Dunbar Social Club of Raleigh In 23rd Year

RALEIGH—The Dunbar Social Club was organized 23 years ago purposely to promote and support better social, civic and underprivileged activities in this area. The aim is "we thrive to excel." Only young married men of good character may join the club. Since it was organized it has contributed to hospitals, schools, and church funds for the underprivileged on special occasions like Xmas and Thanksgiving.

The club sponsors social affairs annually. Money raised from these socials are to support the forested contributions and our annual formal affairs. It is a non-profitable organization chartered by the State of North Carolina.

Officers are as follows: President, D. Terry Hough; Vice President, Andrew Bates; Recording Secretary, J. Linwood Hooker; Financial Secretary, James Perry; Treasurer, Thomas Glascoe; Social Chairman, James Johnson; Sergeant-at-Arms, Cleveland Hicks.

The club's annual fall dance was held Friday, November 12, and was entertained by Irving Fuller's Band, featuring the amazing "Little James Brown Jr.," better known as Vernon Calhoun Shaw of Raleigh and a senior at the J. W. Ligon High School.

Shaw has won several trophies in the entertainment field in this area, including a James Brown Trophy awarded on a talent hunt show given in Raleigh sponsored by Radio Station WJLE, featuring Sam and Bill, the recording artists. He has appeared on a local television show and is the MC and Disc Jockey for a radio show sponsored by Ligon High School on Saturday at 11 A.M. He has appeared in several schools clubs, and social affairs including the Stallion Club in Durham. In addition to all this he has maintained an honor roll average for the year.

Josephine Hoskins thanked the hostess. Our next meeting will be our Christmas party.
