Integration Inches Forward

Two More North Carolina Cities Take Step

School integration in North Carolina inched ahead ever so slightly when two more Tar Heel cities lowered racial barriers in public schools.

Raleigh and Chapel Hill this week joined four other cities in the state which have admitted a token number of Negro pupils to classes formerly reserved for white children.

Seven year old William Campbell became the first Negro to enter Raleigh white schools when he enrolled for the second grade at Murphey school with only a minor amount of opposition.

In Chapel Hill, three Negro children entered the first grade with even less disturbance.

Ralph Harris, Sheila Barden and Patricia Burnett were that city's first Negro pupils in the formerly all white elementary school.

Raleigh's lone Negro admission came on a unanimous vote of the capital city's school board Tuesday night.

But young Campbell's older sister and brother were refused admittance to a white junior high school. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Campbell, parents of the children, had applied for enrollment of their older children Mildred and Ralph, Jr., to the eighth and ninth grades of Morson junior high.

The Campbells were the only requests for integration to come before the Raleigh school board.

Only one other Negro has applied for admission to the white schools in Raleigh. He is Joseph Hiram Holt, Jr., whose bid was thwarted by a federal court decision.

Action in Chapel Hill came after the school board last summer adopted a policy assigning pupils to the first grade on the basis of race. See N. C. CITIES, page 6-A.

Robinson Is New Howard Law Dean

WASHINGTON — Spottawood Robinson, III, of Richmond, Virginia, noted civil rights lawyer, was named dean of the Howard University Law School recently.

Robinson succeeds Dr. James Madison Nabrit, Jr., who was appointed president of Howard when Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson was retired in July.

The new dean of the law school has held the post of regional counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for the past several years. He has figured in many of the most outstanding civil rights cases of this area.

Formerly Robinson was a student and faculty member of Howard. He was counsel for a group of Negro students in the Prince Edward County, Virginia case that resulted in the 1964 Supreme Court's decision against segregation in public schools.

With One Week To Go, Field May Hit 100

The total number of beauticians nominated in the Carolina Times Beauticians Popularity Contest stood at exactly 84 up to Wednesday noon of this week. Several nominations that came in after that time were too late to be listed in this week's issue of the Times.

NEW BERN—On Tuesday night, the Rev. Denver E. Blevine, local Presbyterian minister, and F. R. Danvers, principal of West Side Elementary school, appeared before the City Commission to ask that a "Walter Bellamy Day" be observed here when the former New Bern athlete returns to this country from the Summer Olympics.

A graduate of J. T. Barber here where he was a star football and basketball player, Bellamy is a member of the U. S. Olympic basketball team.

He is expected to return to the United States in the next ten days. Local officials are planning to contact Indiana University, where Bellamy is a student and star on the Hoosier cage team, to permit him to return to New Bern for the proposed welcome.

The Carolina Times bureau here is also planning a banquet for the star which his grandmother, his wife and other relatives will attend.
