

HIS FIRST BIRTHDAY — "See My Birthday Cake!" seems to what little Edward Delano Roberts, III, is saying at his first birthday party. He is standing directly behind his cake. About forty happy children large and small came to bring gifts and best wishes to their little friends at College View Nursery Monday afternoon, June 23. There were too many to get on one picture but they all had lots of goodies and fun.

First Annual Dental Service Award Made

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The first annual Dental Service Award was presented to Hubbard Hospital Dental Intern, Dr. James D. Douglas last night at Hubbard's House Staff Awards Dinner held at the Albert Pick Motel.

Douglas also received the Best Dental Intern Award.

The Best Medical Intern Award was shared by Dr. Janice Douglas and Dr. Everett D. McKissic, and a special commendation was given Dr. Alfred A. Louis, medical intern.

Dr. J. H. Brown, director of the Hubbard Hospital Dental Service, said the new dental service award was made in recognition of the excellent service and concern shown by Douglas to patients from Nashville and Davidson County. The Best Dental Intern Award, on the other hand, was made on the basis of his academic and technical excellence.

Douglas, a native of Fayetteville, is a 1963 graduate of Hampton Institute and a 1968 graduate of Meharry. He ranked fourth in his graduating class.

SREB Gets Grants Totaling $700,000 for Edu.

ATLANTA — The Southern Regional Education Board (SREB) has received grants totaling $700,000 for a six-state program to improve adult basic education.

Dr. Winfred L. Godwin, SREB director, said the grants from the U. S. Office of Education would finance the first year of a $2.1 million three-year program in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee.

The project is directed at remedying the problems of adult illiteracy and reducing the number of under-educated adults in the six participating states. Its basic goal will be to expand the role of universities and state education agencies in preparing teachers for adult education programs.

Functional illiteracy is a problem of crucial importance to the South, Godwin said. The six states involved in the project are:

Among the top 10 states in the percentage of draftees who fail pre-induction and induction mental tests.

Among the top 15 states in the nation in the number of under-educated adults, with a total of 3.7 million adults over 18 years of age who have less than an eighth-grade education.

Critically shot of teachers and administrators trained in adult basic education. Most adult education teachers are part-time employees—retired teachers or regular teachers who moonlight by working in adult education programs.

Reaching only a fragment of the under-educated population through current adult education programs. Of the 3.7 million adults lacking an eighth-grade education in the six states, only 108,500—or about three percent—were enrolled in adult education programs in 1967-68.

Hindered in their efforts to develop stronger programs by a scarcity of universities prepared to train teachers for adult education careers. In the six states, only two institutions—Florida State University and the University of Georgia—offer graduate programs in adult education.

In its first year of operation, Godwin said, the project can make dramatic progress toward programs to prepare adult education professionals.

He estimated that in the year ahead the project would give in-service training at regional institutes to 100 college faculty members and state education officials; enroll a total of 900 teachers in summer workshops in all six states; and provide basic orientation and training to 2,000 teachers and administrators through a series of area conferences in the six states.

By next summer, Godwin said, new programs developed by colleges and universities in the participating states could provide instruction in adult education to as many as 2,500 undergraduate students, teachers and administrators.

Director of the project will be Dr. Edward T. Brown. For the past two years Brown has been director of the Regional Curriculum Project, a six-state federal project attached to the Georgia State Department of Education.

"Tribute To The Clergy"
Because our contacts with the clergymen of our community are frequent and varied, we must admit that we have sometimes been guilty of taking their selfless devotion for granted. May we at the Scarborough and Hargett Funeral Home at this time express our appreciation for the many gracious services they render without complaint and often with little or no reward.

Coca Cola Winner

Ronald Garner Hollowell, ranking graduate of Robert Rogers High School in Toledo, Ohio has been named the National Newspaper Publisher Association—Coca-Cola Journalism Scholarship winner. Hollowell is an outstanding student who was on his school honor roll. He has won three first place awards in music as a tenor saxophonist and was photo editor for "Rampage Junior" his school paper.

The basis for granting this journalism scholarship is that the winning high school senior, as a result of his or her college board exam, leadership qualities and desire to pursue a college education ranks at the very top.

Off Year Votes Elect Negroes To Va. Council

RICHMOND, Va. — Off-year voting for officials in about 50 cities in this state featured the election of three Negro candidates for city councils, each of whom is an active member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In Lexington, J. B. Lewis, a funeral director, was the first of his race to be elected to the city council. It was estimated that he drew his winning margin from the East Precinct where the majority of the city's Negro voters are registered.

In South Boston, William A. Kent picked up considerable support from both white and Negro voters to score his victory.

Morehouse Expels 15 For Force Against Trustees

ATLANTA — Fifteen militants have been expelled from Morehouse College for locking the board of trustees in its own meeting room and forcing agreement to a list of demands.

One of the demands was amnesty for all students involved, but the board later rescinded all its agreements, saying they were made "under duress."

THE MOREHOUSE student body had also overwhelmingly rejected the conditions the militants had gained.

Despite an official "no comment" policy, Academic Dean Ralph Lee confirmed the expulsions. In addition, he said five students were suspended for two semesters, five were suspended for one semester.
