'63 Russwurm Award Winner To Deliver Finals at Albany

SULLIVAN

ALBANY, Ga.—The Reverend Leon Howard Sullivan, a 1963 Russwurm Award Recipient, will deliver the 24th annual Commencement address at Albany State College on June 3.

Announcement of the Reverend Sullivan's selection as the 1967 Commencement speaker was made here by President Thomas Miller Jenkins, II.

Pastor of Zion Baptist Church in Philadelphia, Pa., one of the city's largest congregations, the Reverend Sullivan is founder and chairman of the Board of the Opportunities Industrialization Center, a program sponsoring training and the re-training on a massive scale...the first program of its kind anywhere in the United States.

The forthright action of Reverend Sullivan led to the organization of the Philadelphia Citizens' Committee Against Juvenile Delinquencies and their causes. Within a year this committee enrolled 20,000 persons in block organizations and saw a score of community leagues formed, all for the purpose of decreasing juvenile delinquency.

For this active role in combatting juvenile delinquency and his efforts to prepare the culturally deprived for skilled jobs, the Reverend Sullivan was awarded the Russwurm Award, which goes annually to the ten most outstanding Negroes of the Year. A native of Charleston, West Virginia, he was also cited by Life Magazine in that same year as one of the 100 outstanding young adults in the United States.

Sullivan received the

B.A. degree from West Virginia State College, the M.A. and Doctor of Divinity degrees from Union Theological Seminary in New York City and the Doctor of Humanities degree from Columbia University. A 1960 Freedom Foundation Award winner, he was cited as the city of Philadelphia's most outstanding citizen in 1966 with his selection as recipient of the Bok Award.

Recognized as one of the nation's most outstanding young men, Sullivan was formerly the assistant pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist Church in New York City. He left the church with the largest Negro congregation in America to accept the pastorate of First Baptist Church of the South Orange, N.J., where he became the first of his race to be elected president of the South Orange Council of Churches.

In 1960, he established the Zion Home for the Retired, one of the finest institutions for the care of the aged in all of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania. His church is presently engaged in developing a million dollar garden apartment complex, the first of its kind in the entire east.

Sullivan is married to the former Miss Grace Banks and they have three children, a son, Howard, and two daughters, Julie and Hope.

How to Slim a Fat Kitchen

Rollerskates would have been a help in this 1865 kitchen.

NEW YORK (CFN)—"A fat kitchen, a lean will!" So wrote Benjamin Franklin in Poor Richard's Almanac. It was his way of saying that a self-disciplined housewife will not tolerate a cluttered kitchen. And Ben knew quite a bit about kitchens, having invented the Franklin stove.

But what would he say about today's kitchens? They are smaller—and fatter. Does that mean that today's housewife has a "lean will"? Definitely not! But she does need many more kitchen aids and supplies than her ancestors did—appliances and gadgets, instant foods and mixes and an overwhelming array of snack items.

run from the end of February to the beginning of May.

Why didn't someone think of turntables before? Benjamin Franklin might have, had he not been so busy designing a big, fat stove for the thin-stocked kitchens he praised so highly.

Evers Calls for Renewed Miss. Demonstrations

NACHEZ, Miss.—Civil rights leader Charles Evers has announced plans to resume protest demonstrations in this racially-torn Southwest Mississippi city following charges that city officials reneged on their pledge to appoint a Negro to the school board.

Evers, Mississippi state field director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the promise to appoint a Negro to the school board was contained in an agreement reached with Natchez Mayor John J. Nossier. To date no Negro has been appointed.

On Dec. 3, 1965, Mayor Nossier and Evers jointly announced an agreement, unprecedented in this deep South area, aimed at correcting injustices suffered by Negro citizens.

The settlement, which ended a three-month boycott of downtown stores by Negroes, pledged jobs, equality of courtesy among citizens regardless of race, desegregation of public facilities, the hiring of Negro police, the appointment of a three-man advisory committee to be composed of white and Negro members.

Parts of the agreement, which have already been met by officials, Mr. Evers said, also included a stipulation stating that:

"In view of the fact that more than 50 per cent of the pupils attending the local public schools are members of the Negro race, it is considered fair and equitable that this majority be represented by a qualified Negro on that board."

The boycott was precipitated by the attempted murder of George Metcalfe, Natchez NAACP Branch president, Aug. 27, 1965.

The agreement represented an upgrading of the status of the Negro community unparalleled in the settlement of any similar protest in a southern city.

Mr. Metcalfe narrowly escaped death when a bomb was planted in his car outside the Armstrong Rubber Company plant where he worked. He was crippled for life.

Wharliest Jackson, an Armstrong employee, was killed last Feb. 27 when a bomb exploded under the hood of his pickup truck.
