

All Americans Said Responsible For Shattering Democracy Dream

PHILADELPHIA — All Americans, North and South, are responsible for the "large-scale inhumanity" we exhibit toward some citizens, it is said in a study released today by the American Friends Service Committee.

The 64-page booklet, Race and Conscience in America, published by the University of Oklahoma Press, said, "We believe that a moment of decision has now come for each of us and for the nation. America can be the America of our hopes. But a world in revolution cannot wait. The American dream must become a reality, and rapidly."

The report was prepared by a special "working party" assembled by the American Friends Service Committee. It was asked to "study where we as a people stand in the matter of race relations, to inquire where we ought to be, and to propose methods of bridging the gap."

The study warns of seven areas of unfinished business in America's race relations which must be dealt with before the United States can be in fact, "a land of equal opportunity." These include public school desegregation, employment, housing, public accommodations, political participation, religion, discrimination in religious institutions, and civil rights.

In an affirmation of faith the authors say that all men have worth and dignity and hence "no man may, with impunity, discriminate against or exploit another."

"And if the nature of man is such as we have affirmed, then nothing less than its full recognition, nothing less than the dignity and respect due him simply because he is a man, can ever satisfy him," the report said.

HOME-SEWER IS A FASHION INDIVIDUALIST

By Evelyn Cunningham

There's nothing quite like a little mid-summer madness to lift the spirits and stir new interests. Most often an entirely different hair-do or a new hair color does the trick.

For some reason or other, girls are most inclined to make changes in their personal appearances during the summer months. Of course, suntans usually necessitate new make-up. So this is a wonderful chance to try new colors and products that had seemed daring in the winter.

Summer is also the time

COORDINATED SKINNY PANTS AND CROPPED TOP . . . Part of a four piece summer wardrobe, the short blouse exposes a bare midriff but is in only one of several potential toppers for the gay, tapered pants. Comfortable and casual, the duo might well be fashioned in cool linen, pique, chino cloth or poplin. McCall's Pattern #4909 in Misses sizes 10-18. 75¢ for painting the toe nails green, streaking wild colors in the hair, smoking pastel colored cigarettes, wearing dozens of bracelets at the beach, using silver eye shadow in the evening, omitting lipstick, wearing bikinis, taking up painting.

There's a little madness in all of us at summertime. But it is a delightful kind of madness that re-establishes us as individual personalities. It's nice to shake the shackles of conformity, if only for a short time.

Take pants. For a long time, many women did not wear pants because men

AN ORIENTAL BREEZE is this mandarin-style dress created from only eight pattern pieces. Reflecting the Chinese influence in its veated skirt, and slanted neck closing, the dress is a sleek lightly fitted by long darts. Appropriate for summer in cotton, linen, shantung, synthetics, etc. Kingly eastern in brocade. McCall's Pattern #4911 in Junior sizes 9-15, in Misses sizes 10-16. 50¢ objected to them. But today there is no woman who does not have some kind of pants in her summer wardrobe. They have a choice of plain long pants, trowsers, culottes, Bermudas, Jamaicas, short shorts, clam diggers and pedal pushers.

The tapered pants and chopped off blouse pictured here (McCall's Printed Pattern No. 4903) are an eye-catching bit of madness. Made here of complementary patterns in cocoa, orange, yellow and white, they expose the midriff and provide freedom of motion, as well as zing.

This special pattern comes with pieces for four different types of blouses, a skirt and shorts. It could easily be the basis for a complete vacation wardrobe. Practically any kind of cotton fabric could be used, with endless possibilities in color and texture.

For the girl who has long wanted to effect the oriental air, summer is the time to experiment. This pattern (McCall's Printed Pattern No. 4911) is a miracle of ease. It comes with only eight pieces. Cut for junior and misses sizes, it is one-piece, lightly fitted by long darts back and front. The short kimono sleeves are cut in one with the back and front of the dress. Lower sleeves may be added to make three-quarter length sleeves. Four buttons close the mandarin collar and vents are in the side seams.

Here the dress is made of lime green shantung. Other suggested fabrics are linen, polished cotton, honan, synthetic mixtures, velveteen, faille, crepe and lightweight wool. Its oriental flavor would be enhanced if made in a rich brocade.

Fashion - Sewing Weekly Tip: If your material comes folded through the center, press away this fold before attempting to lay the pattern pieces out of the fabric.

Junior Mothers Entertain Tennis Visitors In Absence of "Miss Bess"

The date was set, the time and place decided, entry blanks filed, but where was our social advisor? This was the question that Junior Mothers' club members asked as they prepared to help their advisor, Mrs. B. A. J. Whitted, entertain youngsters who were in Durham competing in the national ATA junior tennis championship.

Due to the illness of "Miss Bessie," (as she was known), the club members shouldered the burden of planning for social activities for the approximately 75 youngsters in the tournament.

All social activities were held in the women's gymnasium at North Carolina College.

The first event, a get "acquainted" dance on Tuesday evening was quite an enjoyable affair. There were young tennis players from New York, Pennsylvania, Texas, Connecticut, Kentucky, Michigan, Georgia, Virginia, and of course, our home state, North Carolina.

Thursday evening found the youngsters enjoying a splash party and pageant. The judges selected the following persons as winner: Aqua Queen Bonnie Booke, Aqua King, Wauna Dooms; Best swimmer, Eileen Watts and Leroy Walker; Best Divers, Carolyn Walker and Billie Wyatt.

As all affairs must come to an end, Friday evening found the group back at the Women's Gym dancing and enjoying refreshments of punch and sandwiches. On hand to see that the youngsters were well entertained were the Junior Mothers; but little did we know the curtain would soon be pulled to say the end for "Miss Bessie," as she passed away just before dawn; with a few more hours left of tournament activities.

The sponsors of the tournament are very grateful to the Junior Mothers' Club and to all persons who served as hostesses throughout the tournament; helping to make this the most successful tournament ever held here.
