is clear that the possibility of "a genuine danger of violence and civil commotion" cannot be used as a basis for interrupting the plan of integration. Following Judge Lemley's refusal on June 23 to grant a stay of his postponement order, attorneys Marshall and Branton appealed to the Eighth Circuit Court on June 24 for a stay of the order.

However, since that court was in summer recess, on June 26 the attorneys filed a petition for a writ of certiorari in the U. S. Supreme Court to review Judge Lemley's order before judgment of the Court of Appeals. The petition was denied on June 30. However, the Supreme Court stated: "We have no doubt that the Court of Appeals will recognize the vital importance of the time element in this litigation and that it will act upon the application for a stay or the appeal in ample time to permit arrangements to be made for the next school year."

Arguments before the appellate court is scheduled to begin on August 4 in St. Louis.

Other attorneys who appear on the brief filed on behalf of the Negro students are Irma Robbins Feder, Constance Baker Motley and Elwood H. Chisolm, all of New York, and Spottswood W. Robinson of Richmond, where and translates itself into the spread of spiritual interdependence among the peoples of the world. Freedom encircles the culture and histories of mankind's false divisions, based on language and geographical barriers and includes men of all nations, races, cultures and customs, in an absorbing brotherhood of man that proclaims the efficacy of preaching freedom," said the prelate.

He concluded with the following: "The free nations of today's world must live the freedom they profess to represent if there is to be freedom in the world. As Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah has reminded us, "There can be no freedom without equality". The United States and Great Britain cannot be free until Hawaii and Ghana are free. Our freedom, cradled at Plymouth Rock, declared at Philadelphia, won at Bunker Hill, Saratoga, Valley Forge and Yorktown, tested at Bull Run, settled at Gettysburg and wrapped up at Appomattox, must be continued at Little Rock, Dawson and Miami, if we are to witness for the same, under God. If the church cannot teach, preach and live a freedom, to all men, everywhere, we lack the dynamic necessary for survival, as spokesmen for God in today's world."

Monday evening, I stopped by the Lincoln Grill and had lunch with Thomas Winningham and Oren Nance. Later that day, I went to the home of Mr. & Mrs. Curtis Pendleton where they were selling Bar-B-Que Ribs and Chops for the church building fund.

Tuesday night, I stopped by Roadside Grill at 5th and Claremont Streets and as usual found the place to be very much alive with Nurses and students from Winston Salem Teachers College.

Friday night at the Masonic Hall, Sethos Court No. 105 gave a benefit dance for the Tuberculosis and Cancer Fund. Mrs. Lillian Robinson and Mrs. Mamie Lang were in charge. Music was furnished by the Paul Norman Trio. Mr. & Mrs. George Cason were enjoying the dance after spending a vacation in Hempstead, L. I., New York and Canada. Farmer Kirkland and Kenard Dockette were there; Dimp (Love-Joy) Turner, Charles Lee Boyd, Viola Anderson, Louise Withers, James Kinard and Mary McQueen were also dancing and enjoying themselves.

That is all for this week, but I will leave you with this thought, "A man who thinks by the inch, and talks by the yard, should be kicked by the foot."
