

35th Awards Day Held at Lyon Park

Lyon Park Elementary School held its Thirty-fifth Annual Awards Day Program, Friday, June 2. The speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Parepa B. Watkins, former Elementary Teacher, Principal and Supervisor, of Durham City Schools. She was introduced by the principal, L. M. Goode.

Following the address, the presentation of awards and citations was held. The most outstanding awards were presented to: Norma Jean Green, valedictorian, who received the Winslow Award, which goes to the student maintaining the highest scholastic average during the entire six years of Elementary training. The second highest honor went to Sandra Thornton, Jacqueline Alston, Evie Townsend and Audrey Langley were in third place.

Michael Wiley was given the Stephens Award in recognition of the highest average in Mathematics for the fifth grade. Horace Higgins was given the Cobb award. Several years ago a member of the Lyon Park School and the mother of one of the teachers, the late Mrs. Mary Cobb set aside a special fund to be used as an award to a 6th grade boy who had made the highest improvement in conduct.

Music for the event was rendered by Lyon Park's Voice Ensemble under the direction of Mrs. Sarah O. Barden.

Shaw University Honors 242 Students At Awards Day

RALEIGH—Shaw University honored 242 of its students during the annual Awards-Honors program held in Spaulding Gymnasium. During the affair, awards, citations, and scholarships were given in recognition of achievement in several areas, including athletics and outstanding service in departmental activities. Shaw President, Dr. James E. Cheek, made the presentations.

Florine Burch, of Fayetteville who is a rising senior, received the top academic award. She was given the Catherine H. Waddell Scholarship.

University awards to the two top ranking students in the junior, sophomore, and freshman classes went to: Major J. Davis, Kinston, and Alberta N. Pace, Wendell (juniors); Consuella Hill, Camden, N. J., and Brenda Lou Hill, Raleigh (sophomores); William A. Bland, Newark, N. J., and Patricia D. Walters, Raleigh (freshmen).

While some 51 students were cited for athletic abilities, special awards were presented to Norman Joyner, La Grange, in basketball; Geraldine McFadden, Kingstree, S.C., best all-around female athlete; Dwight Winn, Westfield, N. J., baseball; Lawrence Billings, Newark, N. J., track; and James B. Cheek, Kittrell, football.

HIGH SCHOOL IN LITTLETON TO TEACH HOUSING

LITTLETON — The McIver High School Home Economics Department of Littleton will be open to all adults, interested in Improving their Homes or Improving their Skills and Techniques in Clothing Construction, every Wednesday and Thursday from June 13 through June 29.

The week of June 5 through June 10, Mrs. Jamieson and FHA girls will be at camp (Hammock Beach). Therefore, those adults interested in classes are asked to send or give their names to Mrs. C. P. Faison on or before June 9.

If there are adults interested in clothing but have no funds for purchasing materials, we will be happy to have you come and help us complete our project for Little Head Start children. We were very fortunate and happy to have material sent to help complete this project from Dr. C. T. Dennis, State Supervisor of Home Economics, Raleigh.

Fashion Swings to the London Look

NEW YORK (CFN)—No one can carry on about the glories of Swinging London today, without including raves for the wealth of bright young design talent there. Not only are hundreds of manufacturers and boutiques turning out marvelous looking clothes, often at reasonable prices, but a large part of the creativity is generated by designers under thirty.

The London Look Award was established three years ago by Yardley to draw attention to the range and scope of this young group's present achievements, as well as their potential in the future. Members of the English fashion press make nominations, and this year, the jury is to be a panel of the American Fashion press.

Six candidates have been selected and will be flown to New York this summer to compete for the honour awarded to Roger Nelson in 1965, and John Bates in 1966.

The winner will receive an elegant gold and silver medallion and $1,000. Second and third prizes are cash awards. The contenders include:

Hylan Booker, 28, is the only candidate born in America, but thoroughly British in his superb tailoring. He has been in business for only two years, but has been recognized by top fashion magazines. He studied at the Royal College of Art.

Vanessa-Clarke, 23, is a post debutante. Her designing skills have taken her in a theatrical direction, although she insists her clothes are primarily practical. She's designed for the B.B.C. and Chichester Theatres and has created the costumes for three films, including Jean Shrimpton's new film "Privilege."

Franka, 27, is a Yugoslavian born young woman, whose clothes are seen on the livelier members of British Royalty. From her 1951 British beginnings as a seamstress in Normal Hartnell's workrooms, she's risen to the giddy heights of clothing Princess Alexandra, and is working on her wardrobe for the Princess's forthcoming Canadian trip at the moment.

Bill Gibbs, 24, a bearded Scotsman is the romantic of the group. He uses lush materials in rich colour for fitted bodices and decollete silhouettes. His Kensington boutique has attracted such diverse types as Hayley Mills and Mrs. J. Arthur Rank.

Alan Hughes, 26, is best known for his "Avenger" television series clothes for Diana Riggs. He believes in a total look, and creates hats, handbags and shoes to accompany his designs.

Janice Wainwright, 26, has three Art School's courses to her credit, and began her design studies at the age of 16. She likes understated clothes with a structured technique that suits a variety of figure types.

The winner will be announced immediately after the secret balloting.

LEONIA, N. J. — Grandfather and award winning salesman, Ken Macdonald (right), enrolls John E. Christmas, Sr., 80, into the Grand-Dad Club. Mr. Christmas of 121 Spring Street, Leonia, N. J., is yardmaster of the Comfort Coal and Lumber Company here. He has eight children and 24 grandchildren—12 girls and 12 boys. Mr. Macdonald, salesman of F. and A. Distributing Company, Bayonne, wears his jacket with the Hall of Fame insignia. Two years ago, he was elected to the Hall of Fame.

An Award made annually to pay tribute to the great salesmen of the U.S.

He is member of the Grand-Dad Club and represents the Club in enrolling Mr. Christmas.

The Grand-Dad Club is proud of its informality. There are no dues, no initiation fees, no regular meeting dates, and no special meeting places. The Club's rules hold that whenever two or more Grand-Dads get together to swap talk about their progeny, a meeting is in progress. "Rights and Privileges" of the Club include the right to expound at length on their grandchildren, "display photos with just pride," and "counsel parents on the proper upbringing of children."
