AMERICANA HANDCRAFTS INSPIRE LIFE-STYLE

From border to border and coast to coast, American women are taking fashion and home decor matters into their own hands, with the aim to create personal life-style statements that proclaim - "This is me!" Naturally, their problem is where to look for ideas and techniques.

"McCall's Needlework & Crafts Magazine has the an-swer," says publisher Nan Comstock, "with the Americonstock, "with the Ameri-cana handcrafts which we fea-ture throughout our fall-winter issue! There are fashions to knit and crochet for everyone: knit and crochet for everyone; bazaar items to make; Ameri-cana home decor – settings and accents inspired by differ-ent sections of the country; nostalgia; children's crafts – enough different looks and techniques to fulfill any num-ber of lifeatylae!"

ber of life-styles!" Highlights of Americana handcrafts in the issue are: In Fashion Boutique: 15 dresses, both knitted and cro-cheted, include glittering evening dresses: pants suits - two in Irish patterns; Jr, pants - in-cluding suspender style; three handsome pullovers for men; ponchos for the whole family; accessories for all: children's accessories for all: children's colorful knits. In Bazaar: Amusing, cuddly toys – animals to make on a flower loom: knitted "char-acter" beanbags: lots of macrame: a happy puppet pair. In Decorator Crafts: The theme, "From Sea to Shining Sea" is represented by an ab-

The sparkling red-white-and-blue cover shows: A long at-home dress for a snug winter's eve - knitted in a jacquard pattern of bright yellow, orange, green; powerful Eagle and Liberty Bell pictures worked in quick point, and felt star pillows patriotic decor for a country cottage room. The three little characters in knitted outfits, fitted over coffee cans or cocoa boxes, are children's banks - find the money slot under each hat! A glue-appliqued picture of bird and bug communing with flowers was inspired by ecology. The macrame items - a wall hanging with copper disks, and "slips" for vase-planters - are from eleven macrame decorator accents and personal accessories: all tied in the knots which sailors out of New Bedford learned on long voyages!

most contemporary and excit-ing decorative ideas ever to be knitted, crocheted, sewn, or knotted! The magazine – the leader in its field – gives plenty of beginner's tips, as always, to make experts of novices in all of these arts. For instance, us-ing variations of basic knots to create a macrame wall hanging explained in an easy-to-do fashion. The items and projects men tioned here are just a few of the many exciting life-style in-spirations found between the covers of McCall's Needlework & Crafts Magazine, now on newsstands. You're bound to discover the "real" you on one or more of its fascinating pages!

Birds in the vineyard are about as welcomed as boll weevils in a cotton patch and almost as hard to eliminate. But there are ways to discourage the feathery creatures.

The bird problem becomes more noticeable about this time of year as the grape crop nears maturity. Some growers take a passive attitude and try "to grow enough for us and the birds, too."

If you're not so inclined, here are some tips from Joe Brooks, extension horticultural specialist at North Carolina State University:

the vineyard First, shouldn't be located close to trees or wooded areas. Their favorite ploy is to make a quick steal from the trellis and flit back to the protection of a high branch to eat. There isn't much you can do about location for this crop, but it is something to keep in mind when planning the next planting.

When extensive damage occurs away from border-ing trees, it is usually a result of too little foliage on the vine. Proper pruning and application of fertilizer will increase the amount of foliage and help protect the grapes from the birds.

Then, if you really want to take a militant stance, scaring devices might be used. Choose the automatic acetylene exploder, rope firecrackers or shell crackers. In any case,

These devices, obviously, can't be used in heavily populated areas and are limited in their use, for all practical purposes, And the shell crackers are to commercial vineyards.
