batted .260 and drew his share of boos from the fans. Now, proving his capabi-lities as a hitter with a .324 batting average, he also is leading the club in stolen bases with 12 of the team's 25, and only 38 strikeouts in 56 games.

"It helps me." Phillips says, "When the fans cheer when I come to the plate, it makes me do better. When they cheer when I'm on base it helps me to steal. It gives me the wish to do better."

L'HKLAPS has no real resson for his improved perfor-mance other than his own desire to be better, make the fans happy and be happy himself.

"Oh, I've changed my batting style a little," he admits.
"Now I don't try to hit the ball so hard. I just try to meet it. I guess it's my timing, but I het better.

"It's because I just wanted to please everybody this year, make them happy, and I knew I'd be happy. Now

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay, singing, joking and preaching as he waited, went on rial Monday on charges of refusing to be inducted into the Armed Forces, Attorneys settled on an all white jury of Signature. tled on an all-white jury of six men and six women.

Clay, the undefeated heavy-weight champion, glanced nerv-ously around, rocking in a swivel chair as the jurors were sworn into service for the trial, expected to last two or three days before Federal Judge Joe Ingraham.

The case was recessed until 19 a.m. EDT Tuesday after the jury was impaneled.

Another case had prevented the 84 prospective jurors from reporting to Ingraham until nearly mid-afternoon. Clay meanwhile spent nearly six hours in corridors chatting with newsmen, friends and a large group of spectators.

"I could have stayed in bed." he said at one point.

It was not until 3:40 p.m. that Clay entered the courtroom. A conviction in the case could result in a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Ingraham had introduced the case as "The U.S. government vs. Cassius Marcellus Clay Jr.' and read the brief indictment that was returned 10 days after Clay refused to accept induction Clay refused to accept induction

Clay refused to accept induction April 28.
The judge then asked if anyone knew Clay personally. As Clay stood facing the jury panel, his New York City attorney, Hayden Covington, said, "If you please, your honor, he is also known by his Muslim name, Muhammad Ali."
