WORDS FOR THE WORLD

THOUGH THE CHOICE of good and evil belongs to man, under all circumstances, he is dependent upon the sustaining help of life which comes from the Omnipotent. The kingdom of God is very great, and all are captives in the grasp of His Power.

-BAHA'I WRITINGS

will be: "Resolve that the constitutional description of the rights and responsibilities of first class citizenship can be harmonized with the doctrine and practice of civil disobedience."

A panel will discuss "Is it ever right for a Baptist church or a Baptist organization to go to the civil courts to settle any internal problems, especially those regarding membership rights and policies and programs of the church?"

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, will be the guest speaker Youth Night, September 7th. Finalists in the high school Oratorical contest will be presented at that time. The theme of the contest is "The Best Use of Present Day Educational Opportunities." Prizes totaling $1750 will be awarded.

Dr. Jackson, serving his twentieth year as the elected president of the convention, will preside throughout the convention. His annual address will be presented Thursday morning at 11 o'clock at the Convention Center.

Creighton University's recent presentation of the merit award to Dr. Jackson described him as a scholarly, warm man who is one of America's greatest champions of racial equality.

During the 1960's Dr. Jackson saw civil disobedience of other black leaders as being self-defeating and urged his following toward national unity... to concentrate on voter registration and congressional lobbying. "We cannot be saved as a people unless America is saved as a nation," he said.

Aid to foreign countries suffering from famine, productivity of the convention's farm operation and financial support to member churches, businesses and related organizations, will be discussed in terms of costs of living increases and environmental controls.

Allen Fletcher is accompanist for the choir and Miss Effie Fuller is the Directress.

Rev. L.P. Perry is the pastor of the church.
