Summer Season Underway at

The Morehead Planetarium's summer season is under way with a "triple header". "Millions of Moons" runs now through July 2; "Summer Constellations," July 3-23; and Requiem for Stars, July 24-Sept. 3,

The first summer trip through the heavens takes a closer look at the "natural satellites" circling the planets.

The Planetarium also is continuing to display various art and scientific works before and after each show. These exhibits are free.

The Sky Theater show runs nightly at 8 p. m. and on Saturdays at 11 a. m., 1, 3, and 8 p. m. and on Sundays at 2, 3, and 8 p. m. During June, July and August only Planetarium programs are added daily at II a. m. and 3 p. m.

Regular admission is 75-cents for children through age 11 or grade 6, $1 for students through college and $1.25 for adults.

Special admission of .50 cents each will be accorded Day Care Center (pre-school) children attending "The Wonder of the Sky" by advance reservation only being offered at 10 a. m. every Thursday in June. One chaperone is admitted free with each five children for this special thirty-minute program only. Normally, one adult is admitted free with each ten members of organized youth groups. Clergymen may attend any schedule public program without charge.

PORKERS' PROGRESS

The amount of vitamin H (or biotin) in your hogs' diet can have a great influence on your bank account, to say nothing of your "piggy bank." Dermatitis, due to a biotin deficiency, usually starts with a slight redness on the back of the ears, or top of the shoulders, then spreads to the rest of the body. The skin becomes dry and scaly, and then scabs form. This stage of the symptoms would probably not he noticed under commercial conditions, particularly with the darker haired breeds.

At a more advanced stage, dermatitis covers much of the body, and hooves begin to crack. Usually the hind legs are the first to be affected.

A cracked hoof is still only a moderate biotin deficiency symptom and would not be noticed under commercial conditions. It can be noticed, however, by the way the animal walks, as if its feet are tender and sore. It is a stifflegged walk and there is a sort of spastic movement of the hind legs. Actually, this stiffhind-legged walk can be seen quite frequently at commercial operations and may reduce the price you get for your animals.

For a free copy of a new booklet about vitamin H, write to Dr. Mike Adams, Roche Chemical Division, Hoffmann-La Roche Inc., Nutley, New Jersey 07110.

The Now Washbasket By Joyce Champion

If you want to preserve the beauty of spring and early summer flowers, now is the time to trot out an old laundry room standby to do the job.

Dried flower arrangements have been a fascinating hobby for many years and 20 Mule Team Borax long has been used as the principal blossom preservative.

Here is the simple method to follow:

Use a mixture of two parts of the product, which is composed virtually of pure powdered borax crystals, to one part of dry white sand or one part of two parts corn part borax and two parts corn

Be sure the flowers are dry.
Then place the blossoms in a box on a layer of the mixture and carefully sprinkle additional mixture over the flowers. Make certain that the petals are covered but not crushed or bent. Cover the box and store it at room temperature for seven to 10 days.

At the conclusion of the

At the conclusion of the process you will have beautiful color flowers that, with careful handling, should last indefinitely.

(For additional details of the technique of flower preserving as well as many other interesting uses of the borax laundry product write for free "20 Mule Team Borax Booklet," P. O. Box 75128, Sanford Station, Los Angeles, CA. 99075.)
