

Catholic Urge Kennedy to Ban Housing Discrimination in U. S.

CHICAGO—An appeal to President Kennedy to ban by executive order racial discrimination in all housing aided by federal funds or regulations has been made by the National Catholic Conference for Interracial Justice.

Dr. John J. O'Connor, Washington, president of the Conference, stated that "racial and ethnic restrictions in housing are a problem of national scope," and that housing segregation "especially in the north," may be a more severe problem than school segregation by law.

O'Connor added that the President had pledged during the presidential campaign to issue such an order.

The Conference statement pointed out that the government is not neutral, and stated that it is involved to such an extent in the housing market that its policy, or lack of it, would help either integration or segregation.

It added that federal regulatory and housing agencies whose activities influence the housing market "must play a constructive role in eliminating discrimination" since residential restrictions are so closely bound up with the economic practices of the housing industry.

The Conference called the relationship between housing and family life an intimate one, and said the government could make a large contribution to the "renewal of family life among disadvantaged minority groups" by working for non-discrimination in housing.

It said that a presidential order banning discrimination in the housing field should be "the next definitive step in banishing the moral and social evil of racial and ethnic discrimination from our national life."

South Carolinians Urged To Intensify Registration Drive

COULMBIA, S. C.—Negroes in South Carolina have been urged to step up their voter registration drive "until we reach parity with white citizens of the state."

The call for an accelerated voter registration campaign was issued by Gloster B. Current, director of branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in an address prepared for delivery here Thursday night (Oct. 19) at a mass meeting during the 20th annual conference of the South Carolina NAACP.

The Democrats in South Carolina, the NAACP spokesman declared, "should not be permitted to forget that it was the Negro vote that carried his state for Kennedy. The Negro voter, therefore, is entitled to be seated at the banquet table in any hotel in this state whenever the Democratic party gives an affair, and he must be seated on an equal basis without discrimination."

Argument Ends In 32 Stitches For Local Youth

Thirty-six stitches were required to close lacerations of an 18-year-old by whom police reported was wounded in a Saturday night fight.

Jerry Lee Weathers, 115 Verbena St., received gashes in his face requiring 20 stitches and a laceration in the right hand which took 12 stitches, police reported.

The youth told police he was engaged in an argument with another youth known to him only as James, when one of the boy's friends came up and cut him with a knife.

Weathers was taken to Lincoln Hospital and treated for the cuts. Police are seeking the youth known as James.

WILMINGTONIAN WITH HAMP'S BAND VISITS TIMES

Andrew McGhee, formerly of Wilmington, N. C., but now connected with the Lionel Hampton Band, was in the city Friday and visited the TIMES plant. Andrew was a favorite figure in the musical circles of the "City by the Sea." North Carolina music lovers remember him as the master of the tenor saxophone.

The Lionel Hampton Band was in the city Friday for two engagements at Duke University.

The afternoon concert naturally featured "Flying Home" with Andrew at the tenor sax giving his all to the tune and bringing applause after applause from the many members and friends of the Shoe and Slipper Club who presented the King of the Vibes at the university.

Changing Society Making Complex Social Workers' Jobs

ATLANTA, GEORGIA—The rapid increase of population will pose many new problems for the social worker in the next decade, Dean William E. Jackson of the School of Social Work, Atlanta University, told the annual conference of field work instructors at the University.

The concentration of people in metropolitan areas, housing needs, rise in school and college enrollment, decrease in functional literacy, and further mechanization in industry all will have their impact on the social workers, he said.

One broiler can produce as much as two to three cents if it is handled properly.
