Attention Asked for Special Needs of Race Women

The President's Commission on the Status of Women has been asked to note the special needs of Negro women.

The particular problems of this minority group, revealed by the 1960 Census to comprise nearly 10 percent of the total female population, were discussed at a recent all-day conference in Washington sponsored by the Commission.

"No review by the President's Commission of the status of women in the United States would be complete without a consideration of the particular problems and opportunities, for they exist, too, of a group of women who account for one-tenth of all the women in our country," said Mrs. Esther Peterson, Assistant Secretary of Labor, who is executive vice chairman of the Commission, in opening the meeting.

Chaired by Miss Dorothy Height, a member of the Commission and president of the National Council of Negro Women, the consultants gave special attention to the concerns of the Negro woman in American life.

"Negro women have the same problems and hopes as other women, but they cannot take even the same things for granted," said Miss Height in summing up the discussion. "If the Negro woman has a major underlying concern," she pointed out, "it is the status of the Negro man and his position in the community, and his need for feeling himself an important person, free and able to make his contribution in the whole society in order that he may strengthen his home."

The consultation was one of a series sponsored by the Commission to explore specific areas designated for review and recommendations by President Kennedy in establishing the Commission. These areas involve the status of women in categories of employment, civil and political rights, home and community, education, and social insurance and taxes. Other consultations have included consideration of the status of women in employment, voluntary organizations and the mass media. Among those attending the conference were Dr. Lewis W. Jones, Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Gerri Major, associate editor, "Ebony"; Dr. Hilda Fortune, New York Urban League; Mrs. Maude Gadsen, vice president, Beauty Owners' Association; and Miss Ruth Whaley, Secretary to Board of Estimates, all of New York City.

John R. Larkins, State Department of Public Welfare, Raleigh; Dr. Inabel Lindsay, Howard University; Dr. Grace Howell, Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Mrs. Dollie Robinson, Women's Bureau; Mrs. Cenoria Johnson, National Urban League; Paul Rilling, executive director, D. C. Commission of Human Relations; Dr. Deborah Wolfe, chief of education, House Committee on Education and Labor; Dr. Ellen Winston, Commissioner of Welfare, Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Mrs. Alice Dunnigan, President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity; Dr. Carolina Ware, President's Commission on the Status of Women; Walter Davis, AFL-CIO; Dr. Nathan Pitts, Office of Education; and Miss Beatrice McConnell, deputy director, Women's Bureau.

Southern Political Leaders Softening on Jim Crow

A number of Deep South political leaders are changing their views about segregation but are hiding behind "face-saving double-talk," declares the May issue of Ebony, now on the newsstands.

Declaring that the South's future hinges on its "ability to face up to the moral and economic fact that segregation does not pay," Ebony asserts:

"Several Deep South leaders, including South Carolina's Gov. Donald Russell and Georgia's Gov. Carl E. Sanders, are already aware of this, but find it politically necessary to hide their knowledge behind a lot of face-saving double talk."

Ebony pinpoints what it calls a "schizophrenic approach to the problem of leadership in Dixie" in an article on "South Carolina's Moment of Truth," contrasting the peaceful enrollment of Harvey Gantt at Clemson College with school integration violence in other Deep South states.

"South Carolina suddenly finds itself in the incongruous role of a race progress leader among its Deep South neighbors," Ebony observes.

The Negro monthly magazine details how South Carolina's responsible citizenry was mobilized in a "massive effort" of moderates which "avoided an Ole Miss-type disaster," and credits Gov. Russell and his predecessor, former Gov. Ernest F. Hollings, with spearheading the effort. The article quotes Hollings' "11th hour appeal to reason" in which the outgoing governor said, "We have all argued that the Supreme Court decision of 1954 is not the law of the land. But everyone must agree that it is the fact of the land."

This doesn't really mean that South Carolina is coming out for integration — but rather, that it's confining its fight to the courts, Ebony continues.

Ebony says South Carolina "profited" from the disasters of Mississippi and other states.

Arkansas, for instance, "is still recuperating from devastating economic losses it suffered as a result of the 1957 integration crisis at Little Rock."

Ebony predicts that with "more 'Clemsons' the South will have its long-awaited chance to rise again."

Negro Wants to Be Part of U. S., Picott Declares

RICHMOND, Va. — The Negro wants an America where it will be unnecessary to talk "about what the Jews want or what the Negro wants — he prefers to talk about what Americans want," Dr. J. Rupert Picott said Thursday night in his address to members of the B'nai B'rith at the Jewish Community here.

"After almost a half-century as a stranger in America, I am in no better shape today to reply 'what the Negro really wants' than I was when I first saw the light of day, he said. "But you asked me, so here I go," he said.

Dr. Picott told the audience that Negroes want essentially to be judged on the basis of their training and contribution to society as individuals, without reference to religion or race. "I want no special treatment," he assured. "So long as democracy fails to work for the Negro, it fails for millions of others."

The Executive Secretary of the Virginia Teachers Association (VTA) said that the Negro really wants an America where it will be unnecessary to have discussions of this sort — of what he really wants and where emphasis will be placed on mutual problems of living, other than race. "The Negro wants all Americans to insist upon respect for law and order — the Constitution, the Supreme Court, and other areas of judicial, legislative and executive branches of government at all times, even when the decisions of those agencies affect Negroes."

NAACP Makes Formal Reply To ACP Charge

NEW YORK — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's attacks on the NAACP and other civil rights organizations for including white persons among their officers and board members have been challenged in a pamphlet on the NAACP and Adam Clayton Powell.

Powell's statements on white persons and their "control" of the NAACP and other comments about the NAACP made by him on three separate occasions are examined point by point with evidence cited to refute each charge.

For example, Powell asserted that the NAACP was "controlled" by white people and that Negroes should not support any organization that they themselves did not control. The NAACP and Adam Clayton Powell points out that "Of the present 52 members (on the Board of Directors), 11 are white. Is Powell serious in suggesting that these 11 'control' the other 41? Especially since the 41 (and the 11) are elected by the people in the NAACP branches?"

The pamphlet goes on to state that the overwhelming majority of the membership is Negro. "White" money does not "control" the NAACP. The Association is controlled by its membership. Its national policy is laid down by the elected delegates to its annual conventions in the form of resolutions.

NAACP Board Chairman Bishop Spottswood to Address Meeting

RALEIGH — The 1963 Freedom Rally, which will be held in the J. S. Dorton Arena, May 5, is expected to be well attended for two reasons — the reawakened interest in picketing and the appearance of Bishop Stephen Gill Spottswood, chairman of the board of directors, NAACP.

Bishop Spottswood was chosen when Robert Weaver was named Housing Administrator. He has made an enviable record as a freedom fighter. He headed the D. C. chapter for a number of years and spearheaded many equality movements in the nation's capital.

He presides over the 4th district of the AME Zion Church, comprising Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and part of Pennsylvania. The denomination is observing the centennial of freedom with a special observance and he was chairman of the committee that formulated the plans.

He is well known in the state, having pastored Goler Memorial AME Zion Church for a number of years. He also pastored in Irdianapolis, Buffalo and Washington.

The Raleigh Branch of the NAACP will be prominently featured in the celebration, Charles A. McLean, field secretary said, for its support of the students of Shaw University and St. Augustine's College in their "Picketing" at the Ambassador Theater, that resulted in the statement from Mayor William G. Enloe that he would resign. It will be cited for its program of selective buying against merchants that discriminate, on account of race.

Miss Glenda Newell, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Newell, will be presented as the only "Youth Member in North Carolina," with a full paid-up membership. Miss Newell's mother, Mrs. Virginia Newell, professor of mathematics at Shaw University, will be recognized for having secured eleven of the 22 life members in the state.

AT SALES CONVENTION. — C. C. Burtney, Durham business man, is attending a sales convention of the Paymaster Corporation at White Sulphur Springs hotel in Bedford, Pa. on May 2-4. The convention will attract hundreds of salesmen for the corporation from throughout the U. S. Newly developed machines will be demonstrated to salesmen at the convention. Paymaster is the largest manufacturer of check writing machines in the U. S. Burtney is a sales representative of the firm in North and South Carolina.
