Goodson, his company commander, on his promotion to the rank of corporal. A warehouseman at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Parris Island, Cpl. Howard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddle Howard of Bethel. Center panel shows Mack W. Torrence, steward first class, as he was joined by his wife at his duty station in Kodiak, Alaska. Torrence's wife, the former Miss Louise Clinton, is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Clinton of Mangum avenue, High Point. Panel at right shows Marine

Pvt. Robert L. Knight being received into the regular Marine Corps. Major W. H. Mulvey, Knight's battalion executive officer, extends congratulations. Son of Charlie Knight of Mt. Gilead, Knight completed training as a reservist at Parris Island in November and was sworn into the corps on the same day.

Montgomery Boycott Unit Issues Call For Funds For Pending Court Actions, Non-Violence Talks

MONTGOMERY, Ala. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., President of the Montgomery Improvement Association and the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, Vice President announced last week that the Association is making a special appeal to the nation for funds. It is requested that these funds be sent to the office of the MIA, 530-C So. Union Street, during the week of the Institute on non-violence and social change. The MIA is sponsoring this Institute on December 3-9, 1966.

Vice-president, Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, who is serving as chairman of the Institute, made the following statement: "During the week of December 3, 1956, the MIA will observe its first anniversary by conducting an Institute on Non-Violence and Social Change. Some of the the outstanding thinkers and personalities of the nation have been invited to Montgomery to participate in this Institute. This is not to be construed as a victory celebration; rather it will be a week in which we will seek to rededicate the community and the nation to the principle of non-violence in the struggle for freedom and justice."

The twenty-seven year old leader of the Montgomery movement, often referred to as the "Moses of the South" said: "During the week of the Institute, the leaders of the Montgomery movement hope to raise enough funds to liquidate present financial obligations and meet the many financial responsibilities which lie ahead. We will need funds to give assistance to those individuals who sacrifice themselves in order to aid the movement. Many of them are "marked men" who will not be able to get work for some time. Ninety ministers and leaders of the protest movement still have cases pending in court and are subject to be tried any day on a charge of conspiracy against the city transportation lines. The president's case must still be appealed to the highest court in order to clear his name of false conspiracy charges. There is also the need for funds so that the MIA can continue to operate in the interest of the Negroes after the protest is ended, since NAACP operation has been legally curtailed in Alabama. Since the ballot is one of the basic keys to the solution of the Negroes' problem in the south, there is the urgent need to set up voting clinics throughout the community which will assist persons in registering and teach them voting procedures."

In releasing the program, Rev. Abernathy pointed out that the 50,000 Negroes in Montgomery are asked to rededicate themselves in our struggle for freedom and human dignity.

this shining new personality that on September 30, he was called in and given the lifetime appointment.

Not only does the pastor receive no monies from our church, a devoted member said this week, "but he puts money in the church every Sunday."

Last summer, in keeping with his call of evangelism, Dr. O'Hara traveled over 11,000 miles covering nine states from New York to Sacramento, California, preaching to literally thousands.

A&T MEN IN TOP AG POSTS

GREENSBORO A and T College graduates have in recent years assumed top roles as leaders in agriculture. This is indicated by a recently completed study of the college alumni.

The report, released by Dr. Warmoth T. Gibbs, president of the college, reveals that top posts in the Extension Services of three states are being held by graduates of the college. All are state agents, in charge of Negro work.

A hundred-odd A and T College graduates fill positions at lower levels in the N. C. Extension Service. The study shows that 90 percent of the county agents and a little more than 60 percent of the home agents are alumni of the college.

Oldest, in point of service, is W. H. Williamson, State agent for the Tennessee Extension Service who assumed the post-tion in 1935. He graduated from the college in 1925 and spent ten-years as county agent in Virginia. A native of Caswell County, he received the Master of Science degree in Agricultural Economics from Cornell University.

Ross W. Newsome, State agent for Virginia and who graduated at A and T in 1929, worked as county agent in Campbell County, Virginia until his elevation to the present post in 1942. He is a native of Ahoakie, N. C.

State agent for the North Carolina Extension Service is Robert E. Jones, a 1932 graduate of the college. He held the position as the Craven County agent from his graduation to 1938, being promoted as 4-H Club specialist, a position he held for seven-years. He was named to his present post in 1943. Jones received additional training at Cornell University

Present...with a future

You give more than money when you give a savings account in an Insured Savings and Loan Association. You give someone a head start on the savings habit... on getting many other worthwhile things in the future. And, as over seventeen million Americans know, saving in an Insured Savings and Loan Association means important advantages. Excellent returns from your money is one advantage. Efficient, forward-looking service from men who know how to make your dollars work harder for you is another.

And, of course, your money is safe because in Insured Associations your savings are protected by sound management and substantial reserves. They are insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation—an agency of the U.S. Government. These are the reasons why Americans are putting more of their savings account dollars into Insured Savings and Loan Associations than anywhere else! And, with over $38 billion of assets, these Insured Associations are a great force in encouraging thrift and home ownership.

You can invest in the future with as little as $1 to $5. Plan now to give someone in your family (or yourself) this "present with a future." Why not start with a part of your Christmas bonus... watch it grow... more quickly than you'd think.
