Teens Step Into Fashion

The picture has changed—and teens set the fashion in chic, young coats and suits.

Femininity is the look this season—and many a teenage miss is finding that "it's nice to be a girl."

All the female niceties are appearing—flared skirts, interesting collar and pockets—and warmth is emphasized, too, in fabrics and linings.

Beauty and duty take a bow in this selection of National Board of the Coat and Suit Industry. The piled-in, wool melton coat has flattering low waist, flap pockets, metal button closing, contrast collar.

Camel with grey, brown with camel. Teen sizes 6-14. About $35.

son "Bless Assurance," prayer and scripture. Mrs. Addie Barbee presided. Plans to carry "Christmas Cheer" to six persons were made and the election of officers for the club for 1966 was presided over by Miss Dunnigan, the club's advisor. Those present were: Mesdames Louise Norwood, Mattie Holloway, Estella Shaw, Mildred Mangum, Margaret Adams, Marina Fisher, Dicie Morgan, Ethel McNeill, Lillie McIntyre, Martha Stanley, Helen

Jones, Ophelia Thompson, Nonnie Hamilton, Alice Davis, Effie Chavis, Catherine McKinney, Misses Jessie O'Neal, Annie Dunnigan and Percy Jones. Visitors present were Mrs. Besie Burnett, a member from Mt. Continued on page 5A
