

COLDEST NIGHT OF FALL CATCHES SCOUT CAMPOREE

BY J. E. CHEEK
On October 27 and 28, The Family Play Ground of the Memorial Recreation Forest, Inc. located in Warren County was the site of the annual Camporee of 135 Boy Scouts of America. Although, on the night of the 27th the temperature dropped to the lowest record of the fall, the young and brave Scouts and their Troop leaders from Oxford, Stovall Henderson, Warrenton, Carver School, Bollockville, Louisburg, Franklinton, Riley Hill and Bunn, slept in the Forest under 30 small tents prepared for the occasion.

Russell P. McLean, Field Director of the Occaneechee Council Boy Scouts of America, and his assistants Hubert E. Lison and Robert W. Booker, were highly pleased with the camp sight and expressed a desire to bring the Boy Scouts back next spring into a similar training camp experience.

The Memorial Recreation Forest, Inc. embracing 125 acres of land is made possible by the Cheek and Davis Brothers under a 99 year lease to The Recreation Council made up of open membership. The Forest is located midway between Warrenton and Louisburg, just off highway 401, east.

Azalea Garden Club Meets at Home Of Mrs. Julia Lucas

The Azalea Garden Club met in the lovely home of Mrs. Julia Lucas on Monday, October 23, with Mrs. Effie Cotton, President, presiding.

After an interesting meeting of making plans for coming events, Mrs. Lucas served a Pre-Thanks-giving Dinner with all the trimmings. Those enjoying this lovely hospitality were:

Mrs. Margaret Marsh closed the garden gate thanking Mrs. Lucas, her daughter, and all her helpers for a lovely evening.

Attending the affair were Mesdames Sallie Harris, Lena Richardson, Adell Payne, Roxie Davis, Mamie Alston, Annie Perry, Janie Wheeler, Gladys McBroom, Bredie Pemberton, Callie Ashford, Margaret Marsh and Misses Cloe Russell and Mary Baines.

Protest Arrest

RICHMOND, VA.—The Richmond branch of the NAACP has issued a formal protest over the arrest earlier this month of the State NAACP executive secretary Lester Banks for refusing to leave the dining room of a railway station.

The protest was sent in the form of a letter to Lynchburg Mayor William C. Vaughan.

Banks was arrested on Oct. 16 in the dining room of the Norfolk and Western Railway station where he had requested service.

When Banks protested to arresting officers that he was entitled to service there under the recent ICC banning discrimination in interstate travel facilities, Lynchburg police reportedly they knew nothing about the law but were acting under Virginia law which required segregation at the station.

The letter from the Richmond NAACP to Lynchburg Mayor Vaughan described the police action as "rank defiance" of federal law.

The letter was signed by David Longley, chairman of the Richmond NAACP Legal Redress Committee.

A similar letter was sent to the Richmond News Leader.

TO LECTURE IN TOKYO—Howard University Dentistry professor Dr. Harold Fleming, above, will deliver a series of lectures based on his studies of the salivary glands at the University of Tokyo beginning on November 21. Dr. Fleming is a specialist in Dental research. He has conducted studies of the salivary glands since 1954.

Jacksonville

BY MRS. ALICE R. SPICER

For the past month Mrs. Clay Ella Reed, Elementary instructor of the Georgetown Elementary School, has been supervising a course in Red Cross procedures. Classes have been held at the Elks Hall, on Kerr Street. Students have enjoyed the course very much. The instructions on the various subjects are thoroughly done.

The Trent River, Oskey Grove Missionary Baptist Union meeting convened at Oriental, the fifth Sunday, in October. A truly fine spiritual time was had by all following the close of the business meeting.

On October 12th, the Harmonic Choir Union celebrated its fourth anniversary at the First Baptist Church on Court Street in Jacksonville.

Reverend E. L. Donaldson, pastor of the Evening View Baptist Church and yours truly are seeking aid in organizing a community club in Georgetown for the purpose of promoting the growth of the community, obtain proper street lights and a better road system on the eastern side of the church. Anyone interested in such a program please contact this writer, Reverend E. L. Donaldson or W. E. Bryant, Jr.
