AS SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER

Moore To Take Oath Next Week

D. Eric Moore, newly appointed Negro member of the Durham Board of Education, is expected to be sworn in sometime during the last week of June, according to informed sources this week.

Moore was unanimously approved by the City Council to fill the seat on the Board left vacant by the retirement late this spring of R. N. Harris, the first Negro to serve with the body.

He was picked by a special three man committee of the City Council, composed of John S. Stewart, Vance Fisher and Bascom Baynes.

Herman Rhinehart, chairman of the Board, told the TIMES this week that Moore will be sworn in at the first meeting of the body. He pointed out that although the next regularly scheduled meeting is set for July 9, he expects that there may be special meetings of the group before that time.

Superintendent Lew W. Hannen said earlier this week that the Board would have to call a series of special meetings the last week in June to consider a large number of requests for reassignment to schools throughout the city.

King's Lieutenants Held In La. Jail in Tests for "Lunacy"

SHREVEPORT, La. — The Reverends Wyatt Tee Walker and Harry Blake, SCLC Director and Field Secretary respectively, were released last week from the Caddo Parish (County) jail at Shreveport Louisiana where they had been jailed on coroner's commitment without bail.

The Louisiana statute under which they were held permits examination by a city or county coroner to determine "mental competence" of those suspected of insanity.

Walker and Blake were arrested on a loitering charge during a voter registration drive at which Dr. King SCLC president, was principal speaker.

Both men were checking the guards placed round the church because of threats on Dr. King's life. When they entered the some precautionary measures being taken to guard the rear of the church, they were arrested on the order of Commissioner of Public Safety, J. Earl Downs, who earlier had declared he could give no protection to "that nigger King."

Blake and Walker were mysteriously transferred to the county jail after fingerprinting at the Shreveport city jail. There they learned that Police Chief, Harvey Teasley had signed coroner's commitment against them.

Dr. Stuart Deles, County Coroner, was quoted in the press as saying that it might be a week before he could complete his examination of the integrationists. After two tests one last Friday night, the other late Saturday night, both men were

Boulware and Scarborough Face Second Primary

"Saturday's election is a test of whether the people of Durham really believe what they say they do."

This was the way in which Dr. C. E. Boulware summed up the forthcoming second primary between him and Dewey Scarborough for a seat on the Board of Durham County Commissioners.

Dr. Boulware barely missed becoming the first Negro elected to the board when he failed by a few votes of obtaining a clear majority in a ten man race for the five seats in the May 26 primary.

His opponent on Saturday, Scarborough, an incumbent member of the Board, trailed him for sixth place, and asked for a runoff vote after Boulware failed in getting a majority.

Boulware polled 7,472 votes while Scarborough got 6,580.

Speculation on his chances of defeating Scarborough in the runoff has ranged from hopeful to poor.

Boulware was endorsed by the Durham Committee on Negro Affairs and built up a heavy lead in the predominantly Negro precincts in the first primary. However, his showing in the predominantly white precincts was poor.

He is expected to maintain his showing in the Negro precincts, but how he will fare in the white precincts was questionable. See BOWLWARE, 4-A
