3-Judge Action Ends 4 Years Litigation

this week became the first southern state ordered by a federal court to desegregate all its public school districts. The court ordered 99 school districts to end segregation by next fall.

This unprecedented action of the three judge federal court came in response to four years of litigation by attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF). Alabama Gov. Lurleen B. Wallace, State School Superintendent Ernest Stone and 10 other state officials were directed by the U.S. District Court gomery to "take affirmative action to disestablish all state-enforced or encouraged public segregation."

They were also told to "eliminate the effects of past...discrimination." LDF Director Counsel

Jack Greenberg called the decision, "an important step in closing the doors evasion of the Constitution and the desegregation guidelines of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"We plan to follow this up in those hard core states where massive reresistance remains the order of the day, particular-ly Mississippi, Louisiana

The North Carolina Fund at its Board Meeting in Durham March 23 approved two major grants to organizations of low-income people, named two members to the Fund executive committee, and accepted with regret the resignation of Board Chairman Terry Sanford.

Former Governor Sanford in announcing his resignation said he is leaving the Fund Board because of "too many commitments and too little rime."

"I have served 31/2 years as Chairman of the Fund Board," Sanford said "During that time the Fund has grown into a strong and effective force for bringing better opportunities-jobs, education, housing, and the rest-to North Caro-lina's poor. The Fund has underway even greater developments that improve prospects for a new generation of youngsters who will be the builders of a better North Carolina in the fu-ture."

"The Fund has been guided through its first 31/2 years by an active, dedicated Board of Directors-100% North Carolinians, representing all parts of our state. I am sure these leaders will continue their excellent work through the remainder of the Fund's operation."

The Fund will select a new Board Chairman at its next meeting, tentatively scheduled for May. Wallace Murchison, Wilmington Attorney and former Fund president, expressed the appreciation of the Fund Board for Sanford's
