N. C. College And Hillside Hold Homecoming Events This Week-End

Homecoming at North Carolina College and Hillside high school promise to make Durham the scene of many lively episodes this week-end.

Hillside leads off with its homecoming celebration Friday. Featuring three main attractions, Hillside's celebration will get underway Friday morning with the annual installation Services of the Hillside Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Some nineteen members-elect will be installed into the local chapter of the scholarly society at 11 a.m. in the school auditorium with a principal address being delivered by Dr. J. Neal Huguley, professor of Economics and College Minister at the North Carolina College.

Later in the evening, the annual Hillside Homecoming Parade will be reeled off on a route that will take it spiraling through Durham's leading residential and business streets.

High stepping majorettes, militia marching bands, colorful floats, and other units will be featured in the parade slated to begin at 4:30 p.m.

The main feature of the annual celebration will be the gridiron contest Friday night at 8 p.m. at the Durham Athletic Park when the local Hillside High hornets face the Darden High Trojans of Wilson.

During the halftime intermission of the grid contest, a lovely hillside co-ed, Miss Catherine See H'COMINGS, page 8.

Negroes Paid By Whites To Enter Little Rock Church, Probe Shows

Act Said Part Of Effort To Oust Liberals

NEW YORK—Attempts by groups of Negroes to attend services at white churches in Little Rock would appear to be "a maneuver of the segregationist forces and may well have been stimulated by some state officials," the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People declares in a statement released here by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Association's Board of Directors.

The statement, adopted by the NAACP Board of Directors at its regular monthly meeting here on Oct. 14, reaffirms the Association's conviction that "the Churches of Christ should be voluntarily desegregated everywhere."

However, it points out, "an investigation by the NAACP seems to indicate that worship in Christian fellowship was not the real objective" of those colored persons seeking to attend churches "whose ministers have been moderates on the school integration question." The investigation revealed that certain of these "alleged worshippers" had been paid to attend the white churches and had been transported to the churches by white men as part of "an organized effort to embarrass the ministers and arouse not only the congregations immediately concerned, but other white church-goers as well."

One of the men playing an active role in this scheme, the NAACP statement asserts, "is the proprietor of a nursing home which receives patronage and support from the State of Arkansas. It was also learned that few if any of the members of the delegation are members of any church, or are in the habit of attending any house of worship."

The statement further notes that "no Negro citizens of standing and responsibility in the Little Rock community are identified with this disruptive plot."

In furtherance of this plot, the segregationists are reported to be planning to send Negroes to a farewell reception in honor of the Rev. Dunbar Ogden who, because of his opposition to school segregation, has been forced to give up his pastorate of a Presbyterian church in Little Rock, Dr. Tobias said.

Miss Bennie Booker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Booker, 1927 Cecil Street, Durham, North Carolina, is a freshman at The College of Wooster this year. Miss Booker is a recipient of a supplementary scholarship awarded by the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students. Outstanding in student government, academic work and interested in school publications and dramatics as a high school student at Hillside in Durham, Miss Booker was one of 700 promising students to receive NSSS grants.

S. C. NAACP Head Steps Out Amid Praises

CHARLESTON, S. C.—Rev. James M. Hinton, president of the South Carolina Conference of NAACP branches, was hailed as a "courageous, resourceful and brilliant leader" by Gloster B. Current, the Association's director of branches, in an address prepared for delivery at a testimonial dinner honoring Hinton here last Sunday.

Also paying tribute to Hinton at the dinner, held during the three-day (Oct. 17-19) annual state conference of the NAACP, was Kelly M. Alexander, president of the Association in North Carolina.

Current reviewed the development of NAACP activity in South Carolina since 1940 when Mr. Hinton became president. During this period the number of NAACP branches in the state expanded from nine to a peak of 90. Legal victories achieved included the Clarendon County school segregation case and the banning of the Democratic party "white" primary by a ruling of United States District Judge J. Waites Waring. The legal program was conducted under the direction of Special Counsel Thurgood Marshall and Harold Boulware, South Carolina attorney.

The state conference has been active in aiding Negroes in criminal cases and developed a

Former Ike Aide To Speak At Chain's Trade Week Event

Dr. Arthur Larson, former director of the United States Information Agency and later Special Assistant to President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will be the speaker at the annual public program of the Durham Business and Professional Chain at Hillside High School on Wednesday night, October 29 at 7:30 o'clock.

Larson is now director of the World Rule of Law Center at Duke University, a post he assumed recently. His appearance before the Chain's audience will mark Larson's first public appearance on a Durham rostrum.

This year's Trade Week festivities start at 11 a.m. on Saturday, October 25, when chain members will parade with North Carolina College's Homecoming Day contestants. The NCC Maryland State College football game at 1:30 on NCC's O'Kelly Field is the highlight of this part of the program.

Chain firms will hold special open house programs from 6 to 9 p.m. on Monday October 27. A Talent Night program will be held at W. D. Hill Recreation Center at 7:30 Tuesday night.

A special radio program will be presented over Station WSRC from 5:30 to 6:00 p.m. on Wednesday.

The annual banquet with Joseph W. Goodloe, vice president and secretary of the N. C. Mutual Life Insurance Co., as speaker, will be held at the Harriet Tubman YWCA on Thursday night. Special recognition will be given founders.

"The Miss Trade Week" beauty contest final will be reeled off at the Regal Theatre at 7:30 Friday night. A special first prize of a $250 scholarship will be given by Radio Station WSRC.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beebe are among the husband-wife teams serving as committee heads this year. They co-chair the general program. Other committee co-chairmen are: Parade, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rhodes; Open House, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Gholson; Talent Hunt, Mrs. J. DeShazor Jackson and Clarence Phillips; Radio: Mr. and Mrs. R. Kelly Bryant, Jr.; Public Program; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. NAACP To Push Passage Of Law Extending Control Over Explosive

NEW YORK—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will renew its efforts to secure congressional enactment of a law "extending federal control over the possession, transportation and use of dangerous explosives," Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Association's Board of Directors, has announced.

A bill, introduced in the 85th Congress, failed of enactment. The decision to renew the drive for passage of such a law is embodied in a resolution passed by the Board at its regular monthly meeting here on Oct. 14. The resolution "deplores and strongly condemns the bombing of Jewish temples in Atlanta and Peoria."

Further the resolution declares: "The desecration of these houses of worship is the ugly and inevitable fruit of the seeds of racial and religious hatred being sown by demagogic politicians and irresponsible journalists whose calls for defiance of the law of the land have helped create a social and political climate
