Church of God In Christ Fastest Growing in U. S.

The fastest-growing Protestant denomination in the U. S. is the Church of God in Christ, reveals the May issue of Ebony magazine.
The 1963 Yearbook of Churches lists its membership as 411,000 — but the head of its women's department, Lillian Brooks Coffey, says it's even higher. Including foreign membership, it's probably closer to 3 million.
"Many of our people are very slack about keeping records. That figure doesn't do us justice at all," says Mrs. Coffey in Ebony, disputing the official membership count.
Mrs. Coffey is out to remedy the situation by compiling her own figures on women's membership. Ebony reports in its profile of the 66 year old woman church leader. Mrs. Coffey tells Ebony, "The men haven't given me figures on women's membership. They don't want women to have too much influence."
Mrs. Coffey herself is rated one of the most influential leaders of the denomination, male or female. Ebony says. She joined the then new and struggling church as a 7 year old in Memphis in 1903, and has played a major part in its growth. She was the first Church of God of (flea) to establish branches north of the Mason-Dixon line, and the women's department, which she has headed for two decades, has spread the church to other countries through missions and schools.
Ebony says the Church of God in Christ is "next to the Negro Baptists in membership."

Surviving are eighteen children, Howard, Bernice, Rudell, Thurmond, Clence, Raymond, Leopreston, Emma Jean, John William, Deborah, Genevieve, Mrs. Mattie Mayfield, Mrs. Ida Mae Wiggins, Hardy Holder, Mrs. Josephine Hicks, and Mrs. Beatrice Jones; fourteen grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.
