

National Urban League Conference Draws More Than 200 Exhibitors

FDA Panel Finds Most Antacids Claims Pass Test

A panel of scientific experts convened by the Food and Drug Administration has reviewed all antacid ingredients on the market. Among other things, the panel found that most antacid ingredients are safe and potentially effective. But the panel recommended a uniform testing procedure with which all ingredients must conform. Because many consumers may be unwittingly taking antacid products which contain ingredients unneeded for simple stomach acidity, the panel also concluded that some combination products shouldn't be permitted. For example, ingredients which promote digestion have been added to some antacid products. But increasing stomach secretions is the last thing anyone with indigestion needs. The panel also concluded that combinations of a pain-killer with an antacid should be allowed only if the label states that the product is useful for someone with both acid indigestion and a headache.

It's Spanish Green Olive Week

Treat your family to a lively fiesta meal of American Paella. This quick and economical version of Spain's most famous dish uses common Spanish ingredients like chicken, fish, artichoke hearts, green pepper, rice and, of course, those tangy, colorful pimiento-stuffed olives. But it's done up with ease the American way. In Spain paella refers to the "paellera" pan in which the dish is cooked and served. There are many variations and you too can vary yours. Use leftover chicken or turkey for extra economy, add leftover ham or pork if you have it, or substitute leftover fish for the tuna. But whatever individual touch you add to your American Paella or whatever dish you serve it in, don't forget the Spanish green olives for authentic and down-home good flavor.

AMERICAN PABELLA

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 green pepper, seeded and diced | 1/4 teaspoon salt |
| 2/3 cup butter or margarine | 1/4 teaspoon pepper |
| 1 cup small whole pimiento-stuffed olives | 1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves |
| 1 cup cooked, cubed chicken | 2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen artichoke hearts, cooked and drained |
| 2 cans (7 ounces each) tuna, drained and flaked | 6 cups cooked long grain rice |
| 2 tablespoons lemon juice | |

Saute green pepper in butter until crisp-tender. Add olives, chicken, tuna, lemon juice and seasonings. Simmer, covered, 3 to 4 minutes or until ingredients are heated. Spoon artichoke hearts and heated tuna and chicken mixture over top or arrange as desired.

NOTE: Three cups of cooked cubed turkey may be used instead of chicken and tuna.

CHEESE AND TUNA FONDUE

|--|--|
| 6 slices regular white bread | 3 eggs |
| 2 tablespoons softened butter | 1 1/2 cups undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk |
| 1 cup (6 1/2-ounce can) drained flaked tuna | 1/2 cup water |
| 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded process American cheese | 2 teaspoons grated onion |
| 1/2 cup (2 1/4-ounce can) drained sliced ripe olives | 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard |

Butter each slice of bread; cut into 1-inch cubes. Place about half the bread cubes in 8x8x2-inch baking dish. Sprinkle half the tuna, cheese and olives over bread cubes. Repeat layers. Beat eggs. Add evaporated milk, water, onion and mustard; blend well. Pour over ingredients in baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 45 minutes or until puffy and set.

HEW Posts New Post Audit Procedures

WASHINGTON—HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger has approved new post-audit procedures covering the repayment of money spent by local and State education agencies for purposes not permitted under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The procedures reflect a decision specifying that States which made unauthorized expenditures between the start of the program in September 1965 and the end of Fiscal Year 1969 will no longer be ordered to return the money to the U.S. Treasury. Instead, State and local education agencies may add equivalent amounts to their programs of educational assistance to disadvantaged children.

THE REPAYMENT requests have resulted from HEW audit findings that a number of States had allowed portions of Title I funds to be used in ways not permitted under the law.

"Most of the audit determinations involved cases where disadvantaged children did not receive the full benefit of Title I funds," Secretary Weinberger said. "New procedures for repayment are being initiated to make certain that these children are not the ones ultimately penalized by the loss of extra educational help that should have been delivered in the first place."

THE NEW ruling permits States to satisfy their obligation to repay Title I funds by adding equivalent State and local funds to their current Title I compensatory education programs. A State's proposal for liquidating its obligation in this manner must be approved by the Commissioner of Education, and expenditures must be made according to Title I legislation, regulations, and guidelines.

On the basis of either preliminary or final audit determinations initiated over the past 18 months, Title I recovery actions now involve the return of about $22 million from 20 States and the District of Columbia.

Title I is the largest single program of Federal aid to elementary and secondary schools, providing over $1.5 billion per year in low-income areas for special help to the educationally disadvantaged.

Jobless Rate Fluctuates

WASHINGTON—Black men and women comprised 31,000—or 4 percent—of the 735,000 persons who received baccalaureate and advanced degrees between July 1971 and June 1972.

ABOUT 666,000 of all the 735,000 degree recipients in the labor force were employed and 82 percent of those who were working had jobs directly or partially related to their majors.

These are among the findings of a special survey by the Bureau of the Census for the Bureau of Labor Statistics, financed by the Office of Education, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

ACCORDING to the survey, 31,000 black graduates represent too small a sample for deriving statistically reliable estimates of their characteristics.

Three-fourths of all the degree recipients had earned baccalaureate degrees, and most of the rest, master's. The four fields of study in which the largest numbers of graduates had majored—education, social sciences, business or commerce, and the humanities—accounted for 3 out of 4 of the degree recipients.

ABOUT 70,000 of all graduates were unemployed. The unemployment rate, at 9.4 percent, was about the same as the rate a year earlier for men and women who received degrees between January 1970 and October 1971. The jobless rates of the men and women graduates did not differ significantly.
