the final tallying. The NCC ace averaged 37.3 yards in nine games. He booted 35 times for 1,305 yards. One of his tries was blocked. Knight, the versatile Fayetteville back, ended up in the no. 2 punting slot. His 33.4 average in seven games came from 25 punts that travels 837 yards.

Delaware's Bill Murray, the final high scoring leader, got his 50 points on TD pushes that paid off ten times for six points per time. Sample's total of 58 gives him the position after the leader.

Fayetteville Outlasts Hampton, 81-70 In Opener For Both Fives

By way of opening the 1956-57 cage season for both outfits, the Fayetteville State Teachers College "Broncos" outpassed if not outclassed Captain Edwin Amos and his Hampton Pirate clan to write an 81-70 victory in the score book Friday. But it was one of those hammer and anvil affairs that was anybody's game right down to the final whistle.

The Pirates grabbed the tip-off, and presently their bespeckled forward, Bland Brockborough, rifled in an ice-breaking jump shot and the fight was on. During the first ten minutes of play, the lead flipped to and fro in rapid succession, but, gambling on a change of pace, Bronco captain "Ted" Bonner, John Morgan, Roosevelt Wright, and Ronald Evans mixed in the long ones with the short ones to stay out in front most of the first period

Fooball Was Late Interest Of Ollie Matson

CHICAGO, Ill. Ollie Matson, the Chicago Cardinals' fleet-footed-210 lb. pile driving half back, is featured in the January EBONY.

Matson, described by opposing teams as a football coach's dream player, has been an avid grid fan since he was seven.

As a child in his native Trinity, Texas, Ollie Genoa Matson, got so he would roam the sidelines, at Trinity High School football games. "At seven," recalls his mother, "he knew the game very well. None of us ever dreamed we had a clue to what he'd be as a man."

In 1948, Mrs. Matson, a nursery school teacher, moved her family to San Francisco, seeking "better conditions" all around for her 14-year-old son and his twin sister, Ocie. Ollie enrolled in the George Washington High School at the beginning of the 1946 fall semester and hesitantly played basketball and baseball before going out for football. Ollie scored his first high school touchdown in 1947 but had become nationally famous earlier that year by placing second to world quarter mile champion Herb McKenley with a 47.1 effort in the Pacific Coast AAU's 440-yard run.

While in high school Matson kept a level head although George Washington High girls formed "Matsonettes" fan club for him. After graduating, the school had a "Matson Day", retired his jersey, and gilded his track shoes. Colleges from all over the country tried to get Matson.

When he graduated from San Francisco, he saw his jersey again retired to the school trophy case. Once the professional season is over, Ollie returns to San Francisco U. to continue work towards a master degree in education.

Three Charters will be presented Sunday night at the St. Mark AME Zion Church. J. W. Carrington, chairman of the O&E committee, will be in charge at 7:00 December 16th.

Samuel "Sad Sam" Jones, 1953 All-CIAA basketball ace with the North Carolina College "Eagles", has returned to the NCC club after a two year stint with the U. S. Armed Forces.

Jones turned down a offer from the Professional Minneapolis "Lakers" to re-enter NCC to complete his academic studies and his final year of collegiate play. In the "Eagles" first home game of the season played last weekend, Jones scored eighteen points against the S. C. State "Bulldogs" for high-point team honors.
