Fireball
FIREBALL is a new fun concept that extends active play through dusk and evening hours. Made of tough, see-through plastic, Fireball has non-toxic liquid sealed inside that imparts a eerie yellow green glow in the dark. With this new kind of fun ball, kids can play Glow Toss and Glow Catch. Fireball is by Kenner.

New Fields for Safety
IMPROVED technology is resulting in safer and more sanitary working conditions in more industries, according to Alan Denson, president of Eastco Safety Equipment Company, Long Island, N.Y. Plastic throw-away gloves are replacing rubber and cotton gloves in food handling and processing plants, hospitals and manufacturing plants. Each new technological advance develops new safety and sanitation equipment demands, he adds.

Loop-the-Loop
A REVOLUTIONARY new kind of stocking, Loop-the-Loop by Burlington-Cameo, is designed to end huggable over garter bumps and garter wear for women who like to wear girdles with today's clingy mini dresses. Loop-the-Loop has six tiny, powerful loops knit in the top (welt) of each stocking. You insert a flat, stainless steel clasp into a loop and attach it to the garter tab of any foundation garment. It's a wonderful new kind of freedom for all women who like to wear girdles.

N. Carolina College Surpasses Goal; Gets Challenge Grant

The first $25,000 of the $75,000 Burlington Industries Foundation stipulation grant was received Friday by North Carolina College.

W. S. Markham Jr., executive director of the foundation, wrote to North Carolina College's President Albert N. Whiting. "We were certainly pleased to learn that your endowment fund campaign topped the $250,000 mark. This is a good beginning and we trust will be indicative of the later full success of your campaign."

"In accordance with our commitment, we are enclosing our initial check for $25,000 and will look forward to your next report for qualification for our second annual payment."

"We will continue to follow with interest the growth and development of North Carolina College and you and your officers and trustees are to be commended for your efforts in seeking excellence in education at this fine institution."

Burlington operates plants in Durham and 46 other North Carolina communities and the foundation administers its aid to education program.

President Whiting said, "I am delighted to acknowledge this $25,000 from the Burlington Industries Foundation. We are pleased with our progress in the campaign and the responses and support in the Durham area and in the State have been most gratifying."

"We feel here that this two-year one million dollar endowment fund campaign will enable us to attract and retain first rate professors and, as a result, improve the quality of our instruction and our graduates considerable. In addition, we hope that improved instruction and scholarship on the campus will result in our graduates making an effective and extensive contribution to

Youngsters About Discover New Kind Of YMCA Service

LOS ANGELES—Thousands of inner-city youngsters are about to discover a new kind of YMCA serving them in the months ahead—and that new kind of YMCA will roll right up to their street-corner hang-outs.

Through a major contribution of the Kenneth Norris Foundation and a number of other gifts, the YMCA of Metropolitan Los Angeles has purchased a fleet of eight Dodge A-108 vans to literally put the Y on wheels.

The project comes as a result of a study by the Y's Urban Action Committee and is the first major step in a new approach to meeting the needs of the thousands of children in the core city areas where it is virtually impossible to expect youngsters to come to YMCA buildings.

The initial project is under the direction of Joseph Montez, Jr., of the Y's Urban Action Division staff.

Montez said each of the vans is equipped with two fully trained college age leaders and drivers (primarily minority group members). Plenty of sports, camping and recreational equipment is also provided so that each of the Dodge vans—called "YMCA Youthmobiles"—will be able to serve approximately 1200 youngsters each week by using the self-contained units.

Three of the vans are assigned to the 28th St. Branch service area; three more will serve the South Central portion accepted Jesus Christ as my personal savior."

"In my life, it's a personal experience knowing Christ as my personal Lord and Savior," Bobby Richardson said as he closed the Wednesday night meeting. "We should all strive to run the race of faith with a desire that is second to none."

All the pro athletes have taken part in the programs throughout the week, all stressing the need for a personal confrontation with the Lord.

Bob Vogel, offensive tackle for the Baltimore Colts, stated that, "Jesus Christ has given me a strength that I have never known before."

Mike Kolen, All-Southeastern linebacker from Auburn said, "The greatest thrill which I have ever had was when I

EDA Funds to Help Spur NC Economic Growth

WASHINGTON—Approval of a $135,000 grant and a $135,000 loan to help boost employment and incomes in Franklin County, North Carolina, was announced this week by Robert A. Podesta, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Development.

The town of Bunn requested the funds from the Economic Development Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce.

The funds will be used to install a public water system which will serve both a 30-acre industrial park site and the town's residential areas. The system will include source, treatment, storage and distribution facilities. With primarily a declining agricultural economy, the community has been striving to diversify its economic base by attracting industry to the 30-acre industrial site, local officials reported in applying for EDA assistance.

Franklin County's unemployment rate in 1967 was 5.9 percent, compared with the national rate of 3.8 percent.

The loan is repayable in 40 years at an annual interest rate of 4 3/4 percent. The EDA grant and loan will pay the entire project cost of $270,000.

EDA was created under the Public Works and Economic Development Act to encourage growth in economically lagging areas. In addition to public works and technical assistance.

The Deadline for news and pictures to appear in The Carolina Times on Saturday of the current week is Tuesday, 10:00 a.m. Material reaching this newspaper after the deadline will absolutely not be accepted. If materials is not perishable, it will appear in the next edition.

Athletes Tell of Jesus' Influence To Their Lives

BLACK MOUNTAIN
Carroll Dale of the Green Bay Packers, Maxie Baughan of the Los Angeles Rams, Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees, Bob Vogel of the Baltimore Colts, Bill Wade of the Chicago Bears, Mike Kolen of Auburn University and

Mike Dean of the University of Alabama have led around 800 high school and college athletes in the annual Fellowship of Christian Athletes summer conference at the Blue Ridge Assembly in Black Mountain, for the past week.

The participating campers, both players and coaches, have had the opportunity to hear all these great athletes tell of their on-the-field thrills and of their tremendous love for Jesus Christ.

All the pro athletes have taken part in the programs throughout the week, all stressing the need for a personal confrontation with the Lord.

Bob Vogel, offensive tackle for the Baltimore Colts, stated that, "Jesus Christ has given me a strength that I have never known before."
