

Class of 1922 Holds Reunion At Bennett

GREENSBORO—The class of 1922 held its reunion in Greensboro, at the home of Mrs. Mabel Aldridge Watson at 512 Julian Street. It was a picnic affair on the back lawn.

It was quite an occasion for some had not seen each other since that time. There was a collection of class programs, class day dress, rings, commencement programs and group pictures. It was most amusing to hear the class song which was set to music by one of our classmates, the late Mrs. Mabel Bullock Jackson.

A short memorial was breathed for the deceased members of the class.

They discussed their children and grandchildren and other members of the family.

The class members present were: Mrs. Mattie Cardwell Peoples, Winston-Salem; Miss Betsy Franklin, Madison, Mrs. Lessie Spearman, Washington, D. C., Mrs. Zenobia Walker Reynolds, Mrs. Mary Stephens Reddick, Mrs. Agnes Taylor Pinnix, Mrs. Mattie Dorsett Eccles, all of Greensboro, Mrs. Elizabeth Hamlin Baker, Winston-Salem, Mrs. Mattie Jones Haizlip, High Point, Mrs. Fannie McCallum, Guilford College, Rev. G. Haven Caldwell, Greensboro, who was Dean of the college at that time, Robert Rogers, Greensboro, and Rev. L. A. Brown, Greensboro, who was a student at Bennett at that time.

After all the reminiscing of the past, a picnic dinner was served, and pictures were taken. Each member gave a vote of thanks to the hostess for the idea.

North Carolina Garden Time

By M. E. GARDNER

Here are some timely reminders for the fruit, vegetable and ornamental gardens:

If you have raspberries—red or black—remove the old fruiting canes immediately after the harvest season. Cut the old canes close to the soil and burn. This will help control diseases and insects. As further precaution against damage, the new growth should be sprayed with captan, ferbam or Bordeaux mixture every two weeks. Sevin may be added to the sprays to control insects.

If you are not prepared to spray, the plants may be thoroughly dusted with a combination dust such as captan and sevin. Spraying is best because the materials applied stick to the leaves and stems better. Dusts should also be applied more frequently than the sprays specially after rains.

Black fungus disease, attacks all types of roses and is likely to build up as the season progresses unless you have taken the necessary control measures. Severely infected plants are not only unsightly, due to leaf spotting, but the leaves may drop. This premature dropping will stop the manufacture of plant food in the leaves and make the plant more susceptible to winter injury.

Keep all above-ground parts of the plant protected by spraying or dusting at least once a week. Phaltan, 75 per cent, is a good fungicide for black spot, as are many of the combination insecticidal and fungicidal formulations recommended for roses.

Don't slow down the fight against insect and disease pests in the vegetable garden: Mexican bean beetles (Sevin); corn earworm (Sevin); tomato and Irish potato blight (mined, zined or one of the copper compounds); Japanese beetles (Sevin or malathion).

Remember that Japanese beetles are building up rapidly in some of the western counties and that more than 200 plant species are subject to attack. I have just visited five of the mountain counties and found heavy infestation on bunch grapes, apple trees and some of the forest species.

Remember, too, that the Japanese beetle can also be controlled, in the grub stage, by using materials as chlordane on turf grasses in the late fall and early spring.

CORE WORKERS TESTIFY ON POLICE FAILURE TO OFFER PROTECTION

BOGALUSA—CORE workers testified in Federal Court in New Orleans on the refusal of Louisiana State troopers and Bogalusa city police to protect them against segregationist attacks. Appearing before federal court judge Herbert W. Christenberry, CORE volunteers John Hamilton, 19, of Los Angeles, California, and Charles Bellows, 21, of Southampton, New York, testified that while they were attacked by segregationists the police looked on. Hamilton and Bellows testified that following their being attacked, the police arrested them for disturbing the peace.

Judge Christenberry is hearing evidence on a contempt of court procedure against Bogalusa's two top police officials—Public Safety Commissioner Arnold Spiers and Police Chief Claxton Knight—brought by the CORE lawyers and the Justice Department.

In Bogalusa, daily demonstrations continue. Testing of city restaurants has met with mixed success—teams of Negroes and whites have been served in about half of the places that were visited.

Inauguration of Greensboro College Head Set for Oct. 28

GREENSBORO — The 12th president in Greensboro College's 127-year history, Dr. J. Ralph Jolly, will be inaugurated on October 28, according to J. C. Cowan, Jr., of Burlington Industries, chairman of the college board of trustees.

"The inauguration holds particular promise," Cowan said, "because Chancellor William P. Tolly of Syracuse University will be the guest of honor." Tolly has held his present position since 1942 and now also is president of the University Senate of the Methodist Church.

Preliminary announcements of the event have been issued to presidents of all Methodist church-related colleges, universities, and theological schools, the bishops of the Southeastern Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, the heads of the learned societies and of all educational institutions in North Carolina, and others who have special connection with the college.

Selected representatives of the alumni, parents association, faculty, and students also received announcements of the event.

Dr. Jolly became head of Greensboro College in August 1964 when former president Harold H. Hutson was named executive vice-president of American University, Washington, D. C.

SPECIAL MILK — These two bright eyed youngsters are enjoying milk served to children each year under provisions of the Special Milk Program—3.1 billion half-pints in 1965. This program is open not only to schools, but also to orphanages, settlement houses, summer camps, and similar non-profit institutions devoted to the care and training of children. At least 9 out of every 10 children in school can obtain milk under the provisions of this program. The program has proved an effective means of encouraging children to drink more milk.
