Threatens Marchers With Arrest As Vagrants

ATLANTA, Ga. — A top-ranking official of the Atlanta Police, Captain J. L. Mosely threatened this afternoon to arrest as vagrants any non-Atlantan members of the Quebec-Washington-Guantanamo Peace March who participated in a peaceful walk and vigil which had been scheduled for later in the day. Captain Mosely stated that the Peace Marchers had been given excellent protection in Atlanta when they went through Atlanta three weeks before but now "you have had it" and gave them three choices: demonstrate and get arrested, get out of Atlanta, or immediately get jobs here.

The Quebec-Washington-Guantanamo Marchers had reached Macon, Ga. some days before President Kennedy's assassination and at that point decided to halt the March temporarily and return to Atlanta. After the President's funeral, Bradford Lyttle, Coordinator of the March said that the members of the group believed it was important for the American people not to be silenced by reactionary elements which might seek to use a climate of uncertainty and fear to weaken forward movements for racial equality international understanding and peace. It is felt to be essential that concerned people should promptly

Rev. King Says New President Favors C-R Bill

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson gave priority to civil rights here this week by discussing the nation's number one domestic problem with three national civil rights leaders, Roy Wilkins, Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. and A. Phillip Randolph.

Wilkins was representing the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, King represented the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and Randolph represented the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, a Negro labor organization. Randolph is also a member of the AFL-CIO.

Only one of the members revealed what had gone on between him and the 36th Commander-in-Chief. Rev. King said that he told President Johnson that anti-discrimination demonstration would resume by the middle of this month in various areas.

He mentioned as possible areas Williamston and Dunn, two eastern cities in North Carolina. "I'm sure that we will have demonstrations as long as the conditions that brought demonstrations into being are allowed," King told reporters.

He said that moratorium on demonstrations which leaders of several civil rights groups had called following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy was only temporary. "King said that his 50-minute discussion with Johnson was fruitful. The President was described by King as being 'desirous of seeing the civil rights bill out of the Rules Committee before Christmas.'"

President Johnson, before meeting the civil rights leaders, called on the 88th Congress to enact Kennedy's civil rights bill as a legislative memorial to the assassinated chief executive.

Police Guard Wilkins After Death Threats

NEW YORK — Within half an hour after word came that President Kennedy had been slain by an assassin in Dallas, telephone calls began coming into the NAACP national office threatening the life of Executive Roy Wilkins.

The first message warned: "You're next!" Others similarly threatened violence against the NAACP leader, including bombing of the Association's national headquarters.

New York police, informed of the threats, insisted on providing around the clock protection over Wilkins' protests. A uniformed officer was placed in front of his Queens home and he was accompanied everywhere he went by detectives — to his office, to meals, business appointments and back home.

Upon Wilkins' insistence the guards were withdrawn on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 27, after having covered him since the afternoon of Nov. 22.

Wilkins and other NAACP leaders have often received threats including dire warnings that the national office would be bombed. Such threats have usually been dismissed as crank calls. They have never deterred the Association in its Fight for Freedom.

NCC Band Preps For N. Y. Show

North Carolina College's 120 piece marching band is making final preparations for a trip to New York City for a performance at Yankee Stadium Sunday, December 8, during the halftime of the New York Giants-Washington Redskins professional football game.

This year, the group makes its second appearance at Yankee Stadium, having performed there also in 1961.

The Board of Directors of the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company of Durham, has approved a $25,000 donation to the United Negro College Development Campaign. The announcement of the donation was made by Asa T. Spaulding, president of the company.

The campaign to raise $50 million for Capital Improvement of the thirty-two participating members in the United Negro College Fund was launched by the late President Kennedy at the White House on September 12, 1963. Charles G. Mortimer, Chairman of the Board of General Foods Corporation is serving as National Campaign Chairman.

President Kennedy referred to the campaign as "a great national effort." Mr. Mortimer characterized the campaign as "a demonstration that we who represent America's business and philanthropic forces all have a sensitive awareness of the breadth and depth and intensity of the nation's civil rights problem."

Mr. Mortimer continued, "It is a worse-than-ever economic waste when business and industry must continue to say 'we would employ more Negroes if we could find educationally-qualified candidates for the kind of better jobs available.' Business and industry need to wage a war to help create more trained and educated and qualified Negro applicants." NAACP's Felder, Refutes Charges by Dunn Mayor As Verbal Fury About Desegregation Continues

DUNN — Verbal fury between Rev. B. B. Felder, head of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Mayor George Franklin Blalock continued here this week when Rev. Felder issued a statement saying:

"We will not accept token integration or further endure second class citizenship, but will use every means at our disposal, nonviolent, legal and constitutional, to gain full equality for all Negroes in Dunn and the USA."

Rev. Felder made his recent statement after denying that an ultimatum handed Mayor Blalock last week constituted a threat to resume racial demonstrations here.

Last week, Rev. Felder issued a statement denying a report issued by the town's biracial committee that Dunn is 90 per cent integrated, denied that progress has been made toward upgrading the present state of Dunn's Negro citizens, reminded the mayor that the 90-day truce has expired and called for a meeting of the city leaders and Governor Terry Sanford's representative, General Capus Waynick, to "solve these problems in good faith and save the peace and tranquility of our city."

Mayor Blalock interpreted the latter statement as a threat and immediately issued a statement refuting Rev. Felder's charges, saying that he is tired of threats of demonstrations, and declaring that he would hold Rev. Felder responsible if peace is broken in the Dunn community.

"I am so far ahead of most towns of comparable size," said the mayor in reference to resolving its racial problems.

"I'm tired of these threats," said Mayor Blalock, "they don't worry me in the least, but I am going to hold him (Felder) personally responsible if the peace and tranquility of this community is broken. The responsibility will rest on his shoulders and his alone."

The mayor cited a report of the town's Human Relation Committee, which stated that Dunn has made considerable progress and added, "I have talked with a large cross-section of our Negro citizens. They are pleased with what has been accomplished and they tell me Felder's expressions do not represent their feelings."

Denying that the local NAACP has made any threats "as far as I know," he said.
