The landscape was a rare beauty especially to the small children as they built snow men in various yards. Snow plows didn't do such a good job on rural roads to the delight of the youngsters; for there was no school on Monday.

IN MEMORY

N. L. Dillard
By W. Arlinus Graves
February 21, 1968
I remember the date but not the time
That was the date our principal's life ceased to shine.
N. L. Dillard

He was a great man as everyone knows
Kindness and bounty he did show
He was the greatest man I will ever know.
N. L. Dillard

He was our principal for many years
One of the reasons we shed these tears.
He had many burdens but not many fears.
N. L. Dillard

He had something to say to every child
He made them feel special with just one smile.
N. L. Dillard

CCHS a school that he did start
He stayed there and did his part

The reason he left was because of his heart.
N. L. Dillard

At his funeral we all did see
Many beautiful flowers and wreaths
But none could remove these terrible griefs.
N. L. Dillard

He was placed in the place he loved so dear
Friends came from far and near
To pay, respect to the man whose place was here.
N. L. Dillard

He has left from among our midst
After giving us many beautiful gifts.
N. L. Dillard

Alpha Kappa Alpha Holds Meet at NCC

The regular meeting of Alpha Zeta Omega Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority was held in the reception room of the Home Economics Building at North Carolina College on February 18, with the Basileus, Mrs. Katherine Tomas, presiding.

A review of the previous year's activities shows that the sorority has rendered many services to the community. One of these services is presentation of scholarships to worthy students. This objective has made it possible for many girls to continue their education.

In the area of citizenship education, Alpha Kappa Alpha works closely with the NAACP and Alpha Zeta Omega Chapter, along with all alumnae chapters pledged three new life memberships by 1970.

Other local expenditures included the Durham United Fund, YWCA Campships, Friends of the Library and the Peoples March to Washington.

Every December, the chapter makes a substantial donation to the Tuskegee Sorors in connection with their Annual Gift Project for the veterans at the Veterans Hospital at Tuskegee, Alabama.

Alpha Kappa Alpha's national program, reflected in her chapter programs, embraces seven areas. One area is scholarship and travel grants. Foreign and domestic travel grants are awarded in alternate years to undergraduates and high school seniors. The Mid-Atlantic Region alone (North Carolina and Virginia) gave more than $19,000 in scholarships to high school seniors and college students.

The sorority's emphasis on employment opportunities and training of youth is exemplified by the Women's Job Corps Training Center in Cleveland, Ohio which is run by the sorority under a four-million dollar government contract. This center was the second Women's Job Corps Center to be opened under the Economic Opportunity Act and the only one operated by a group such as ours.

A continuing concern of Alpha Kappa Alpha is improvement of the conditions under which all Americans live and pursue happiness. This is known as the Social Action Program.

At an earlier meeting, Howard Clement, chairman of the Black Solidarity Committee was invited to address the group. At our last meeting, Mrs. Joyce Liggins, of the

Moving on at Durham High

By Demetria McArthur

This week my column is headlined Gretchen Sampson, Shirley Chestnut, Charles Cheek, and Charles Plummer, all black members of the National Honor Society.

To be inducted in this Society one must be in the top 15 per cent of the class, must have teacher's approval, and be well-rounded in activities. A pupil may be inducted during his senior or junior year.

In the '67 graduating class there was one black member in the society. His name was Fred Mason. Ritha Page was the only black student in the year of '68. This year we're proud to say we have four members.

Many members in the club resigned because they believed the NHS to be unfair to the students at DHS. Many of the students voiced their opinion, saying that many other qualified students, black included, were not inducted.

Many students say that the more popular students are the ones said to be qualified. Keep in mind that these are students' opinions. It's been discussed by several students that many of the students could be accepted by various desired college and universities if treated fairly concerning the NHS.

Again we're proud of the black students that are now members. We're hoping that next year more qualified students in the school will be inducted.
