No matter how many parties we manage to crowd into any given social season, there is one, a single social event that "tops the stack." The American Bowling League no. 3 is noted for sponsoring one elaborate social affair during the year. This event comes at the end of the bowling season. These bowling enthusiasts work hard and when they play - socialize - they're right in there giving the occasion all the enthusiasm, and goodwill that goes into making a Dinner Party an overwhelming success.

This year's esteddfod was held at Hartman's Steak House within the spacious Green Room overlooking a lake. The early arrivals had a chance to stand in front of the huge picture window and watch the late evening sun-rays glimmering upon the glassy surface of the lake.

Mrs. Mary T. Horton snapped suddenly out of her day dreaming and exclaimed, "I wonder if the management allows fishing in that lovely lake? I'd pay to fish out there. I am sure that lake is stocked with fish."

"Fish!" a nonenthusiast answered.

"I love to fish, honey, Fishing is one of the most relaxing sports there is. When you're fishing, you forget all of your troubles." Mrs. Horton explained as she unfurled a black Chantilly lace scarf and draped it about her smooth, slender, tan shoulders, then, glided off on black sandalled feet. The dainty lady wearing a strapless gown of gold-cloth, black elbow length gloves and the black scarf draped around her shoulders found a seat and struck up a brooder's pose. She really wanted to fish in Hartman's lake.

For a while, your attention is drawn to the waitresses, one blond wearing a bouffant hair-do; the other, a blackhead wearing big curls pinned together to form cascading ringlets down her back. Both were absorbed in the finishing touches of the precision set tables that formed a horse shoe; draped in snowy cloths, gleaming silverware, red candles in red-jug holders.

You forget the presence of others and yawn boldly; ashamed of yourself, you look across the room to where Mr. J. Oldham, secretary of the American Tobacco Company Bowling League No. 3, is busy arranging the coveted trophies on a long table. At this point, you wonder where the crowd is - and, before you can say, "the chilliness of this room is getting next to me" - the members and friends arrive. The lady bowlers striding in, while the guests unaccustomed to vigorous motion, move in sedately. The ladies wearing shimmering Spring gowns and nyloned legs are over shadowed by the striding ladies clad in gorgeous pant-suits: styles ranging from severely tailored suits of navy blue trimmed with white silk braid or imported lace, to sparkling brocades.

The men were clad in business suits of harkquin colors and co-ordinating ties, all except and debonair Mr. Evans who stuck to the traditional black and white: dark suit, white shirt and black bow tie.

While you browse mentally through the crowd to see who is not present, Mr. Wallace Royal, M. C. for the evening, passes out greetings and best wishes to everyone.

Following the invocation by Reverend Charles Johnson, Sr., the affable (persona gratus) Mrs. Flossie Ewing, vice-president of A.B. L. no. 3, was introduced and presented to the group.

Mrs. Ewing: "This is the 10th year of the American Tobacco Company No. 3 Bowling League. The League was organized September 1961, at the College Plaza Bowling Lanes. Our 1st president was Aaron Smith; secretary, Mrs. Ruth Campbell; treasurer, Mrs. Flossie Ewing. In 1962, we began bowling at the Village Bowling Lanes. The cabinet members serving with our 2nd President, John Howard were: Thomas Steel, sec'y Nathaniel Haskin, treasurer.

The scepter was passed on to Thomas Steel, our 3rd president. Officers supporting the Steel administration were: James Sims, Sec'y, Mrs. Sattie H. Russ, treasurer.

We the people elected James Oldham for our 5th president, under his regime, Thomas Steel served as secretary along with Mrs. S. H. Russ as treasurer.

Finally, out 6th Chairman, Matthew Davis, Jr. who has served in this official capacity several seasons with only a shift in the secretarial position holder. At present, we have the efficient services of James Oldham and, we still have with us Mrs. Sattie Russ serving as treasurer.

In closing, please buy our products. Your continued patronage will keep all of us happy - thank you.

Many thanks are extended to the management of the American Tobacco Company for sponsoring League No. 3.

We desirous that our friends know that we work for a fine company. We can say with prodigious pride that the American Tobacco Company is first in everything:

Job Upgrading for Blacks - we have four Black Foremen: Robert Hall, Joseph Alston, Horace Southland, Wallace Royal. Also, we have 4 Visitors' Guides: Mrs. Evelyn Jamison, Mrs. Dezzell Wiley, Mrs. Catherine Harris and Mrs. Sattie H. Russ.

In keeping with Human Relations Week, League 3 is proud of the part of our company is playing in the betterment of human relations among its employees.

Dinner is served. Naturally, the meal is centered around deliciously grilled Hartman steaks.

No matter how well composed the bowlers try to appear, the furtive glances in the direction of the trophy table betrays their unrest. Finally, the moment of dread, of uncertainty, of apprehensiveness arrived - The awarding of 70-71 Bowling Trophies. 1st Place Winners "The Charlie Browns:" Charles Johnson Mrs. Ruth Campbell Robert Joy Charlie Evans 2nd Place Winners "The Untouchables:" Matthew Davis, Jr. Mrs. Mozelle Flintall Lewis Ewing 3rd Place Winners "The Tall Ones:" Mrs. Flossie Ewing James Williams High game for Men James Oldham - 239 High Game for Women Mrs. Lula Mae Royal - 197

bell in an effort to distribute trophies evenly, the league considers the runner-upper for Trophy holder if actual winner is already the recipient of a Trophy for that season. After a film slide showing of League No. 3 and friends at other affairs over a period of 10 years, the curtain was brought down on another successful bowling season. Thanks to Mrs. Ruth Campbell for collecting and showing these films and, a vote of thanks to Mrs. Julia Allen who was commentator during the film showing - "honey, you look real nice in that red dress," etc.

"MISS BLACK NORTH CAROLINA" IN HOT PANTS—Attractive Miss Tiki Scott, a graduate student at A&T State University, began her reign last Saturday as the new "Miss Black North Carolina." Miss Scott, 35-24-37 is planning a teaching career.

"My dear, I hear you created quite a stir at the garden party last week!"

"Absolutely! 4 or more parts Gordon's London Dry Gin with 1 part Dry Vermouth. Best part of the party, those martinis!"

Gordon's.

It's how the English keep their gin up!
