Confab on Criminal Justice and Political Oppression to Be Held

Black leaders from throughout the state will gather in Raleigh, North Carolina Saturday, March 10, at Shaw University to attend an all Black conference on criminal justice and political oppression.

According to Rev. Leon White, Executive Director of the Commission for Racial Justice, the North Carolina Criminal Justice Task Force, of which he is Chairman is sponsoring the conference for the purpose of "developing a black caucus that will present a legislative package to insure equity in the criminal justice system for the entire black community."

The North Carolina Criminal Justice Task Force is composed of community leaders and representatives from various black organizations, including the North Carolina Black Assembly, SCLC, Black Independent Union Party and the Commission for Racial Justice.

NAACP Leader Reveals Staff Appointments

NEW YORK — NAACP Director Roy Wilkins has announced three appointments to the national staff of the Association. Two of these are actually promotions, and the third is a regional directorship.

Jerry M. Guess, who joined the NAACP staff on December 18, 1967, as New York-New England field director, has been elevated to regional director of Region II, which includes New England, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

The latter three states have a new Tri-State director whose area is supervised by Mr. Guess. George A. Langhorne has been named to fill this vacancy which was created by the resignation of Phillip Savage. Mr. Langhorne holds a B.A. Degree in English from Virginia Union University, Richmond, Va., a Master of Divinity from Pittsburgh Theological Seminary and is presently a candidate for a Ph.D. in Religion at that university.

Mrs. Ina Boon was employed as field director for life membership on April 1, 1968. She has been promoted to regional director, and will supervise the activities of the branches and state conferences in Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North and South Dakota and Wyoming, comprising Region IV.

President Nixon ordered the Veterans Administration to withdraw a proposal which critics said would have cost disabled Vietnam-era military men millions of dollars in government aid.

BROOKE BLASTS NIXON'S HOUSING CUTS

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edward W. Brooke (R-Mass.) this week accused the Nixon Administration of abandoning the nation's long-standing commitment to adequate housing for all. In a speech before the National Housing Conference, Brooke, a possible GOP presidential contender in 1976, traced the development of the federal housing program from 1945 to the present and said, "The Administration has chosen to bring that gathering momentum to a halt."

"With that decision, I fundamentally disagree. The themes we have heard accompanying the dismantling of the housing program are that they are 'inequitable, wasteful and ineffective,'" Brooke declared. "This rhetoric has resulted not in reform, but in the termination of our housing effort."

BLACKS BOYCOTT CLASSES AT RACIALLY-TRoubLED N. C. SCHOOLS
CHARLOTTE — About 150 students, most of them black, refused to attend classes at racially-troubled South Mecklenburg High School Monday and staged a march along Park Road near the school.

The incident came as West Mecklenburg High reopened with only seniors attending classes after the school was closed last Friday because of racial fighting. Authorities said there was sporadic fighting between blacks and whites at South Mecklenburg Monday morning but they were unable to say whether there had been any injuries.

BLACK AD AGENCIES FORM NEW GROUP

CHICAGO — The nation's largest black-owned advertising agencies announced Monday the formation of the Afro-American Association of Advertising Agencies. Howard Sanders, president of the new group, said the Association was formed "to enable us, as its members, to more effectively practice our profession and set standards for mutual benefit of our clients, our businesses, and our communities."

Major Victory Won In Black Sailors' Case

NEW YORK — The NAACP won a major victory in its case involving 21 black Kitty Hawk sailors when a Naval court-martial review reversed the conviction of one of the men on Feb. 27.

The reversal was based on post-trial evidence that NAACP General Counsel Nathaniel R. Jones submitted to the Navy showing that the government's key witness had deliberately lied in testimony against the accused sailor.

Cleveland Mallory of Pittsburgh, Pa., whose case was reversed, was the first of the sailors whom the NAACP is defending to be convicted. The review authority also dismissed charges against two more men, Terry Avenger of Philadelphia, Pa., and Perry Mason.

Also, the 10 men remaining in the brig were ordered released after nearly five months in

Quiett Takes on Role as Boy Scout Advisor

QUIETT

George Quiett, after stepping down as head football coach at NCCU, has taken on the role as an involved Volunteer with the Occaneechee Council of Boy Scouts of America.

At a dinner hosted by Quiett, and held in the NCCU's cafeteria on Wednesday, February 28, highlights and comments on the need for greater leadership roles by our citizens within the community were discussed. This involves the area of finances and greater participation by all segments to meet the need for increased manpower through the years. The new role of Quiett was announced. He will serve more as a consultant on Finances. This was evident as many local citizens participated in the dinner and began the collection of additional funds through pledges and other means to better help and improve in local council services.

Wallace Wood, Scout Executive Director of Occaneechee Council, Ervin L. Kearney and Ed Hardister, District Directors along with Joe Duff, Field Director, spoke briefly about the need for additional help in building the leadership needed to carry on the Boy Scout Program. The theme "Boypower-Manpower" or the idea that America's Manpower begins with Boy Power was carried throughout and is the focal point for securing additional funds to help promote the program.

Other highlights included

NCCU Faces Severe Threat Changes In Fed. Student Aid

North Carolina Central University Chancellor Albert N. Whiting fears NCCU will not be able to tell its prospective students whether they'll get financial aid next year or not.

North Carolina Central during this academic year allocated $767,000 in federal work-study funds, $321,000 in direct federal grants for student aid, and $379,000 in National Defense Student Loans.

Between 80 and 85 per cent of the students at the Durham institution received some money from federal financial aid sources, Dr. Whiting reported.

Dr. Whiting spent most of last week in Washington trying to find emergency assistance for students, who are faced with a reduction of two of these federal aid programs and a delay in the allocation of a third program.

"It's clear from our week in Washington that the federal government's student aid program isn't going to get off the

Program Set to Train Blacks for Technical Posts in Ins. Industry

SAN FRANCISCO, CA. — The first program in the United States specifically designed to train black men and women for technical positions in the insurance industry is being started in San Francisco.

Ten high school graduates are being selected for the one year training program which will be conducted by the Bay Area Association of Black Insurance Brokers and Agents, Inc. Upon completion of the program, students will qualify as casualty underwriter, property and package policy underwriter, loss control representative, premium auditor and claims representative.

Roosevelt Carrie, president of the Association, said today that this experimental program is the first one ever to train black people for jobs in the insurance industry beyond mail or file clerk. He added that if this try is successful, similar programs will be conducted throughout the country.

"During training, the students will receive a year's salary," Carrie said. "Several major insurance companies have already assured us that they will have jobs for our graduates when they finish the program."

The training will also help train the students to reach management positions in their chosen fields, Carrie explained.

The program has the support of the Bay Area Urban League, The National Alliance of Businessmen and major property and casualty insurance companies throughout the United States.

The Bay Area Association of Black Insurance Brokers and Agents is the only organization in this country formed to represent and assist blacks in the insurance industry.

The Association is currently studying discriminatory hiring practices of major national insurance firms. It is also examining discriminatory agency appointment criteria which make it difficult for a black agent or broker to obtain an agency appointment.

Glass Recycling Station Reopens

Herald Orange Bureau

CHAPEL HILL — The glass recycling station at the town garage on Plant Road has been reopened by the town.

Boy Scout Troop 39 will collect green and clear glass in the bins provided by the town, crush it and turn it over to the Coca Cola Co. for grinding. The company then ships it to a glass firm in Henderson which recycles it.
