

WRITERS FORUM

The church woman and the port folio. Your eyes aren't deceiving you. The words, again, are: the church woman and the port folio. This is not an introduction to some sort of anachronism. The personable, attractively attired young adult jauntily striding from her car is a red-blooded, Afro American female. Always, she strides sprightly because she is a busy person hurrying from one job to another: housewife, nurse, missionary worker, Sunday School teacher and Chairman of the committee for the arrangement of devotional services for Union Baptist Church.

MRS. ZENOBIA HARDEN

Mrs. Zenobia Harden is the lady with a port folio. A comparatively new comer to this position, however, she can execute her job with the best of those carrying port folios. And, it goes without saying, the competition is not something to chide about. In this field, there is no room for hobnobbers. If you're not tops, the demands for mediocrity come few and far between. You carry the port folio with the others who have not learned the art of public speaking - the "tricks of the trade." Profession. Public Relations.

Mrs. Zenobia Harden is a rising star in the field of church women port folio carriers. She writes her own materials and knows how to dramatize every emotion needed to deliver the message for the occasion.

There is a demand for the church woman carrying the port folio if she can deliver what the program committee requires of an excellent speaker. Surprisingly enough the requisites for distinguished guest speakers carry a much higher rating than even the committee suspects. So, it is a Belated good news: "Over Edom, I Lost My Shoe" was among the eight books by black authors reviewed during Negro History Week, at Mt. Zion Baptist Church, sponsored by the Negro Women's Club, in Salem, N. J. Rev. White, pastor. This is the second time the Garden State has heard excerpts from "Over Edom, I Lost My Shoe" during Education Week in October, in Atlantic City. Thanks to Forum friends New Jersey. The officers and members of Writers Forum are eternally grateful to citizens of Durham for their overwhelming response to the Violet Perry Rogers' Concert.

Mrs. Rogers and company are in readiness to reciprocate next Sunday, March 28th, at the Durham Business College Auditorium, at 4 o'clock. Many thanks to our patrons and may all your luck be good.

BETTER HOME AND GARDEN CLUB MEETS

Better Home and Garden Club held meeting at the home of Mrs. Mildred Smith on Saturday, March 13 at 6:30 p. m. the Better Home and Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Mildred Smith, 400 Cecil St. Her home was beautifully decorated in the theme of St. Patrick's Day.

The Garden Gate was opened by singing "In the Garden" led by the president of the month Mrs. Mary Taylor, followed by prayer led by Osofo Lafayette McDonald, who pastors at Northside Baptist Church. He was also the speaker for the evening.

After a brief business session Mrs. Smith served a delicious repast to the following members and guest; Gardeners Ella Brown, Beulah Hill, Louise Jenkins, Catherine Page, Mary Taylor, Carrie Vereen, and guest; Miss Wilma Thompson, and Osofo Lafayette McDonald.

Mrs. Catherine Page thanked the hostess for an enjoyable evening.

ty, the sponsor of this anniversary invited the following ministers and their congregations to share in this service: Bishop F. Yelverton, Mount Calvary Holiness Church, Bishop W. A. Jones, True Way Holiness Church, Rev. Z. D. Harris, Oak Grove Free Will Baptist Church, Bishop A. W. Lawson, Fisher Memorial Holiness Church, Rev. L. H. Welchel, Russell Memorial C.M.E. Church and Dr. William H. Fuller, Mount Zion Baptist Church.

During Rev. Daye's three years at Ebenezer, his pastoral influence has increased the membership in excess of 200 members. Among many other accomplishments, some of the outstanding ones have been edifice, with approximately a 1,000 seat sanctuary, a Christian Education wing, the purchasing of a bus to provide transportation needs for members, a "Day Care Center" and new organizational structure. His pastoral counseling has made an impact upon his members and the community. In 1968, he was named "Minister of the Year" by the Carolina Times.

Rev. Daye realizes that to be a successful leader, one must keep abreast with the fast moving trends, and in order to do this, he is currently pursuing advanced study at the Southeastern Theological Seminary, Wake Forest, N. C., of which he is a graduate. His dedication and devotion to the people whom he serves symbolizes him as a "Servant of Humanity".
