Businessmen Finish Courses At A&T State U.

GREENSBORO—A group of 21 black businessmen received certificates Wednesday night for having successfully completed a 12-week course that covered phases of small business management.

The businessmen completed the Management Development Institute conducted in the state primarily for small businessmen and directed primarily at problems faced by black businessmen and women. The institute was conducted by Management Development Inc. of Chapel Hill, an extension of The Executive Program at the University of North Carolina.

The faculty for the institute was primarily leading businessmen, industrialists and financial people from the Greensboro area.

The institute was co-sponsored by Management Development Inc., A&T State University and the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce.

The institutes are held across the state. The Chamber of Commerce has sponsored a number in Greensboro.

Certificates were presented by Management Development Institute and the Chamber and A&T University.

CHRISTMAS IS A SEASON OF AFFIRMATION

It is a time to reaffirm our faith in the little graces of life, the strength of laughter, and the vitality of friendship and the joy in the experience of living and the need of others, their understanding and the sense of peace. This is the season to affirm our faith in others, and above all, our faith in God. May our affirmations give us moments of delight, and moments of fulfillment. May this season present to each of us opportunities which we find joy in taking advantage of and reap for us the rich rewards that come only when one has given their all in sincere and honest giving. As we give our gifts this year, may we also give not only the gift, but ourselves, and our God. May we give to someone ill, distressed persons, or even an enemy. Look to this day, Make it a day of Joy.

Cards

We wish to thank all of our many friends and neighbors for the kind deeds, and messages of sympathy, many cards, telegrams, food, uses of cars for transportation and beautiful floral offerings received during our bereavement in the loss of beloved Husband, Father, Brother and Uncle, Robert M. H. Barbee, Sr., who succumbed December 5, 1970, after several weeks of illness. Special thanks to the pastor, Reverend A. T. Alston and members, co-workers and to each individual who came to share with us in our loss. May God Bless all of you.

Mrs. Helen L. Barbee and family.

Minorities Get D.C. Journalism Fellowships

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Fellowships for 15 weeks of study at The Washington Journalism Center have been awarded to seven Blacks and one Mexican-American, Julius Duscha, Director of the Center, announced today.

The fellowships are financed by a Ford Foundation grant to the Center for a program to encourage minorities to pursue careers in journalism. Each Fellow will receive a $2,500 stipend to pay for his living expenses while in Washington.

Ranging in age from 21 to 27 years old, the Fellows will attend daily seminars with top Federal government officials, Members of Congress, and leading members of the Washington press corps.

The Center's program is designed to provide inexperienced and experienced jour-

Congratulations to the Concert band, under the direction of C. A. Egerton, who gave their Christmas concert on Friday, December 18. The concert was an excellent one and will not soon be forgotten.

The Hillside High School football team might not have had a good season, but the basketball season is making up for it. As most of you remember, E. E. Smith High School Hornets of Durham, twice during the football season and now they know what it is like to taste defeat. The mighty, mighty Hornets broke 100 for the first time in the basketball season against E. E. Smith on Friday, December 18. The final score was 104 to 73 in favor of the mighty Hornets. Now Sharon and Landa know who can play basketball. And speaking of basketball, The Hornets will travel to Burlington to play the Cummings High School tonight. (Monday) We wish them good luck.

Friday was the last day of school for the Hornets and during the past week there has been a lot of Christmas spirit. Teachers and students have been receiving gifts and learning important things. I overheard one young lady say to a teacher that a certain student gave her a gift and she hadn't gotten her anything, she said she asked the girl what she would like in return and the young lady said nothing, just for you to be happy with what I have given you. The young lady that received the gift said she had always heard of people giving gifts and not looking to receive, but this was the first time she had ever seen in person or it ever happened to her. This is what the Christmas season means and just think what a better world this would be if we had more people like the girl that did this thoughtful deed. So this Christmas, don't give a gift looking to receive one, or don't hold back on one because a certain person didn't give you one last year, give because it will make you feel better, and people will look up to you and say, she is not always giving to receive.

Well, this is probably the last article for this year, but there will be a lot of things happening in 1971. So till then, Jerome and Ruben get all my love and a certain young lady that is a junior at HHS sends all of her love to Scobbie. To Miss Audrey Kee, correspondent for DHS, I say right on and have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. To everyone who reads this article I also say Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year and remember "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

The pastor's Aid of Red Mountain Baptist Church held its Christmas Dinner in the Fellowship Hall of the church Friday, December 19 at 8 o'clock. The invocation was given by the pastor Rev. Floyd T. Eaton.

Members of the Pastor's Aid and their guest attended the affair. The tables were beautifully decorated with Christmas attire and with candle lights. Christmas carols were sung and remarks were given by the pastor and the president, Mrs. Nola Folk. Beautiful gifts were received by everyone.

The regular meeting was held at Red Mountain Baptist Church at Rougemont Sunday, December 20 at eleven o'clock. The Senior Choir under the supervision of Mrs. Violet P. Rogers (organist). The speaker was the pastor Rev. F. T. Eaton. His text was taken from the 2nd chapter of Matthew and his subject was "Herod Opposing Jesus." He stated that God will hear and answer your prayer regardless how long it takes. He challenged, "Let Jesus be your guide."

Holy Communion was given with Rev. Vader Johnson in charge.
