YOUNG DEMOCRATS

National Convention Asks For More U. S. Registrars

Calls For Strict Enforcement of Rights Laws

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The National Young Democrats Convention's call for more vigorous enforcement of current civil rights laws and the passage of additional legislation was hailed as "an excellent summary of America's unfinished business in assuring that equality and dignity can be a living reality for all Americans," by Congressman John Conyers, Jr. (Dem-Mich.) in a speech prepared for delivery in the House of Representatives. Last week's Young Democratic Convention in New York City fulfilled the special assignment given to them by Vice-President Humphrey in his speech to the convention of being the conscience of the national Democratic Party so proud and self-satisfied.

The Young Democrats' convention declared that the slow implementation of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 has not met "the high standards established by President Johnson and the Congress" and called upon the Justice Department to use its extensive powers to appoint Federal Voting registrars "in all the many counties where Americans are still denied the right to vote." Charging that racial bias in some Southern state courts "denies the equal protection of the laws," the Young Democrats called for new legislation to make racial violence a Federal crime. The Young Democrats further urged the full enforcement by all Federal agencies of the 1964 Civil Rights Act requirement that Fed. funds be withdrawn from segregated programs and urged President Johnson to extend the fair housing executive order so as to eliminate racial discrimination in all types of housing.

Mrs. E. W. Keith Victim of 'Old Money Trick'

Mrs. E. W. Keith of 901 Price Street found out some several hours later that she had been flimflammed out $18,000 after she gave this amount to two women who approached her about 1 p.m. here Tuesday afternoon.

Investigating detective, John Lynn quoted Mrs. Keith as saying she was stopped by a Negro woman while she was shopping in the basement of a department store. The stranger told Mrs. Keith she had just found $20,000 which was to be mailed to Cuba.

While they talked, another Negro woman came up and said she had been advised by "Mr. Crane" to divide the money.

The two unidentified women offered Mrs. Keith a share of the money if she would put up some of her money to show her interest. Mrs. Keith then took a taxi home and got $18,000 which belonged to her, her sister and her husband and returned to the store to give the women the money.

After she turned the money over to the flimflammers, they promised to return in a few minutes to share the money with her. Mrs. Keith waited for some time before she realized she had been tricked in what police called the biggest flimflam act in Durham County.

The search for the two unidentified women was still underway at press time.

LINES FORM LONG BEFORE OPENING TIME

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Following the dramatic success of the NAACP Voter Registration project conducted throughout the state this summer, continuing voter campaigns are being conducted in Birmingham, Bessemer, and Montgomery. W. C. Patton, NAACP voter registration field director, reported this week.

In Bessemer on one of the days that the registration offices are open, lines began to form at 6:30 a.m., two hours before the office opened. Although the registrars worked the entire day, Patton said, they processed only 307 applications.

In Birmingham, more than 1,000 persons waited in line patiently on Oct. 13 to be registered. According to newspaper reports, the ratio of new registrations has been 10 Negroes to one white person.

Federal examiners in Montgomery requested NAACP assistance in speeding up registration. NAACP efforts have been successful in turning out record numbers of prospective new voters and more than 2,000 persons have been registered since the Federal examiners arrived.

Carnegie Foundation Official Is NCC Founder's Day Keynoter

North Carolina College's 18th annual Founder's Day convocation, scheduled for Wednesday, November 3, will have as its principal speaker Alan J. Pifer, vice president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. To be held in the college's McDougald Gymnasium beginning at 10 a.m., the occasion honors the memory of the late Dr. James Edward Shepard, who founded the institution in 1910 and was its president until his death in 1947.

A native of Boston, Mass., Pifer is a graduate of the Groton School. He received the A. B. degree with honors from Harvard College in 1947 and studied at Emanuel College, Cambridge Univ. England, during the 1947-48 academic year as recipient of a Lionel de Jersey Harvard Fellowship.

Pifer, who served in Europe during World War II, has held positions as executive secretary of the U.S. Educational Commission in the United Kingdom, administering the Fulbright program from 1948 to 1953; and as executive assistant, executive associate, vice president, and acting president of the Carnegie Cor-

A trustee of the African-American Institute and a founding fellow of the African Studies Association, he was a consultant at the UNESCO Conference on African Education at Addis Ababa in 1961.

City School Employees Here Are In Bid For Better Working Conditions

A public meeting was held at the Union Baptist Church last Monday night to discuss the issue of better working conditions for the City School Employees under Labor Union 481. The group disclosed plans to carry an appeal to the Durham City Council for a $1.25 minimum wage and a 40-hour work week for the employees.

About a dozen union members began picketing the City Board of Education offices at the Fuller School last Monday afternoon. This board denied a previous request by this group at an earlier meeting between this group and the Board. Officials for the union stated that picketing will continue at least until next week's council meeting.

Peter Brandon, union organizer for the AFL-CIO which has about 250 members, said earlier this week the council will be asked to set-up the same policies for the school employees (mainly the cafeteria workers and janitors) as now exist for the other city employees. The union is also seeking larger kitchen staffs and payroll deductions for dues.

The union spokesman finally stated all measures would be taken to prevent a strike but the picketing and other measures directed toward the unfair conditions will continue.

Tenth Annual Women's Day At Morehead Baptist Sunday

The tenth annual Woman's Day celebration will be held Sunday, October 31, at Morehead Avenue Baptist Church. Dr. C. E. McLester, the pastor, announced this week that the women will be in charge of all three services of the day-long celebration.

This event marks the 14th recognition of the occupancy of the main Sanctuary. The speaker of the 11:00 o'clock hour will be Mrs. Clara Epting of Belmont, who will be representing the Woman's Baptist Home and Foreign Missionary Convention of North Carolina. She is currently Director of the Young Adult Missionary Department of Gaston County and a certified instructor of the Annual Missionary Institute held in at Shaw University.

The afternoon session will be held at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Lucille Holman of Hillsborough will be the speaker. The Durham Business College choir under the direction of Constantine Sartor will render the music for the afternoon worship.

Music for the 11:00 o'clock and night services will be handled by a special choir. Mrs. J. B. McLester and Mrs. Mary Cornigan are general chairmen of the program.

MRS. EPTING
