WORDS OF WISDOM

The easiest thing of all is to deceive oneself, for what he wishes he generally believes to be true.

—Demosthenes

Most of us have a pretty clear idea of the world we want. What we lack is an understanding of how to go about getting it.

Duke Med Center Honors Employees At Annual Service Awards Dinner

Carolina Times Writer Among 40-Yr Employees

Fourteen people, representing more than 500 man-years of service to the Duke University Medical Center, were honored at Duke's annual Service Awards Dinner recently.

Eight of them were recognized as the first 40-year employees in Duke's history. Several of the eight were on the staff when the medical center opened in 1930 and the rest began work later that year.

The other six honorees at the dinner joined the 59-member group of employees who have been on the job at the medical center for at least 30 years. Added together, the members of Duke's Thirty and Forty Year Club have accumulated nearly 2500 man-years of service.

The 40-year employees received a certificate and a diamond pin engraved with a replica of the medical center. The 30-year award recipients were presented a certificate and a medical center pin with two sapphires.

Speaker for the program was Dr. William G. Anlyan, (See EMPLOYEES page 2A)

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS TO HOLD SCHOOL MERGER WORKSHOP

The League of Women Voters of Durham is planning a School Merger Workshop at the First Presbyterian Church, Main and Roxboro Streets, on September 16.

According to Mrs. M. Henderson Rourke, the League's School Committee chairman, both the 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. session and the 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. session are open to the public. Special effort is being made to send invitations to civic organizations, church representatives and area P. T. A. presidents. "Our purpose is to present the facts — both the pros and cons concerning the proposed city-county school merger. It is hoped that those who attend our workshop will return to their churches and organizations better able to lead discussions and inform other members of the facts relating

Since there was and still exist a high rate of juvenile delinquency in this area, the council became concerned about recreation for its youth. The council first wrote a letter to the City Recreation Department explaining the problems and asking for recreation facilities. The council was not successful in this effort, but the City did grant them permission to use another vacant lot and in the summer of 1968, playground equipment was placed on this lot.

Along the lines of recreation, much effort has been

Emmanuel Day Care Center In Desperate Need of Funds

By JOHN D. MYERS

Emmanuel Council was one of the first councils to be organized. It worked on projects such as getting stop signs on street corners in the area, repairing of some of the homes, with the work to be done by the residents and a series of clean-up campaigns.

made to improve the area with the organization of a Community Staff to run a Day Care Center.

The preceding was a brief history of the Emmanuel Community Council furnished by Operation Breakthrough. It shows what a determined poor, welfare laden people can do with a minimum of help. New the council, particularly, the Day Care Center is in financial trouble.

Miss Sue Farrington, with the help of Miss Carolyn Pemberton currently run the center. In an interview with Miss Farrington she talked of some of the problems facing the center. "We are in desperate need of everything. Currently we take care of 11 children, averaging $12 per week per child.

The total income, with the exception of a small amount

BLACK LEADER SUPPORTS NIXON ECONOMIC PLAN

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Rev. Leon H. Sullivan told a press conference at the 72nd National Elks Convention in New Orleans that President Nixon's price-wage freeze action was "a good move."

Meeting the press with the Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks, the Honorable Hobson Reynolds, Rev. Sullivan said: "We had a runaway economy, a wild horses economy. We had to put on the reins or we would go slam bang over the cliff."

Dr. Sullivan was in New Orleans to receive the Lovejoy Leadership Award from the Improved Benevolent & Protective Order of Elks of the World.

At the press conference, Dr. Sullivan surprised his listeners by charging that George Meany, President, AFL-CIO, (See LEADER page 2A)

Jackson's Gift To Church Makes Early Liquidation Of Debt Possible

In a historic moment in the life of the Mount Vernon Baptist Church the mortgage on the education building was buried in an afternoon service. Conducting the service was the Reverend J. R. Manley, pastor of First Baptist Church, Chapel Hill. He was ably assisted by the Reverend W. E. Daye, pastor Ebenezer Baptist Church of Durham; J. J. Henderson, Vice President-Treasurer of North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Co. was the speaker.

The education building built under the leadership of the late pastor, Rev. E. T. Browne, was completed in 1961 and occupied for the youth of the church.

Henderson, speaking from the pulpit, "Church, Wake Up and Move On" admonished the congregation to work, not for themselves alone, but for all mankind.

S. L. Fennell, Chairman Board of Deacons, brought in the mortgage. He was escorted by C. C. Cobb, III with a lighted candle. Cobb is the grandson of the late C. C. Cobb.

Placing the bronze bowl which held the mortgage on the altar, Rev. Manley led the congregation in the Act of Praise. Following this Act of Praise, William T. Leathers, III, great, great, grandson of the late Mrs. Mary Cruse, lit a candle and handed it to Charles J. Jackson, Chairman Emeritus, Board of Deacons, who touched the flame to the mortgage. The Jacksons gave the last $1,000.00 to the Mortgage Liquidation Committee which made the cancellation of the debt possible in August, 1971 rather than on the due date of February, 1981, approximately ten years early. Alva C. Leathers, mother of William, participated in the groundbreaking for the building some ten or eleven years ago.

More sentiment prevailed since the music was furnished by the Celestial Choir of the church. The members of this choir were youths in the church when the pastor's vision and erection of this building, 1959-61, took place. The building was intended for these youths and others like them, in the church and the community which the church serves.

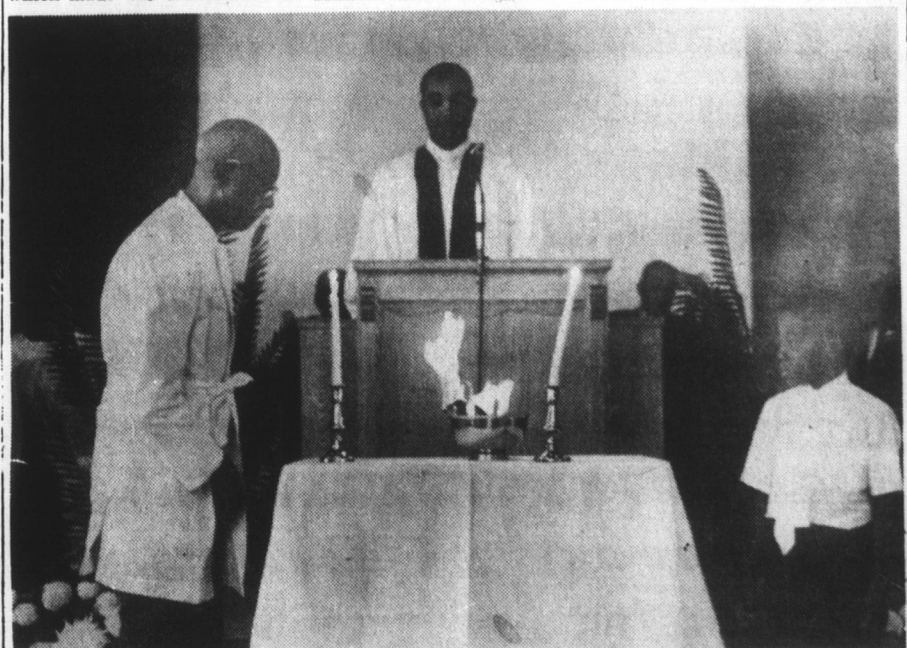

Lyon and Greene Family Reunion Is Held At Duke Park

Gaiety, laughter and sheer happiness characterized the occasion of the Lyons and Greene family reunion recently. Family members and friends with their spouses and children gathered from all corners of the globe to renew acquaintances and reminisce of old times.

The attractively painted "Welcome" sign at the entrance of Duke Park and the colorful decorations adorning the shelter added to the warmth of a lovely summer day.

Mr. O'Brian Mitchell served as chairman and master of ceremonies. In his usual
