LOOKING BACKWARD AND LOOKING FORWARD

The excuse of Governor-elect John Patterson of Alabama for not inviting Negro bands to participate in his inaugural parade certainments our approval, Patterson says, as the the ter in the light against the National Asnociation for the Advancement of Colored People, he feels it would be embarrassing to ers of Negro bands to ask them to participate in a parade that is in actuality a salto the new governor. We think the govemor-elect of Alabama is absolutnely right in his decision. No self respecting Negroes could horrestly salute a person whose every act is to keep them in a position of second-class

We think the time has come when Negroes should stop feeling that they are being done special bonors when they are asked to humiliate themselves in such events. Patterson has proved conclusively that he is no triend of the race, and we see no reason why a group of its members should be called upon to honor him during his inauguration, Certainly, if Negroes should participate in such a parade, they could not do so with the same enthusiasm as members of other bands.

When it is considered further that Negroes in Alabama have little or no voice in the election of a governor, because of the opposition which they meet in attempting to vote they have every good reason for staying out the state's inaugural parades.

There were times in North Carolina when it was considered quite an achievement for Negroes to have the governor as the speaker on one of their programs. Thanks to the students of A&T College, several years ago, and end was put to this era when they had the courage to hiss Governor Luther Hodges because of his insulting remarks in an address. Since that time, invitations extended the governor to address Negro audiences have been few and far between. In reality, Negro leaders are becoming of age and no longer feel honored to have on their programs a person who is absolutely opposed to their having full citizenship in this country, he he the governor or the garbage collector.

NO HONOR FOR NEGROES

As we stand upon the threshold of the new year and look back over 1958 we must admit that although the achievements of Negroes in Durham, the state and fhe nation could have been much better than in Durham at least the race has made some strides forward In one or two instances gains made by Negroes in Durham have been only a fittle less the othose mentioned above. In the Durham tributed to the fact that the Durham Negro has the highest voting average in the nation.

The year 1958 saw a new-fire station erected in the southern section of Durham and staffed entirely by 10 Negro firemen. This marked the first time in the city's history that Negro firemen have been employed on a full time basis the same as white firemen. A few weeks following a Negro deputy sheriff was sworn in also the first time in the county's history that members of the race have been represented in the sheriff department. A second will be sworn in the early part of January.

Another forward stride was achieved when city officials agreed that the new industrial center to be erected in Durham would be operated on an interracial basis. Because of this promise the Durham Committee on Ne-

RESPECT FOR CHILDREN

At Evansville, Indiana two fittle ranaway boys, ages nine and seven, who left home "becallse we have been doing wrong," unintentionally caused a train wreck when the older by threw an unlocked railroad switch to bee his little brother whose foot got jammed in it. Open the switch caused a 23-car coal train to run onto the siding at 40 miles per hour and crash into a diesel enguie and three freight cars. In order to avoid the crash a brakeman and fireman jumped from the orirushing freight. The injuries of one of the men necessitated hospitalization while the othe received minor injuries.

In all six cars and three diesel units were derailed, blocking the siding and a nearby county road for several hors, after apprehending the boys, "I don't think they realize what they have done." Although the boys will appear in juvenile court later, heir name: have been withheld and a court official has predicted that no serious punishment could

A CHALLENGE TO THE Dixie Classic Basketball Tournament played in Raleigh this week again calls our fact that the sports world is far ahead of that of religion in North Caroling. Two of the teams participating in the Classic, Cincinnati and Michigan, had Megro members who played without causing even the raising of an eyelbrow. Needless to say no church in this state has, so far as we have been able to learn, been able to use a Negro beyond that of sexton, maid or some other servile position. Here is something for those of us who claim to possess the love of Christ in our hearts to think about. Here is a challenge that the Christian church should not allow to go unmet if it is to weild the influence gro Affairs threw its full support behind the election held for the industrial center and succeeded in passing the bond issue which facer keen opposition among the conservative element of Durham.

What 1959 holds in the way of progress is hard to tell. In the field of employment there is much to be done. Especially is this true in city, county and state governments where Negroes have made little or no gains other than those mentioned obove. In the Durham courthouse, the city hall and the many state buildings in Raleigh there are no Negroes employed as clerks or stenographers The time has come when the employment of Negroes as clerks and stenographers should be gone after with a determination if we are to be able to shoulder our part of the economy in the city, county and state.

As a means of achieving this end it is going to be necessary for the race to improve its voting strength and in many instance: more than double it. It cannot be achieved by begging cringing and "uncle toming," the language those in power understand is that of the ballot. With this in mind we urge Negroes all over this state and the South as well to begin now for intensive register and vote efforts leading up to the election of 1960.

OF ALL RACES

trary the fittle Negro boys were arrested and slammed in jail and held there for six days without being allowed to see their parents or friends. Without even the pretense of a hear ing the court ha ssentenced both of then to the state reformatory for an indefinite period. Instead of withholding their names from the public press, the names of both little boys have been heralded from one side of the state to the other.

About the only thing left for state officials to do in this sordid case is for Governor Luther Hodges, the Attorney-General, the Supreme and Superior Court judges and all juvenile court judges of the state to form a mob, march on the state reformatory and commit and outright lynching of the two little boys. Certainly the lynching of them could only be a litte worse, if any, to what has bee ndone to the spirits and personalities of these two underage children.

While all this is going on state officials are beasting about North Carolina's industrial de ent and its schools. What this news oper would like to see is for those in autho rely in North Carolina to develop to the exenough to respect childhood without regard to race, creed or color.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

among mankind it should. Certainly Chrisworship God to gether if persons who might not claim to be as devout as some of us Christians can participate in contests as hot as some of those were in Raleigh this week.

We commend the officials of the Dixie Classic Basketball Tournament for being able to rise above the horizon of race in promoting the event. They have set an example for those in other fields to follow and we trust before another year rolls around that at least the Christian Church in this state will be able to demonstrate that it too can encourage brotherhood among those of

What we would like to see now an North Carolina are sports events between some of the top-ranking Negro and white colleges of the state. Such events would do much to postnose interracial goodwill as well be a financial success. If seams representing North Carolina white reducational institutions can play teams from other states have ing Negroes on them we can see no reason why they cannot play teams within the

What To Expect Of Congress

trom An Analysis By Acute Washington Observer

The holiday mail today brought a special report from Maurice Rosenblatt, rector of the National Commit for an Effective Congress, on what to look for afer gress reconvenes. Rosenblatt is one of the sharpest observers of the Washington scene; his views are always worth study-

What follows are some pert inent quotes from the NCEC report:

"American politics," writes Rosenblatt, "are increasingly dominated by the paradox that we can spend $80 billions a year and still not buy what we want. This irritates the people and puzzles the politicians, but neither seem to have realized yet what we want isn't for sale.

'It is something which must be created- the dynamic ensomewhere. This is a matter of values, not only personal but national. It is a matter of leadership. And it cannot be measured in per capita production or Looking to the next session of Congress, he continues:

"If the parties and their leaders run true to form, chances are that by 1960 the vacuum that the American people vot-ed to fill in the 1958 election will still be there. We will have good action, an airport construction, housing, urban renew al, reclamation projects, etc But we will still not know where we are going in the . . it doesn't look as though much will be done in terms of history-partly cause no one is particularly partly because Congress isn't

THE LOLE OF LYNDON JOHNSON - The leader of the NCEC aparently does not be lieve Senate Democractic Leader Lyndon Johnson has sudden acquired stature. Johnson the report says, is the sort of man "who will not venture an attractive goal unless he clearly sees the way, or at least the way back. .

The report notes that in hi 'program" for the 86th Con omitted" civil rights and "even failed to mention education which would have reminded people that schools were closed in Arkansas and Virginia.

While Johnson spoke of the "new heights" to which the country must rise, the NCE!! director described his program in these terms:

"Reduced to its essentials Johnson's program is warmed-over New Deal and Fair Deal vith missiles flying overhead.' So far as Rosenblatt is con cerned Johnson and Vice Presi dent Nixon are both "political stylists". Johnson is described as the "short range tactician" and Nixon as the "long range operator".

The Rosen Datt report is an It underscores the historic ob portunity that the Democratic leaders in Congress have to make a real record for their party. But if the party's younger men rely on Johnson, Sj er Rayburn and the other eran politicians to make that ecord, then their fight will be lost before it has begun. The first and earliest tests come with moves to end the filibuste and to curb the power of the Dixie - dominated House Rules Committee. What happens these crucial battles will be the measure of the Democratic congressional leadership, as well as an indicator of the party's

"THAT MAN" IN ALBANY-It will be difficult, the report continues, for Nixon to resume the role in which he cast him self before the 1958 election. His return to the "old Nixon of the fang and claw school" probably damaged Nixon's carefully contrived image of himself as a modern Republican.

But the Republicans, write Rosenblatt, no longer need rely on Nixon for victory in '80 be ing Washington.'

"Already the political existence of Nelson Rockefeller has had a visible impact on both parties, and many see the new Governor of New York setting the pace for the coming Conans, with gleeful encourarge ment by the press, will be tinuously casting furtive looks over their shoulders at 'that man' in Albany.

". . . . The first man to be pulled out of orbit was the Vice-President. . . Rockefeller's emergence has had a liberalizing effect on everybody. The Vide President can again venture into progressive positions since Taft Republicans must close ranks behind him or accept the terrifying liberal New

This Year, Go With God

"GOING WITH GOD" Fear not...I am with thee, I am thy God...I will uphold thee. Isa. 41:10.

We come again to an unknown New Year with its many hidden secrets. No one knows what this new year holds for him or her, What will 1959 bring for you as it mysteriously unfolds to be-come the living present? No human being is wise enough to answer this great mystery. We are unable to fathom the unknown future with our have tears, hurts, broken hearts, failures, disappoint-ments, discouragements, sickness, afflictions and troubles peace, success, health, and in-numerable rich blessings from God.

For some, dreams will come true. Some others will see their fondest dreams shattered. May I suggest that as you enter this new year, as a blessing from God Almighty, THAT YOU PUT GOD IN YOUR BUSINESS. Let us all say," I am GOING WITH GOD." WITH GOD.'

In going with God then you will be ready for whatever may be your lot during this year. Yes, let us put God in our business during this year. It is dangerous to have God out of your life and your business during this new year. Many in pride and sellishness are tempted to leave God out of their business. And then when the way gets hard we just cannot take it.

Without God we are crushed and overwhelmed by the burdensome demands of this life. In going with God you will be ready when the high waters of life come. In going with God you will be ready when the fires of tifliction strike. In going with God you can weather the mighty storms of life. Yes, in going with God life. Yes, in going with God YOU WILL BE READY FOR WHATEVER MAY HAPPEN TO YOU DURING THIS

How can you make is with How can you make is with-out God in a rough and diffi-cult world like this? Man's strength is not enough in this rough and difficult world. Man in his weakness needs Divine help. God promises his help. Then, why not avail yourself of God's offer of help

REPLY TO ONE FINAL WORD

I see in your issue for Decem O. R. Gallagher in reply to my your columns.

Mr. Gallagher says, "The only reason I wrote in the first place was to correct some misinforma-tion that Mr. Miller had in his first letter." This letter of his, in your issue of October 25, says that "It is very apparent that Mr. Miller does not know what the Davidians teach", but he fails to direct the readers' attention to a single point of mised to carry out his purpose.

Then, Mr. Gallagher acuused me of "misrepresentation, such as Mr. Miller resorted to by in-serting a word of his own in a quotation, giving it an entirely different meaning". It is true different meaning". that in my letter of Nov. 29, in reply to his in your issue of that date I "misgooted" him by inserting the word "merely in parentheses as given in the followng: "no man, not even a priest or ruler has a right to say you will not give publicity to your opinion (merely)) be cause I do not believe them."
