TV Will Do Specials On Historical Events

HOLLYWOOD
Producer David Wolper hopes yet to salvage television's most disastrous season with a series of five one-hour specials entitled "Appointment With Destiny."

All deal with historical subjects that have been treated previously in fiction on television and in motion pictures.

They are:
"The Last Days of John Dillinger"
"The Plot to Kill Hitler"
"Lee and Grant at Appomattox"
"The Crucifixion"
"Showdown at the O.K. Corral"

Wolper will utilize a pseudodocumentary technique, reporting the events as if they were taking place and being photographed newsreel style for contemporaries of each particular place in time.

Aged Film
Even the film will be aged and verisimilitude to the exposition of the individual segments.

"We chose subjects on the basis of drama and the rationale that the camera — if it had been invented — could have captured the persons and historical or Biblical figures we're dealing with," said Wolper who also produces the National Geographic series.

"All our actors are unknown to the public. This was purposely done to add believability to the specials."

Wolper is convinced his form of documentary-drama is television's best hope in the future.

Sniper in Belfast Kills Briton, Wounds Another

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — A sniper who fired only two shots in gathering dusk killed one British soldier and seriously wounded another in Belfast's Roman Catholic Short Strand area Thursday, an army spokesman said.

"Unfortunately, it was extremely good shooting," the spokesman added.

The soldier was the 37th to die in Northern Ireland this year and the first since another was gunned down a week ago in Londonderry.

His death raised the over-all 1971 toll in the four-sided battling involving majority Protestants, minority Catholics, British troops and the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) to 127.

The two soldiers were at an army post near the Short Strand bus station when the marksman opened fire about 3:45 p.m. Dusk was falling on the violence-racked capital.

"This cold-blooded murder was carried out at a time when the area was completely peaceful," an army statement said. "People were out shopping and there was the usual volume of mid-afternoon traffic."

The soldier died as opposition Labor party leader Harold Wilson wound up the Belfast leg of his fact-finding tour of Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic in search of new ideas for ending the bloodshed.

Before flying to Dublin for a dinner with Irish Republic Premier Jack Lynch, Wilson said he found the Northern Ireland situation "potentially as desperate as any problem facing the British parliament — desperate because of the evidence I have seen of fear, of bitterness, of the breakdown of confidence, and hatred even."

Meeting newsmen at a heavily guarded hotel, Wilson said Britain must devise a

STORING TOBACCO

North Carolina tobacco growers who are storing cured tobacco on the farm should be sure of the moisture content of the leaf, warn North Carolina State University extension specialists. Tobacco stored as high as 15 percent moisture will be safe from spoilage. At 18 to 22 percent moisture, it will keep well during the winter but begin to show mold growth and deterioration in April.

RICARDO PRIVETTE

Youngster Sets Good Record As Newsboy

By JAMES VAUGHAN

In an age of unrest, confusion and rebelliousness, our youths are often misunderstood, and too often are typecast as disrespectful. We take pleasure in introducing to our readers a young man who stands out, in our opinion, as exceptional.

Ricardo Privette, for two and a half years has exemplified honesty, trustworthiness and dependability in his dealings with us.

He is a favored paper carrier for the Carolina Times. During this period, unlike scores of other youths venturing in and out of the office, he has maintained a steady volume of sales. He has consistently accounted for all papers he has taken out; and, most amazing, he has never failed to be courteous and respectful.

Ricardo, age 11, shows the promise of an outstanding young man. We commend him. Moreover, we salute his parents Mr. and Mrs. Richard Privette, Jr., of 3036 Foster St.

Ricardo, we hope you grow to like school more; we hope that you will forever be able to play football; and, of course, we hope you will continue to be an example to other youths.

Ecuador, China Break

QUITO, Ecuador — Ecuador has broken diplomatic relations with Nationalist China.

U.S. Delegate At Talks Terse, Tough

PARIS — William J. Porter, the chief American negotiator at the Vietnam peace talks here, maintained the tough stance he has shown over the last few weeks by saying almost nothing yesterday.

Porter greeted Xuan Thuy, the representative of North Vietnam who returned to the conference after a two-month absence, with a 23-word statement that implied that it is up to Thuy if the talks are to get anywhere. Porter said:

"Ladies and gentlemen: We have repeatedly made our position clear, we are awaiting a constructive reply and, therefore, have nothing further to say."

Thuy and his Viet Cong colleague, Nguyen Van Thien, had little to say either. Pham Dang Lam, the Saigon representative, took his cue from Porter and limited his remarks to seven minutes. The result was that the 136th plenary session lasted one hour and thirty-two minutes, not counting a lunch break, and was the shortest on record.

Society's Worst Ill Is Racism, Bond Says

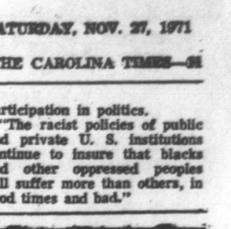

HIGH POINT — Julian Bond, black Democratic member of the Georgia House of Representatives, said here yesterday that the greatest ill in the United States today is racism, and suggested that the country's most desirable goal should be to contain and eradicate that ill. Bond, speaking to a group at High Point College, also called for the defeat of President Nixon in the 1972 election, challenging any candidate to deliver "reality not rhetoric to the black community."

"Since the President took office, we have spent billions more on war; over two million more Americans have been added to the ranks of the unemployed; and 2.5 million more are on ever mounting relief rolls... and many American cities face bankruptcy."

Bond said that a policy of full employment, equal opportunity regardless of race or sex, public service employment with increased wage minimums and wage coverage, and the institution of a national health insurance program are necessary steps to begin solving many of society's problems. The 31-year-old legislator said "There can be no denying that one of the directions black and poor people must take in the remainder of the 1970s is towards a real and meaningful participation in politics."

"The racist policies of public and private U. S. institutions continue to insure that blacks and other oppressed peoples will suffer more than others, in good times and bad."
