The Home Front Galileo of Human Relations Is Needed, Rowan Says at Finals

(Items this week from Nash, Beaufort and Harnett Counties.)
EATING A GOOD BREAKFAST
"From observations, questionnaires and surveys," says Mrs. Margaret Wade, home economics agent, "we have found that too few families eat a well-balanced breakfast."

"Studies revealed that 8.5 out of 10 persons did not include adequate vitamin C in their daily diets and that 9 out of 10 persons had low milk consumption," added Mrs. Wade. "So we have been studying ways of planning and preparing a well-balanced breakfast for the family."

STUDY UNITS
The 4-H's in Beaufort County seem to realize that their homes do not always provide comfortable, convenient, well-equipped study units.

Mrs. Vivian Morris, home economics agent, reports the Belhaven 4-H Club placed an exhibit at the school science fair showing what an adequate study unit should have in it. "And by the way," adds Mrs. Morris, "the exhibit won first place."

FOOD CONSERVATION TRAINING

HAMPTON, Va. — "Ignorance is the parent of fear and knowledge is the great liberating force of mankind," Carl T. Rowan, State Department deputy assistant for public affairs reminded graduates of Hampton Institute during the 92nd commencement exercises attended by more than 2,200 people last week.

The State Department official and author-journalist cited the fear of change as one of modern society's main obstacles. In this era of dynamic change in science and human affairs, the students were charged with a role in future progress.

Rowan pointed up facts of those with low acid content? Mrs. Ida Hinant, home economics agent, says families in Harnett County will be trained in proper methods of food conservation.

"We hope the families will realize how much they can save on their food dollar by conserving more food from their home gardens," she says. "However we do want them to have high quality products."

changes in theories that have been disproved through time and greater knowledge. He used two statements made by Aristotle, on the dropping of two stones, large and heavy; small and light ones. He theorized that the larger would land first when dropped from a high point Galileo disproved this declaration many years later.

On the people to the north the philosopher spoke of as without the ability to govern, he again was disproved. The people to the north were known as inhabitants of the British Isles.

The speaker interjected these two points into his speech showing the fact that truth can be brought out in an era of change. He asked, "Where is the Galileo of human relations?"

Rowan pictured the denotism of custom in modern society with anecdotes. He brought "Skinner" in the American Society into sharp focus with reference to the Supreme Court School desegregation ruling in 1954. In light of "old, despotic customs," Rowan elaborated on the incidents of integration in the schools of Little Rock.

Addressing the crowd having lunch with a Little Rock newspaper publisher who away from Little Rock, but due to custom in his Arkansas home, the publisher fostered close contact in Little Rock however.

In concluding his speech Rowan said "In the era of looking into outer space, we have to probe the darkness of the human mind."

Dr. Jerome H. Holland, president of Hampton Institute, conferred Bachelor's degrees on 204 students from all the divisions and departments of the college. In addition, seven received Master degrees.

Featured in the commencement exercises that were held on campus from May 31 through June 4, were Senior Class Night, the annual senior banquet and the 48th National Hampton Alumni Reunion that brought together some 600 old grads from down through the years.

At the annual baccalaureate services on June 3, some 2,200 gathered to hear Dr. Daniel Hill urge the graduating class to face "dynamic world changes" and avoid running and hiding from reality.

Public School Workshop to Include Data Processing Demonstration

ELIZABETH CITY — The Workshop for Public School Secretaries at Elizabeth City State Teachers College will include a one-day demonstration of the use of IBM Data Processing Equipment by Public Schools and Public School Systems. The IBM demonstration will be held on Tuesday, June 26 at 9:30 A.M.

The IBM demonstration will include (1) An Introduction of Punched Card Data Processing; (2) Initial Steps in Planning an Installation of IBM Equipment; (3) Use of the Equipment in Student Registration and Scheduling; (4) Attendance Reporting and Processing; and (5) Preparation of Report Cards and Permanent Records. It will run the full day of June 26 and is open to all Public School Personnel who wish to attend.

In making the announcement, Carl M. Franklin, Chairman of the Department of Business Education said: "Record preparation and processing is a major problem faced by today's Public School Administrative Personnel. One answer to the problem of moving the mountains of paper required to plan and control school operations is the use of mechanical data processing equipment."

"We have information that the chief objection to the use of this type of equipment is lack of knowledge of what it can do and what it costs to operate the system. We also have information that such a demonstration has not been held for Public School Administrators in this area."

"Towards making the information available we have arranged to have this demonstration on Tuesday, June 26 and urge all Public School Administration personnel in the area to attend the session."

"As much as the demonstration will last all day, we ask those who plan to attend to simply drop us a card or call in order that we might prepare for them to get lunch on the campus in the College Dining Hall."

This demonstration is a part of the program of the Workshop for Public School Secretaries which begins Monday, June 18 at Elizabeth City State Teachers College.

Circuit Court Receives Appeal to Broaden New Orleans Integration

NEW YORK — The U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit is scheduled to hear June 29 a NAACP Legal Defense Fund appeal which asks for faster integration in the bitterly contested New Orleans, La. school case.

A fund motion to advance the case on the docket and dispense with printed briefs was granted by the Appeals Court last week. An order to desegregate the first six grades of New Orleans' public schools by September, 1962 was made by former District Judge Skelly Wright on April 9, 1962. Judge Wright's order was modified by his successor, Judge Frank B. Ellis, on May 23, when he ruled that the School Board need desegregate only the first grade by September, and one grade each succeeding year. Judge Wright resigned on April 16 to become a member of the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Richmond Calls For Hiring Negroes That Are Qualified

RICHMOND, Va. — This city responding to years of NAACP insistence, this week became the first Southern municipality to pass a resolution saying city employees should be judged solely on merit.

The City Council noted that Richmond had no rule against Negro employment but there was no affirmative action program. The City Council's resolution said:

"That the Council hereby declares it to be a policy of the City of Richmond that applicants for employment by the City should be employed, and employees of color it to be a policy of the City solely on the basis of merit and fitness for the particular position for which they are employed."

The government furnishes technical assistance, and sometimes loans and cost-sharing for local development programs.
