Hankins, President, North Atlantic Region, National Hampton Alumni Association, St. Albans, New York; Dr. Hugh M. Gloster, Dean of the Faculty who delivered the opening address; Miss Martha Riddick, President, North Carolina Region, Charlotte; Dr. Edward Kollmann, Director of Summer Sessions and the Alumni Institute; and Frank W. Render II, Vice President, Middle Atlantic Region, Petersburg. Thirty-five alumni participated in a full program of classes, discussion, and general campus life as a segment of Hampton's summer school program.

In 1615, Thomas Rolfe sent some 2000 pounds of cigar tobacco to England from the Jamestown colony. Less than forty years later as much as 1,400,000 pounds was being shipped.

Dinners in New England were called "square meals" during the late 18th century because most of the food was prepared in square tins.

There were four Negroes who served as popes in the history of the Catholic Church.

Coaches Told To "Stop Your Complaining"

GREENSBORO — "Stop complaining," was the advice given coaches attending the 4th annual A. and T. College Coaching Clinic held here last week.

Giving the advice was Lou Sabin, the new head football coach at the University of Maryland, one of the featured lecturers in the star studded cast which appeared at the A. and T. event.

Sabin, this spring resigned as head coach of the Buffalo Bills where he had reached the pinnacle in fame, winning two American Football League championships in a row, 1964 and 1965, and "Coach of the Year" honors following both seasons, to join up with the Maryland Terrapins.

"Take what you have and develop it," he urged, "and stop complaining about the lack of material."

As did most of the clinicians appearing on the three-day program, Sabin emphasized conditioning, team morale and discipline.

Johnny McLendon, the new head basketball coach at Cleveland State University, noted for his successes at North Carolina College, Tennessee State University and at Kentucky State College, emphasized much the same theme.

Other clinicians appearing on the program, included: David H. Strack, head basketball coach, University of Michigan; Cal Stoll, football end coach, Michigan State University; Walter Hunter, head football coach, P. W. Moore High School, El-

BRANDO'S BIG SCENE

Marlon Brando will not argue the fact that the "biggest scene of his career takes place in his latest film, "The Appaloosa," in which he appears with 20 shapely dancehall girls in a saloon. Eight of the girls are over six-feet tall in stocking feet.
