Profits of the aerospace industry as a ratio to sales (after taxes) amounted to 3 percent last year compared with 4.8 percent for all manufacturing industries.

In January 1958 the U. S. put its first 21-pound satellite into orbit at a cost of $100,000 per pound, not counting research and development or launch vehicle costs. Today the U. S. Air Force advises potential customers that it will put up to a 2,000-pound satellite into orbit for about $700 per pound. That is the kind of technological development that can be achieved through aerospace industry and Department of Defense teamwork.

BARNEY WEBBER, RURAL POLICEMAN, DIES

By MAUDE M. JEFFERS

GASTONIA — Barney Webber, a senior officer and a patrolman in the Gaston County Rural Police Force died of a heart attack recently, following a short illness. He was the grandson of Mrs. Charlotte Lowery of 506 West Harrison Avenue and took her as his mother after his mother's death last February. Webber, age 37, had served with the rural police force and had won the friendship and esteem of his superiors, Chief C. M. Brooks, and all of his co-workers. He has been a member of the force since March 1, 1968. Rural Police Chief Brooks said of Webber, "He was always jolly, a man with a kind word for everyone and a quip to suit any occasion." He became sick and drove himself to Gaston Memorial Hospital in his own car. The doctors admitted him and told him that his heart was bad. He was finally admitted to the intensive care unit.

Ag graduate of Highland Junior-Senior High School, he was a top student, a star athlete, member of the varsity football team where he played center, a member of the high school band and the school chorus. He was awarded an athletic scholarship to A. and T. State University of Greensboro where he completed half of the senior year prior to volunteering for the Marine Corp. He served four years after which he was honorably discharged including the Rifleman's and the Good Conduct medal.

In athletics he played with the famous Vikings' team and had a trial run with the Baltimore Colts.

Webber was proud of his service in the Marine Corps and said he consider it an honor to serve his country. He also felt that being a member of the rural police force gave him a chance to be of service to his fellowman.

At his funeral 100 members of the Gaston County Rural Police and the Kings Mountain Rural police served as an honor guard. This was a tribute to the excellent services that he has rendered according to the officials.

Funeral services were held at Friendship Baptist Church, Gastonia, of which the Rev. T. M. Walker is pastor. Music was by the church choir. Costners Funeral services were in charge of arrangements and burial was in Rosehill cemetery. Pallbearers and flower girls were members of his high school class Honorary pall bearers were members of Les Grands Moneieurs Club.

Survivors in addition to his grandmother, Mrs. Charlotte Lowery, are a young daughter Cryster Webber, his step father, Charlie B. Moore, all of Gastonia; two sisters, Mrs. Charlie Mae Forney, Gastonia, Mrs. Carolyn Virginia Pitts of Charlotte and a brother, William Richard Moore, of Gastonia.

The APOLLO program has cost the United States $25 billion out of a Gross National Product of about $5 trillion over the last ten years—one half of one percent of the GNP.

Mrs. Maggie C. Smith's Rites Held Dec. 30

Last rites were held for Mrs. Maggie C. Smith, Wednesday December 30, 1970, at the First Baptist Church Fairmont, with the Reverend J. J. Johnson delivering the Eulogy. Interment was in City Cemetery.

Mrs. Maggie Carmichael Smith was born in Fairmont. She departed this life following a lengthy illness December 27, at the age of 84.

Mrs. Smith received her training in the Public Schools of North Carolina.

She was a loyal and faithful member for many years until her health failed. She was a devoted mother, she worked hard to raise her children, and she carried a lovely smile and had kind words for everyone she met.

In her homegoing this devoted mother leaves to mourn their loss, a husband; Edward Smith Fairmont, two sons, William T. Carmichael of Durham; and George Reece of Rowland; four daughters, Mrs. Lillie A. McNair, both of Fairmont; Mrs. Louise Williams of Trenton, N. J. and Mrs. Elsie Townsend of Fayetteville; one sister Mrs. Cora McNeil of Durham; an uncle, Wayman Bethea of Rowland, and a host of other relatives and friends.

The aerospace and air transport industries, working under a voluntary program, have developed a new combustor for burning fuel that virtually eliminates smoke plumes from jet engines. All jet transports will be equipped with the new combustors by the end of 1972.
