

Getting Smart

BY WALTER L. SMART
THE HOUSING CRISIS

The Nixon moratorium on federally subsidized housing has had a devastating effect upon the construction of lower and middle income housing. No greater effect can be shown than in the innumerable projects near completion, started and on the drawing tables of many settlements and neighborhood centers. If Congress and the courts continue to be impotent to the raw and callous Nixonian power, many worthy examples of citizen housing developments will remain only worthy examples of an apparition of a movement for just housing.

Take the Torre Housing Development in St. Paul, Minnesota. Community people designed, authored, fought for and got 142 beautiful townhouse homes, complete with washers and dryers, space and climate control. It didn't come easy but would not have been possible without federal subsidy.

One would think from government reports that most, if not all, of the federally sponsored programs are monuments of concrete fraught with scandal, inefficiency, poor maintenance and management. Not so. If anything, Torre is a monument

Selective Service Board No. 32 Moves to Raleigh's Federal Bldg.

Sidney Booth, Chairman of Selective Service System Local Board No. 32, Durham County, announced this week that Local Board No. 32 moved Friday, July 6, from its present location at 302 Morris Street, Durham to the Federal Building, 310 New Bern Avenue, Raleigh.

Booth also announced the appointment of volunteer registrars in Durham County to assist young men in Durham County in registering with Selective Service as they become 18 years of age. Now 18-year-olds in Durham County have the option to registering at the Selective Service Area Office in Raleigh or at the following places in Durham: (1) Durham County Veterans Service Office, 608 County Office Building, Main Street; (2) Durham High School (students only), at the office of John M. Deeds, Guidance Counselor; and (3) Hillside High School (students only), at the office of Bobby Louis Lawrence, Guidance Counselor. Booth also stated that it is anticipated that volunteer registrars will be appointed in August at the Durham County Senior High Schools.

Booth said that registrants who desire to visit the local board office after July 6 should contact the office personnel at the new location in Raleigh. The office hours of the Raleigh Area Office are 8:15 a.m. to 5:15 p.m., Monday through Friday, and the telephone number is 755-4250.

"The move to Raleigh, Booth said, is being necessitated by a reduction in funds allocated to the Selective Service System, and as a result, many local board offices are being centralized in a single administrative site. For example, the Durham County local board office will be combined with the local board offices of Wake, Chatham, Johnston, Franklin, Nash and Wilson Counties at the new location in Raleigh."

Booth emphasized that even though the local board office is being moved to Raleigh, local board members of the Durham County local board will continue to serve young men of Durham County in classification and all other Selective Service matters pertaining to Durham County registrants. Members of the Durham County Local Board in addition to Booth are Kenneth Byron McCoy, Ervin L. Kearney, Henry C. Sawyer, Sr., and Randolph R. Few. Local Board advisor to registrants in Durham County is William Jesse Kennedy, Jr.

Booth emphasized that even though Selective Service is not inducting any registrants at this time, the law still requires that all male persons register with Selective Service within 30 days before, or 30 days after, their 18th birthday. The appointment of volunteer registrars is to assist young men

CHUCK STEAK

A chuck steak can make good eating, especially if it is graded USDA Choice or Prime. But you may want to tenderize it before you put it on the grill, especially if you want to register locally rather than travel to Raleigh.

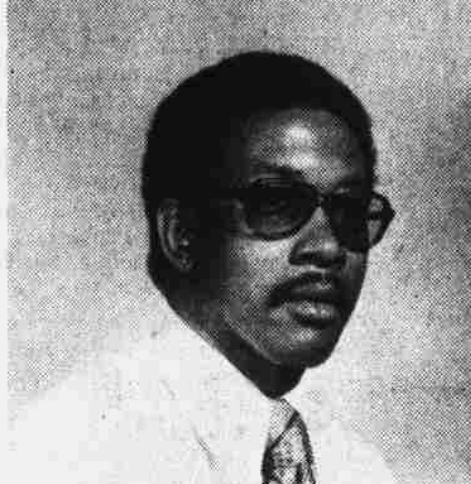

serve tender steak, cautions Mrs. Ruby Uzzle, extension consumer marketing economist, North Carolina State University.
