Kenneth Jones-

According to police reports, he talked with Rev. Swain and Douglas Caldwell Friday morning and then drove home. A next door neighbor, Willie Lesley, sitting on his porch, said he noticed Jones looking back at frequent intervals and he became suspicious.

Lesley said he related his suspicions to Mrs. Maggie Morpus, a relative of Jones who also lived on the opposite side of his house, and when she and her son went to investigate, they found him slumped behind the wheel of the car.

They called the funeral home and attendants removed the ice-pick from his chest and rushed him to Memorial hospital, but he died enroute.

Jones was born and reared in Carboro where until a year ago he was secretary of an undertaking establishment. He was prominently connected with the civic and religious life of Carboro and Chapel Hill. At the time of his death, he was engaged in the insurance business. For many years he had been a member of St. Paul AME church, serving in many capacities, most recently as treasurer of the church's building fund. Funeral services were held Monday at 2:30 at St. Paul AME church, according to the dead man's pre-arranged plan. Rev. T. P. Duhart, St. Paul pastor, officiated. Assisting, in accordance with Jones' written instructions, were Reverends, J. R. Manly, pastor of First Baptist; L. E. Daye, pastor of Second Baptist; C. T. Boyd, pastor of the Holiness church; J. C. Burnett, pastor of the Church of Smithfield; and J. H. Lightsey, pastor of a rural CME circuit in Chatham County.

acquitted. The case against Hollowell was dropped, and Mrs. Hurley and Milton were found guilty but no sentence was imposed. Calhoun was found guilty of civil contempt and ordered jailed until he turned over the records in question. In addition to his conviction for civil contempt, he was given a 12 months suspended sentence for criminal contempt.

Judge Pye had Calhoun locked up immediately following trial, without a chance to confer with lawyers. And, in an almost unprecedented move, the Judge announced that he was continuing jurisdiction in the contempt case, barring Calhoun from making an appeal from the decision.

TWIN CITY DEATHS

Sam Draper of 927 Short Cleveland Avenue, died at a local hospital Thursday December 13th. Final rites were held Tuesday, December 18 from the Chapel of Hooper's Funeral Home at 4 p.m., with the Rev. Coleman officiating. Burial followed in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Funeral services for Charld Trince of North Highland Ave., who was fatally injured, Dec. 12th, while working with the Sherrell Paving Company, were held Sunday, December 16 at 2 p.m., from the St. Peters Church of God, with Bishop E.

N. Neal officiating. Interment followed in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Carrie Carwell Logan of 1436-A Wallace Street, died at a local hospital, Wednesday, December 12th. Mrs. Logan was a native of Guilford College, N. C. and was member of the St. Paul AME Church of this city. Final Rites were held Sunday, December 16 at 3 p.m., from the Raleigh Crossroads Methodist Church in Guilford College, with the Rev. W. M. Miller officiating. Burial was in the church Cemetery.

Colerell Glenn of North Hattie Avenue, died at his home on Monday, December 10th. He was a life-long resident of Forsyth County, and a member of the West End Baptist Church, where Funeral Services were 15 at 1 p.m. Rev. Kenneth Williams officiated. Burial followed in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Benjamin J. Adgers of 709 Pitts Street, died at a local hospital Thursday, December 13th as a result of a heart attack. He was a native of Mecklenburg County, having lived in this city approximately 50 years. Mr. Adgers was funeralized on Monday, December 17th at 4:30 p.m. from the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, with the Rev. Kelly O. P. Goodwin officiating. Interment followed in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Benjamin J. Adgers of 709 Pitts Street, died at a local hospital here last week, from what a local physician termed as a heart attack. Mr. Adgers was widely known as a musician and was a prominent member of the Mt. Zion Baptist Church on East Ninth Street. In addition to being the director of the Senior Choir No. 2, chairman of the co-ordination council, Sunday School member and a member of the laymen's league, all of the Mt. Zion Church, he also operated a grocery store in the Happy Hill section, near his home.

For many years, Mr. Adgers was director of music for the Western North Carolina Baptist Sunday School and BTU Convention. He was also the organizer and director of the one-time Community Chorus and Orchestra here.

Benjamin J. Adgers was a native of Mecklenburg County, having resided in this city approximately 50 years.

Survivors include his bride of only a few months, Mrs. Lulu Martin Adgers of the home; Miss Daisy Waddell Martin, step-daughter, city; Alphonzo Allen, U. S. Army, foster son; a sister, Mrs. Augusta Lighten and a brother, Clifton Eddison, both of Charlotte.

old secretary.

Bishop Jones' young bride, Miss Miller, is a teacher in the Moore street school here. She is active in the denomination's work here.

Ceremonies uniting the couple were scheduled for 6:30 Friday evening, but long before that time the church had been crowded to capacity despite a steady torrent of rain.

Bishop Walls was assisted in the ceremony by bishops W. W. Slade, H. T. Medford, C. E. Tucker and Rev. Honeycutt, pastor of Moore's Chapel.

Without taking time for customary kiss salute, the couple made a hasty retreat from the altar as soon as the ceremony was finished, but they were almost mobbed by waiting friends and anxious neighbors before they could leave the church.

Mrs. Marie Burney, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Rev. J. W. Hatch was best man.

Bridesmaids were Mesdames Minnie Brown, Greensboro; Ann Billingslea, Gainsville, Ga.; Ruth Gore, Greensboro, (sisters of the bride), Pearl Phillips, Charlotte, (sister of the groom), Dorothy Slade, Williams, N. Y.; Janie Speaks, Durham; Marian Little, Beulah Gibson and Irene Godlett, all of Salisbury, and Sujette Ellis (daughter of the groom), Maxton.

of the truck, was slightly injured and did not require hospitalization.

The accident occurred late Saturday afternoon at Robbins cross road, an intersection of NC 87, a primary road, and NC 705. Investigating police said that the car driven by Smith apparently plunged into the intersection without stopping and collided with the truck.

The force of the impact swerved the truck from its course into the yard of a store-service station operated by W. C. Lester where it fell on two late model Fords, crushing them. No one was in the parked cars.
