One of the highlights of the year was the annual play and graduation exercises ending the school year. This year the group presented an adaptation of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" at the Fayetteville Street Elementary School auditorium. The performance was so vivid and well executed that the group was invited to present excerpts from the play on the local Peggy Mann Show on WTVD-TV, where the abridged production was every inch as brilliant and colorful as the original presentation. This first exposure to television performance was the occasion for endless questions and much excited chatter, the inevitable reactions of childhood to new and interesting experiences. Mrs. Virginia Alston, Director of College View Nursery and her able and energetic assistants, Mrs. S. Halt and Mrs. L. Grigsby, shown in picture, are very proud of their growth and progress their charges have made this year. The nursery will continue operations through July.

She moved to Durham at an early age, and became actively associated with the Mt. Gilead Baptist Church where she served as a member of the Senior Choir and the Senior Missionary Circle until illness forced her to curtail her activities.

Also, Mrs. Dunn was very active with the East End Betterment League, a precinct worker of the Holloway Street Precinct, and a member of the Golden Age Organization.

Survivors include: one son, Robert Hockaday of the home; two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Clark of Wake Forest, and Mrs. Annie Andrews of Columbus, Ohio; and a host of nieces, nephews and other relatives and friends.

British system to which I am accustomed we have essay examinations; whereas in this country the "multiple-choice" examination is the rule.

"I have had less difficulty personally than many African students," he said. "Many African students have found that they are largely ignored, even by American Negroes." "I am very grateful to the Hausers and all other who have befriended me during my stay in Winston-Salem," he said.

Prior to his arrival at Wake Forest, Kinga was placed as a foster son in the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Hauser by the International Activities Committee of the American Red Cross. He has been a part of that family during his stay at the college. This has greatly facilitated his acceptance in the local community.

Kinga is now relaxing at the Hauser home. He will spend the summer working with a firm of economic consultants in East Orange, New Jersey. This fall he will begin graduate study at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. He hopes to earn the Ph.D. degree before returning to the Cameroon Republic.

A TRIBUTE TO THE CLERGY

Because our contacts with the clergymen of our community are frequent and varied, we must admit that we have sometimes been guilty of taking their selfless devotion for granted. May we then at this time express our appreciation for the many gracious services they render without complaint and often with little or no reward.
