

67 Bennett Col. Students Get Certificates

GREENSBORO — Sixty-seven Bennett College students received achievement certificates at the annual spring honors convocation held on Friday.

Mrs. S.E. Duncan, teacher of English at Price High School in Salisbury, in her address reminded the honorees that "honors today are for tomorrow."

"In the future, you must be sensitive to change," she said. "The big question is, will man change with change or be consumed by it?"

The list of honorees included nine seniors who have maintained an average of at least 2.40 for seven semesters; five juniors, with an average of at least 2.30 for five semesters; 20 sophomores with an average of at least 2.20 for three semesters and 33 freshmen with an average of at least 2.20 for one semester.

GASTONIA — An 18-year-old Gastonia youth was held without bond Monday, charged with the beating and robbery of a physician last week.

AN EASTER SEAL VISITOR—It was a happy time when North Carolina's Easter Seal Child, Bethany Dockery, recently visited Governor Moore in his office. The occasion was the presentation of a sheet of 1967 Easter Seals to the Governor. With her on his knee, the Governor shows the seals. The beaming onlooker is Bethany's mother, Mrs. C. E. Dockery of Winston-Salem. The Governor also signed a statement designating February 20-March 26 as Easter Seal Month in North Carolina. The fund drive is conducted annually in behalf of the physically handicapped by the North Carolina Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

"LADY OF YEAR"—Mrs. Eula K. Vereen, instructor in institutional management at A. and T. College, was last week honored as "Lady of the Year" by the Greensboro Hayes-Taylor YMCA. She holds the plaque given to the woman who has contributed most to the "Y" program.

Active in civic and professional affairs, Mrs. Vereen is publicity chairman for the N. C. Dietetics Association, treasurer of the Greensboro District and holds membership in the Gamma Phi Delta and Delta Sigma Theta Sororities and the American Dietetics Association.

A founder of the National Guys and Dolls, Inc., and is president of the Greensboro chapter.

White Rock Pastor Speaker at A&T Religious Week Program

GREENSBORO—An audience at A. and T. College was last week told that science is good, so long as it does not take the place of Christ.

The speaker was Rev. Lorenzo Lynch, pastor of the Durham, White Rock Baptist Church.

He delivered the sermon last Sunday at the opening program of the annual Religious Emphasis Week observance. The observance was conducted on the theme "Seeking Harmony Between Religious Faith and Scientific Learning."

He told the group there is no real barrier between science and religion, and never has been. They both occupy needed places in human life and understanding.

He warned there must be a "middle ground" between the two extremes of: "Fundamentalism, a concept which divorces itself from life, or gives only a very rigid interpretation of it, and Acute Liberalism, which depends entirely upon scientific reason and nature.

"The two of them," he said "completely reject the revelation which comes from God." Hitting at the controversial "Black Power," he said this concept is just as evil as white supremacy, in that it puts kind and race above individual worth.

Dr. Boyd Lee Daniels, professor of religion at Duke University, who delivered the main address at the spring semester convocation on Tuesday, said that it is almost futile to compare religion with science.

Using as his theme of the observance, Daniels said, "Harmonize between the two can come about only if religion will recognize science as a valid way to look at the world, and that science will recognize that religion is also a valid way to look at the world."

He added, "This will require the sort of maturity lacking in both fields, at the moment."

NEW YORK (CFN)—Latching on to "The Real Thing" can mean a millionaire to the single girl, an architect's blueprint to the bride, or a week in sunny Spain to the wife and mother.

Whatever its personal definition, the "real thing" to most of us means the "natural," the "original," or the "finest."

Fashion, being no exception to the rule, has latched on to "The Real Thing" in its new generation of pure virgin wool double-knits that follow the millionaire's path, the groom's career or PTA meetings with equal verve.

Dashing, dynamic, good looks abound in fall and winter double-knit styles for girls who want "The Real Thing" in quality, fit, design and fashions fit for taming "tigers" anywhere.

The sleek, agile new breed of "wool mark" doubleknits in coats, suits, dresses, sportswear and "at home" silhouettes by leading American designers is sparking feminine interest in the practicality of "nothing-but doubleknit" wardrobes for travel.

Soft, supple, wilt-resistant and packable doubleknits, in color-steeped pure virgin wool, are ideal answers to the weight, weather and wearability problems unanimously faced by fashion-minded girls on-the-go.

If girls who like diamonds find rhinestones on the unreal side, girls who like "The Real Thing" will find pure virgin wool doubleknits on the ideal side for fall, winter and holiday '66.
