Darkhorse Rumors Gain Momentum As Contest Concludes 2nd Period

The darkhorse rumors that have been circulated about the Carolina Times Ministers' Vacation Popularity Contest gained momentum this week when the Reverend J. C. Harris, of Statesville, who held 7th place in last week's standing, advanced to fourth place this week.

With the second period ending Monday (April 16) at noon when the vote points for each one-year subscription decreases by 2,500 points, the contest manager was preparing for a grand push. The next two weeks are expected to be hectic, contestants, their workers and friends are expected to pour it on in an all-out attempt to walk off with the big grand prize, which is a free round trip to the Holy Land with stop-offs at Rome, Athens, Jerusalem and

NEW YORK — Mrs. Esther James, 66, who sued Rep. Clayton Powell for $1,000,000 was winner in the case when on Thursday a New York Supreme Court jury decided that Rep. Powell libeled her over television and ordered him to pay $211,500.

Rep. Powell referred to Mrs. James on a television program as a "bag woman" graft collector for the police department.

The judgement included $11,500 in compensatory damages for loss of income and damage to reputation; and $200,000 in punitive damages for want of malicious and reckless defamation.

A spokesman for Powell said that he would appeal the verdict.

Three Seeking City Offices In Tarheelia

Three more Negroes will be candidates for city offices in North Carolina elections this spring.

The Rev. J. W. Morrison, prominent Graham minister, is seeking a seat on that city's council. In Thomasville, Roger L. Phillips has filed as a candidate for councilman at-large. John W. Winters, incumbent, will be trying for his second term on the Raleigh city council.

In announcing his candidacy in Graham, the Rev. Morrison said: "If elected, I wish through my service to contribute to the continued industrial and educational development of our rapidly growing city. I shall endeavor at all times to represent the best

Durhamite Breaks Precedent in North Carolina X-Ray Society

Mrs. Margaret K. Goodwin, chief x-ray technologist at Lincoln hospital in Durham, broke a precedent last week by being elected to a state office in the North Carolina Society of X-ray technicians.

Mrs. Goodwin's election to the post of secretary-treasurer came at the annual convention of the Society in Washington, D. C. last week.

She won the election in a two-way race for the office.

It marked the first time that a Negro has been elected to office in the organization. Negroes have held membership in the Society only in the past few years. Mrs. Goodwin was first becoming a member in 1952. Seven other Negroes have since been accepted.

Mrs. Goodwin succeeded Mrs. Cosette Hartsell, of Concord, as secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Hartsell was elected president of the Society.

The Society is an organization of x-ray technicians throughout the state. It was formed to promote research and exchange information on radiological techniques.

It is affiliated with the American Society of x-ray technicians, and membership in the group comprises operating technicians in most of the major medical facilities in the state.

Graduation from an x-ray course approved by the American Medical Association is the principal requirement for membership.

Unformed Baby Found In Durham Storm Drain

The body of a newborn baby boy was discovered in a sewer in the 1300 block of South St. late Wednesday.

County health officers decided late Wednesday to remove the fetus Thursday after a question of procedure arose over the proper manner in handling the case.

A city sanitation crew sent to the scene to investigate complaints of bad odors and water flowing out of a manhole found the baby around 3:30 Wednesday afternoon.

Clyde Crabtree, superintendent of the city water and sewer department said he believed someone had thrown the baby near the sewer manhole.

Detective Lt. Ed Atkins ordered the body covered until further investigation could be made.

The body was not removed Wednesday because County Coroner Dr. D. R. Perry was awaiting instructions from County health director Dr. O. L. Ader. He said he could not contact Dr. Ader Wednesday.

Coroner Perry defined the discovery as a "three months old male fetus."

Teachers Vote To Increase Members Dues

RALEIGH — Proposals to hike membership dues and increase pay of executive were two of the most important pieces of legislation to be approved by the annual convention of the North Carolina Teachers Association here.

The state teachers concluded their annual gathering at Raleigh Memorial auditorium here last Saturday.

The group voted to increase membership dues for each teacher from $8 per year to $10. There are approximately 12,000 members of the NCTA.

A proposal to increase pay of the NCTA's executive officers also received a favorable reaction from the convention body.

the third largest Post Office in the World.

Shaw was appointed acting Postmaster of the city of Los Angeles by Postmaster General J. Edward Day last month. Civil Service proceedings will begin immediately leading toward his permanent appointment by President Kennedy and confirmation by the United States Senate.

He will become acting Postmaster after a full day of activities Monday marking his installation. At 9 a.m. he will hold a press conference with Senator Engle. At 10 a.m. he will officially become acting Postmaster at ceremonies in the County Board of Supervisors' Hearing Room in the Hall Administration.

He will be sworn in by Senator Engle at the ceremony attended by civic leaders and representatives of Federal, State, County and city government who have been invited to be present. Raymond R. Holmquist, Regional Director See POSTMASTER, 6-A

BOYCOTT LIST REMAINS STATIC

The list of stores under boycott by the NAACP and CORE in Durham remained unchanged again this week.

Spokesmen listed the following stores which are on the boycott list:

Sears, Robbins, Walgreens, Beverly Shop, Royal Clothing Co.

Action against these stores is being taken by the two groups for their failure to reach agreements with the two groups on hiring of Negroes. All the stores are picketed each day.

Action Pressed In Miss., Ala., Ga., S. C., N. C.

Protests against segregation swept throughout the South this week with hundreds of young Negroes demonstrating against all forms of racial segregation in several southern cities.

Hundreds of them were jailed as a result of the demonstrations.

The hottest spots again this week were Greenwood, Miss., Birmingham, Ala., where police continued to use police dogs and make mass arrests.

The Rev. Martin Luther King is leading the Birmingham actions, which is aimed at segregation in downtown lunch counters. He is opposed by his arch-enemy in the race struggles in that city, Police Commissioner Eugene Connors, who has ordered scores of arrests.

In Greenwood, police last week continued to round up Negroes who staged mass marches daily to the registrar's office in a registration-vote campaign.

Greenwood officials said they would permit Negroes to go to the registration office singly or in small groups but not in marches.

The Greenwood action was bolstered by the presence of Dick Gregory, comedian of national fame, who joined the young Negroes in the registration marches. However, police refrained from arresting him, although he was roughly up and down.

At Atlanta, Ga., last week, approximately 2,200 Negroes staged a stand-in at the registrar's office for nearly eight hours. The group stood in front of the office from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. However, only 11 got inside of the office and nine of these were arrested.

Sentenced was Leroy Battle, 18, of Route 1, Mount Olive. Judge Chester Morris passed the sentence after a jury had recommended life imprisonment.

Battle was charged with entering the home of Harvey Darwick See SENTENCED, 6-A

Mayor Threatens To Quit in Wake Of Picketing

RALEIGH — Mayor W. G. Enloe appears to have found a way to retain his post as mayor of the city here this week after leaders of demonstrations against segregation at a movie house the mayor owns and the mayor have reached an agreement on the manner of conduct of the demonstrations.

Enloe threatened to resign as mayor of the city in order to take legal action to protect his interests in the Ambassador theater.

The theater has been the target of a week-long demonstration by students in Raleigh. On Sunday night nearly 300 stood in front of the theater box office waiting in vain to purchase a ticket.

Enloe said the action by the students had blocked entrances to the theater and preventing (white) customers from getting in.

He threatened to take legal action against the demonstrators and felt he would have to resign as mayor to do so.

In fact, reports said he had already prepared a statement of resignation to hand to the Council on Tuesday.

However, shortly before the Council meeting Tuesday, he received assurances that the demonstrations would not block the entrances to the movie house, located in downtown Raleigh on Fayetteville St.

In announcing his decision not to step down, Enloe reported that the arrangement for the demonstrations were "entirely satisfactory," and indicated that since his objections to them had been removed, he contemplated no action against them.

However, demonstrations against segregation at the theater continued this week.
