Willie Stargell slammed his ninth homer with Mazeroski aboard in the fourth.

Ribant, 2-3, gave up seven hits before giving way to Face in the eighth. Steve Carlton, 4-3, was the loser.

Frank upset by pitcher

ANAHEIM, Calif. — "There are no two ways about it. Jim Coates just doesn't like our (colored) people. It is as simple as that."

This open and undiluted charge of race prejudice was voiced by Frank Robinson, the Baltimore Orioles leading hitter and offensive star, following Tuesday's attempted "beating" by Coates, veteran righthanded pitcher of the California Angels.

ROBINSON, discussing incidents which occurred during Tuesday's and Wednesday's games here, told the A.F.R.O. Thursday morning that he "knows" Coates tried to hit him with a pitched ball at the height of the Angels' double shellacking by Baltimore.

"It was definitely not a case of his being irked by the beating," said Robinson. "Coates just doesn't like our people. He has a history of racial animosity that dates him all the way back through the minor leagues."

"AS FOR his contention that he didn't try to hit me, it's ridiculous. Everybody on both clubs knew his intention. So did the fans."

"There are no two ways about it. It is Jim's way of doing things when a colored player is involved. He hit me in the 1961 World Series when he relieved for the Yankees in the second game."

"Hank Bauer (Oriole manager) knows he tried to knock me down and said as much," Robinson declared.

BAUER, HIMSELF a former teammate of Coates on the Yankees, declared: "I'd say he tried purposely to hit Frank. He's had that reputation for a long time."

Coates had argued that there was no intent in the pitch which felled Frank here Tuesday night.

"I didn't hit him, did I? I had wanted to I sure could."

TRAFFIC JAM — (Candlestick Park)—Traffic jam occurs at 3rd base in the 1st inning of a double header recently as Mets' catcher John Sullivan tumbles over Giants Tom Haller attempting tag after running Haller back to 3rd from home. Sullivan apparently dropped the ball, Haller was safe and Willie Mays (L) streaks past 3rd baseman Ken Boyer (14) and S.S. Bud Harrelson trying to make it back to 2nd but was tagged out by 2nd baseman Jerry Buchek on throw from Sullivan. Play started on Jim Hart's grounder to Ed Kranepool at 1st who cut off Haller at plate.

Ali withdraws LBJ subpoena

HOUSTON — Attorneys for former heavyweight (Cassius Clay) said Thursday they have withdrawn a subpoena summoning President Johnson to Clay's trial June 19.

Clay is to be tried in U.S. District Court for refusing to be inducted into the Army.

Clay's attorneys received permission last month from U.S. District Judge Joe Ingraham to subpoena the President. They said they did not want him to appear personally, but wanted records which he controlled.

HAYDEN COVINGTON of New York, one of Clay's attorneys, said he had received the information he wanted from the records and it would not be necessary to subpoena the President. He said he had withdrawn the subpoena in a U.S. District court in Washington.

He made the announcement at the opening of a hearing on motions by U.S. District Attorney Morton Susman to quash the subpoena for the President and eight other high-ranking officials.

Bulls Win, 4-2

DURHAM — Righthander Barry Raziano had to struggle

McGlothlin, who struck him on the right hand during the 4-2 win by the Angels on Wednesday night.

"Oh, that was just one of those things," said Frank inside and tight. It was down, and he was trying to get up, not up in the danger zone."

"It struck me on the right hand, but x-ray showed nothing serious. I'm sore this morning (Thursday) but I don't expect to miss any games because of the injury."

McGlothlin is a good young pitcher, Coates is something else." SAM LACY

Patterson admits savvy saved him

LOS ANGELES — Floyd Patterson admitted Friday night that his "experience" saved him from a knockout at the hands of Jerry Quarry.

"Whenever a fighter goes down, he's in trouble," said the two-time former world heavyweight champion, following his 10-round split draw with the 22-year-old Quarry.

Patterson was floored in the second round for a mandatory eight count and appeared on the verge of a knockout through most of the round.

"My experience got me out of trouble. I was hurt, but tried not to show it. Whatever you saw me do in there when I got up was what saved me," Patterson said.

QUARRY said in his dressing room he was satisfied with the decision. "But I blew it when I missed a left hook in the eighth," he added.

"I got off balance and he hit me in the neck, so I went down. If that didn't happen, I'd have won the fight."

PATTERSON, gracious as always, hid his disappointment by heaping praise on young Quarry.

"Jerry is a good puncher and better yet a hungry fighter," said Patterson softly. "I had heard he was tough and would come to me and he did. We gave the fans their money's worth and that's the important thing. I'm just glad no one got seriously hurt."

HE WOULDN'T say it, but Floyd felt he had done enough after surviving two second round knockdowns to earn the decision. The crowd, behind him from the start, agreed, as did most ringside newsmen.

"I never quarrel with the judges," he added. "They counted the punches and I didn't."

Patterson admitted frankly, however, that he had barely survived the second round.

COMEBACK STYMIED

Former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson admitted disappointment with his performance against Jerry Quarry, ten years his junior, Friday night. Patterson won a popular split decision but was decked three times, winning only because of his "experience," he confessed. Floyd indicated immediately after the bout that Quarry deserved another match before he (Patterson) had a right to accept the proposed bout with unbeaten Joe Frazier of Philadelphia, which would be the stepping stone to a title fight.
