

UNCF SETS CAMPAIGN GOAL OF $10 MILLION FOR 1971

NEW ORLEANS — Directors and Members of the United Negro College Fund set a 1971 campaign goal of $10,000,000 and elected three new Board Members and two new Members at large in a recent annual meeting at New Orleans.

The joint session of the UNCF's Board of Directors and Members, its two governing boards, was held March 6-8 at the Fairmont Roosevelt Hotel in New Orleans.

Elected as new directors were Richard Gerstenberg, Vice Chairman of the General Motors Corp., Detroit; Daryl Grishman, president, Parker House Sausage Co., Chicago; and Herman Russell, president, H. J. Russell Construction Co., Atlanta.

Newly-elected to the body of Members were Dr. Samuel

D. Proctor, professor of education, Rutgers University; and Dr. Hollis Price, retired president of Le Moyne-Owen College, Memphis.

Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., rounding out his first year as executive director of the Fund, was re-appointed to his post.

In his annual report to the Directors and Members, Jordan said the UNCF was pointing "towards a decade of excellence" in 1970's.

He said the record of accomplishment for the first year of the decade was a "good beginning." Highlights of his report included:

The greatest amount of money ever raised in 1970 in the 27-year history of the Fund, $7,200,000.

Increased corporate support by 4.3%.

Increased foundation support by 30.84%.

Increased donations by 11, 313 gifts.

Establishment of a non-fund raising arm of the UNCF, the Division of Institutional Services, to render educational assistance to the member colleges.

And additions of new personnel to the professional staff and top-level volunteer leadership.

"In a year of spiraling costs and economic uncertainty and turmoil, I think we did extremely well," Jordan reported.

The $10,000,000 campaign for 1971 will be led by Cyrus R. Vance, former deputy secretary of defense and former U. S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks.

Vance, in a speech to a corporate luncheon audience during the New Orleans meeting, challenged the South especially to come to the help of black higher education, much of which is located in that geographic area.

Vance said the new political awakenings in the South coupled with the presence of the sound, viable black educational institutions "Provide us with an excellent, unparal-led opportunity to move forward in both the governance and education of our people."

The United Negro College Fund, established in 1944, is comprised of 36 predominantly blacks liberal arts institutions. All are private, four-year accredited colleges.

The UNCF has raised $110-million in operating funds for these member schools since it (See UNCF page 2A)

Lincoln University Honors Dr. R. Walter Johnson With Degree

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY, Pa. — Dr. R. Walter Johnson, founder of the American Tennis Association Youth Development Program. Wednesday was awarded an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree from Lincoln University, his alma mater.

Dr. Herman R. Branson, Lincoln president, conferred the degree during special ceremonies in Dr. Johnson's home. The actual certificate will be presented May 23 at the university's commencement exercises in Lincoln University, Pa.

One of two former classmates of Dr. Johnson who attended the ceremony, James B. MacRae, reviewed some of the high points in Dr. Johnson's life.

"At 71, he can look back on a dynamic, creative life that will continue to enrich the lives of young people as long as tennis is played," said MacRae, a professor of education at Lincoln.

MacRae traced Dr. Johnson's life from his Norfolk birth to his college days at Lincoln where he acquired the nickname "Whirlwind," because of his "whirling dervish style of running."

Dr. Johnson was named All-American in Negro Football in 1924, and later coached the sport at Virginia Seminary, Sam Houston and Morris Brown for three years.

Following graduation from Meharry Medical School and while he was a resident physician at Prairie View Hospital in Prairie View, Tex., in 1923, Dr. Johnson became interested in tennis.

The past 38 years have seen him tutoring numerous youngsters in tennis, while playing a proficient game himself. (See PHYSICIAN page 2A)

Veteran Black Newswoman Gets Minority Consumer Post in D.C.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer, Director of the new Office of Consumer Affairs in the Executive Offices of the President, announced today the appointment of Mrs. Betty Granger Reid as her Executive Assistant for Special Concerns.

"This appointment is in response to President Nixon's directive, outlined in his Consumer Message on February 24, 1971. On that occasion, President Nixon said, "While I am deeply concerned with obtaining justice for all con-

Miss. Bi-racials To Nominate Choice for Gov.

JACKSON, Miss. — On Sunday, April 18th, the men and women who comprise the bi-racial Democratic Party of Mississippi and others will meet in convention in Jackson, Miss., to choose a candidate for Governor of Mississippi.

In all probability, that nominee will be the first Negro candidate for Governor of Mississippi. Mayor Charles Evers of Fayette — brother of the slain civil rights leader and former NAACP Field Secretary — is considered by many to be the leading candidate for the nomination.

The convention is expected to attract several hundred delegates from virtually every community in the state. It will be held at College Park Auditorium on Lynch Street west of Jackson State College from noon until 6 p.m. on Sunday, April 18th.

Several recent developments — all of them being challenged in the courts — have significantly altered the political picture in Mississippi.

Black Women's Association Gives $8,000 Pledge To Public Library

A memorial pledge of $8,000 for the local History Room in the Reidsville Public Library was presented by the Black Women In Community Service.

Two years ago BWICS, an organization of twelve black women presented a check to the Reidsville Library and asked that a portion of it be held in escrow for the proposed new library. Last year these ladies began an active campaign in the community of making people aware of the fact that a fund raising drive for a new library was being organized.

The group, along with several other organizations, decided that a memorial to J. A. McRae would be appropriate. McRae was, prior to his death in 1937, Principal of (See WOMEN page 2A)

Jews Everywhere Join With Blacks in Mourning for Young

NEW YORK — Jews everywhere join with the black community in mourning the passing of Whitney M. Young, Jr., a prominent rabbitold black radio audiences.

Speaking over stations across the U. S., Rabbi A. James Rudin, assistant director of the Interreligious Affairs Department of the American Jewish Committee, said of Young:

"His untimely death at the age of only 49 has robbed America of one of its great citizens. Whitney Young cared little for flaming rhetoric and angry language. His all too brief life was devoted to developing jobs, housing and education for his black brothers and sisters.

"Black people have lost a tireless and creative leader and the Jewish people have lost a man who deeply understood and championed their cause. Whitney Young combatted anti-Semitism in the United States, supported Israel in her struggle for survival, and identified with the Russian Jews in their efforts to achieve liberation.

"His legacy to us is clear — not the word but the deed." Founded in 1906, the American Jewish Committee (See JEWS page 2A)

Dr. Edmond's Address Highlights Founder's Day At Elizabeth City

Centering her address around three major points, Dr. Helen G. Edmonds' was a fitting climax to the recent observance, by Elizabeth City State University, of its Eightieth Anniversary. For many reasons, the widely known scholar, historian, and educator, made it possible to leave New York, where she is serving as the United States Alternate Delegate to the United Nations, to join in the Founders Day program at ECSU.

"It is in this sense (the acceptance of the challenge which the future holds) that a celebration of Founders Day becomes a rededication of students, faculty, administration, alumni and friends to the educational priorities which lie ahead," Dr. Edmonds, Dean of the Graduate School at North Carolina Central University, asserted in her opening statements.
